

Chapter 1069 Desperation

Ernesto slapped Wilbert on the back of the head and scolded him harshly.

"Where are you looking at? The doctor is right in front of you! What a brainless brat you are! My... My relative was cured by him. I saw it with my own eyes."

Ernesto almost said his father was cured by Trevor, but luckily he stopped in time.

However, Wilbert and his father were in far too bad of a mood to notice Ernesto's little hesitation.

Their eyes widened in disbelief.

"That's impossible! No way! He... He..." Wilbert stammered and words failed him. Although he had a hard time believing what Ernesto said, he knew Ernesto had no reason to lie.

So, that hateful Levi was the doctor they were waiting for!

Kabir's face changed from red to pale.

He had consulted several doctors privately about his son's impotence, and all of these doctors told him that it could not be cured. Since then, Kabir was very worried about his son.

Finding a doctor who was able to cure his son seemed an impossible task. But now they had found a highly competent doctor, but he turned out to be his son's enemy.

Kabir and Wilbert felt conceited speaking arrogantly to Trevor earlier. Alas, now they felt embarrassed.

"Doctor... Please, cure my son. As a doctor, you must be kind. You can't let my son suffer!" Kabir swallowed his pride and begged. "He is the only child I have. He contracted this disease at a very young age. I'm desperate. Please help us..."

Staring at Kabir and Wilbert, Trevor thought Wilbert just suffered from impotence and his life wasn't in danger.

With his hands in his pockets, Trevor sneered and said coldly, "Forget it. I don't think I can cure him. Goodbye!"

In reality, with his high skills in acupuncture, Trevor would have no trouble curing impotence.

But the father and son were so arrogant. He didn't want to have anything to do with them.

Wilbert's face turned pale and he was on the verge of tears. He hurriedly begged, "Levi, I'm sorry for everything. I shouldn't have gone against you. I admit defeat. Please help me! I'm still young!"

Wilbert held Trevor's sleeve and begged him earnestly.

However, Trevor ruthlessly shook off Wilbert's hand.

"How can I help someone as despicable as you? You put a pinhole camera in a girl's bedroom! Why would I cure you? I'm not going to help you hurt others."

Hearing Trevor's words, Kabir was scared out of his wits. He quickly came up with an idea. "Levi, please, have mercy on my son. If you cure my son, I will immediately remove the industry blockade on your company. I heard you recently received a very important movie project. For a newly established company just like yours, that's a big deal. If the conditions are suitable, I can even personally direct the movie for you. You know my reputation as a director in the industry. It will be no big deal for me."

Trevor sneered and said nothing.

He still remembered very well how Kabir had spoken to him on the phone the last time.

Seeing that Trevor said nothing, Kabir thought that Trevor was worried he would go back on his word or deliberately sabotage the movie. So he added, "If I agree to be the director of your company, you can be sure I will deliver. I'm not going to risk my reputation as an acclaimed director just to harm you. You can rest assured."

Trevor wondered who told Kabir he was going to agree to his request. With a sneer, he said, "Don't beg me. I liked your arrogance before. Continue to be arrogant. Let me remind you what you said on the phone last time..."

With a straight face, Trevor repeated the words Kabir had said to him on the phone the last time. "It's too late to beg me now."

After taking a last look at the two men, Trevor waved goodbye to Ernesto.

Seeing that neither their pleas nor their promises managed to move Trevor, Kabir and Wilbert were both desperate and full of rancor.

Chapter 1070 Recruitment Of Actors

Since Trevor had struck a deal with Asho, a world-renowned director, he naturally had no desire to collaborate with someone as despicable as Kabir.

After Trevor confirmed that Asho would be filming his company's first film, Trevor got busy recruiting and auditioning actors.

The statement regarding the recruitment and audition of actors was soon posted online.

Trevor refrained from using Asho's fame as marketing stunt to create buzz around the film, for now.

Regardless, the announcement had been shared many times on the internet. However, very few actors expressed their interest in auditioning.

After all, Kabir was very influential in Barlowtown. Few actors wanted to have anything to do with Sky Film and Television Company since Kabir made things difficult for Trevor.

Asho was still recovering from his injury, so he couldn't come to the audition. He sent Coen Lopez, a talented and very competent young assistant director, to help Trevor select actors.

"I'll be there soon. Please wait a moment!" Trevor hung up and immediately drove to the audition venue.

The person with whom Trevor was on the phone just now was Coen. He was only 27 but was already a well-known name in the entertainment circle.

When Trevor arrived at the audition venue, he found that there very few actors came to the audition. Because of that, the whole place looked rather empty.

However, Trevor didn't care much.

He was sure that once the movie was shot, those actors who didn't come would definitely regret their decision.

About a dozen actors came to the audition. Trevor looked around the actors and he saw a heavily made-up actor who stood out.

It was not because that man was particularly handsome, but because the people around him flattered him.

The actor's name was Travis Dixon and he could be regarded as a second-tier star.

Travis was a cocky man who looked down on everyone.

Travis had a look of disgust on his face as he looked around. As far as he was concerned, he would have preferred not to come to the audition at such a small company if it weren't for the fact that scandals about him were all over the Internet.

He remained unmoved by the flattery of the people around him.

Despite his callousness, many actors present still wanted to curry favor with Travis. After all, it was a rare opportunity for no-names like them to be around a star.

All of a sudden, Trevor pushed the door open and came in.

Since Trevor was very young, everyone immediately assumed he was another wannabe star.

An actress in the crowd decided to make fun of Trevor to please Travis. She rolled her eyes and said in a voice dripping with sarcasm, "Look, here comes another strange man. I don't think I've ever seen his face anywhere. Maybe he just graduated from college. Who would want such a rookie to act?"

Encouraged by the actress, the crowd soon became very noisy and several actors began to say rude things to Trevor.

Trevor raised a brow and glanced at them coldly.

Apparently, these people were really bored. Otherwise, how to explain their gratuitous hostility?

With a smug smile, the actress who first made fun of Trevor decided to take things up a notch.

She glared at Trevor and snapped, "What are you looking at? In my opinion, a no-name like you is only fit to be used as a plaything for Travis."

Travis laughed proudly when he heard her words. He was in a much better mood now. "You are right. What's your name?" he asked.

The woman quickly said, "My name is Tamara Ortega. You can just call me Tamara."

Travis nodded with satisfaction and said perfunctorily, "Good name."

He crossed his legs leisurely, his chin raised arrogantly. He glanced at Trevor and ordered, "Hey, boy, go and buy me a cup of hot coffee with milk but without sugar. Be fast. If like the coffee, maybe I will be happy and give you some advice for your future career."

The crowd burst into laughter. They could tell that Travis was just making fun of Trevor.

Trevor didn't move and just glanced at Travis.

Seeing that he was still standing there, the people around Travis chimed in. "Silly boy, didn't you hear what Travis just said? Now go ahead? Why are you still standing there? Don't you want to work in the showbiz any longer?"

"Be fast! Damn! It's so cold. Do you want to make Travis catch a cold?"

"If only you know how I envy you. If Travis is satisfied with you, you can be rich and famous."