

Chapter 967 The Way To Save Her Life

Liam's expression grew increasingly frigid. He had come to Shayla seeking a solution to save Julie, not to be subjected to her advances.

With a stern tone, Liam declared, "Enough of these dirty tricks! Shayla, I am willing to cooperate with you, but you must heal Julie. If she remains unaided, or if you continue to manipulate the situation, you will undoubtedly meet your end here today."

As soon as Liam concluded, a crimson radiance surged from his body.

Subsequently, a formidable suit of armor manifested around him, exuding a menacing aura.

This armor was a trump card bestowed upon him by the president, enhancing Liam's combat capabilities by seventy to eighty percent.

Moreover, with this armor in play, Liam would surpass Shayla in terms of both strength and speed.

Shayla's expression shifted noticeably after witnessing the armor materializing on Liam's form. She abandoned her earlier attempts at seduction and cleared her throat, adopting a sneering tone. "I didn't anticipate you having such a trump card up your

She continued, "However, I'd advise against using that armor. Each time you deploy it before reaching the level of a level six Primogem Warrior, it will increasingly hinder your cultivation potential. This means you'll never progress to the next level in your lifetime. If you're willing to sacrifice your cultivation potential and harm us both, then go ahead."

Liam remained silent, his gaze locked onto Shayla.

Observing Liam's unwavering stance, Shayla's smile returned, albeit with a softer quality than before.

"It appears you truly possess potential, Liam. I'm eagerly anticipating our collaboration now."

Liam recognized that he didn't have time for extended discussions with Shayla, and he was well aware of the treacherous nature of an individual like Shayla.

With a deep sigh, he urged, "First, save Julie! Julie is in an extremely critical condition now!"

However, Shayla unexpectedly shook her head and stated, "I cannot save her now. The poison within her will continually drain her life, and she is destined to die. However, I can inform you that Julie's situation is exceptionally unique. Typically, a person poisoned like this would not survive more than 24 hours. But she remained unaffected until now, indicating her remarkable vitality."

Upon hearing this, Liam's countenance darkened, his eyes seething with anger. He lashed out, "Are you trying to fool me?"

In an instant, the red armor that had previously receded enveloped him again.

As Liam prepared to take action, Shayla smiled again as if anticipating his anger. Her eyes sparkled with playfulness as she remarked, "Why the rush? What I meant is that I may not be able to save her now, but it doesn't imply that I won't be able to save her in the future. My suggestion is to treat Julie as if she were already deceased and freeze her. This way, you can preserve her remaining vitality without further harm to her body. Once our collaboration concludes, I will provide you with the complete treatment."

Liam furrowed his brow at the notion of freezing Julie, finding it somewhat unsettling.

However, being skilled in medical knowledge, he acknowledged that it was a viable option worth considering.

He inquired, "Tell me, what are the terms of our cooperation?"

Shayla chuckled and replied, "Let's discuss our
