

“Dad, Mom, we won’t resolve this matter in a day or two.” You don’t have to worry too much or think too much. I’m no longer an 18-year-old girl who doesn’t understand. If the situation goes against me, I will get out immediately. Yes, it won’t harm our family’s or Zayn’s reputation.

It’s very late. You guys should go and have a rest. I just finished a bowl of soup and am feeling a little tired. I’ll go for a walk to eat and rest again.”

With that said, Ainsley got up and walked outside the house.

Mrs. Girard told her, “Ainsley, you’ve been tired for a day; don’t walk too far; come back early and rest because you have to go out early tomorrow.”

Every day, there were countless meetings and documents to process.

It was very tiring for one person to manage a huge company.

During the day, they didn’t dare to call Ainsley if they had nothing to do because Ainsley didn’t have time to answer the phone.

Zayn was the one who called Ainsley. After answering, Ainsley said she was busy and hung up.

“Mom, I know. You and Dad should go and rest.” Ainsley said. Then she walked out of the main room.

The parents-in-law watched her disappear. After looking at each other for a moment, they sighed and went upstairs.

Ainsley was wandering in the yard; that is, in the dead of night, she could relax her mood and tense nerves.

She recalled that when her husband was still alive, the couple often walked hand in hand in the courtyard. Now, she is alone.

“We promised to grow old together, but you let me live alone without keeping your words! Even if I find a new man, I still can’t fall in love with him. My heart was taken away by you a long time ago, and I died with you.

You are so heartless. You left me and my children behind. You were even willing to leave your parents behind.

“Husband, I want to find someone I can rely on.” Duncan is a great fit for me and our family. If you have a spirit in heaven and take pity on us old and young, please bless me to be with Duncan and let Liberty leave Duncan alone; I don’t want to bear the name of mistress.”

Liberty had a dream one night, and it was bizarre. When she woke up, the dream she remembered contained a woman, whose face she couldn’t clearly see, telling her that Duncan no longer wanted her and urging her to leave Duncan immediately.

After a while, Liberty sat up with her eyes open, looking at the ceiling. She thought about it during the day and dreamed about it at night.

Just last night, Serenity told her that she might have a love rival.

She had a dream one night.

Was she secretly concerned that someone would steal Duncan?

After sitting on the bed for a while, Liberty got out of bed to change clothes, then washed herself, then sat in front of the dressing table and put on exquisite makeup.

After looking in the mirror for a moment and thinking that she was in good condition, Liberty picked up her phone and first sent a message to Serenity, asking her, “Has Sonny gone to kindergarten?”

Serenity quickly sent a photo, which was of the kindergarten entrance.

Serenity had just sent Sonny to kindergarten when she received a message from Liberty.

She looked for Mrs. Labbe at the kindergarten entrance again today, but she still didn't see her.

Could it be that Mrs. Labbe is really not Carrie, and the previous few encounters were just by chance?

Liberty smiled back at Serenity and sent a voice message, "I'm going to pack breakfast and go back to the company. Let's talk when we are free in the evening."

Serenity said, "Sister, haven't you had breakfast yet? You must eat on time. Don't neglect meals because you are busy. No matter how important business is, it is not as important as eating."
