

Chapter 1071 He Is The Producer

Trevor didn't lose his cool when they mocked him.

Instead, he calmly pointed at the ones who made fun of him and said, "You, you, and you. You can leave."

Tamara shouted angrily, "Are you out of your mind? How dare you tell Travis to leave? Do you know his status? And you're just telling him to get out of here?"

Trevor sneered, "Do not waste your breath. The people I asked to leave will not pass the audition."

Travis raised his eyebrows. He couldn't help but laugh at how naive Trevor was.

Tamara rested her hands on her hips and raised her chin. Her eyes glittered with hatred as she questioned, "Who the hell are you? Aren't you afraid that people will laugh at you? By the way, who do you think you are? The director's relative? Even if you are, you should show us some respect. We are the seniors in this industry. Or else you won't be able to stay in the entertainment industry."

As Tamara spoke, the assistant director, Coen Lopez, came out of the room. He had with him the cast list.

"Mr. Lopez!" Travis stood in a hurry and walked up to greet him.

Although Travis was the most famous one among the actors here, he still had to show respect to the director.

Off lately, Travis had been involved in many scandals. He urgently needed some work to divert the negative publicity. According to the information he received, a large sum of money was invested in this movie. In other words, the actors would be paid handsomely.

Travis glanced at Coen slyly. If he didn't have to earn money and get rid of the negative publicity from all the scandals, he wouldn't have come here in the first place.

Coen nodded at Travis and then announced loudly, "The audition is about to start. Please get ready."

Tamara rubbed her hands and decided to attract the attention of Travis and Coen.

Bitterly, she said, "Mr. Lopez, before the audition begins, we want to remove someone who doesn't respect us."

Then she pointed her finger at Trevor.

Trevor couldn't help but smile. Tamara was asking for trouble.

Tamara did not know about it and continued to complain to Coen, "Mr. Lopez, this guy was arrogant with us. He said that he wanted us to leave. He's being ridiculous. Just kick him out!"

Upon hearing that, Coen was stunned for a moment. He then looked at Trevor, and his expression changed.

Trevor was the producer of the movie, yet the actors wanted to kick him out.

Trevor folded his arms and nodded slightly.

Coen's expression turned cold and distant.

"In that case, it would be better if you all left!"

Tamara's face changed dramatically.

"What? Mr. Lopez... Listen carefully. This brat spoke so rudely to us! He didn't respect us! You have to kick him out!"

The faces of the actors who Trevor had asked to leave darkened. "Why are you asking us to leave? We haven't even auditioned yet!"

Trevor just stood aside and continued to smile quietly.

Coen glanced at the angry faces of the actors and said solemnly, "Do you even know who he is? He is not only the producer but also represents the investors of this movie!"

What? The actors were shocked.

"Wow!" They looked at Trevor in awe.

The blood drained from the faces of those who spoke rudely to Trevor.