

Chapter 183

She had a hard time believing the fact that Ethan was awake and standing next to her.

Was he really Ethan? Or was she merely having a dream? Did she have hallucinations at that moment?

Ethan killed the man and turned to her with a warm smile. "Are you okay?"

But he made a frowning face when his gaze landed on her arm.

When he woke up in the pack house and found himself there, everything was a jumble. He left for the war and came here. He realized that he could not shift, which really broke his heart. But he was an Alpha. How could he not fight back and run away? He jumped into the war without his wolf and started to fight like an Alpha.

"When did you wake up?" She inquired while maintaining her focus on him.

"Before a while." After responding, he turned his attention to the pack of wolves that was closing in on them. He was successful in throwing them both to the ground and then snatching the stake out of Allison's hand. He drove the spike deeper into the chest of the wolf.

Allison's eyes widened as she watched a wolf race for Ethan. However, a wolf with black and brown fur pounced on the other wolf and killed him.

Ethan turned to stare at the wolf that had rescued him. After a moment of silence, he spoke softly.

"Thanks, Ella."

That time, Allison got to know that it was Ella. The hue of her wolf surprised her quite a bit. The hybrid did not possess the one-of-a-kind color.

Ella veered off in a different direction and rushed ahead. Ethan was unable to prevent himself and gaze at her as she confidently took down a large number of wolves all by herself.

Both Ethan and Allison headed in the direction of their fathers. They stopped when they saw Alpha Easton. He had not shifted yet.

"Alpha Neil, I was told that your son has been ill. See? I decided to seize the opportunity and attack your pack. But I was unaware that your other son was still in this pack. But sadly, he can't save his father now. Because you are under my control."

Alpha Neil was about to go to him, but a few wolves captured him.

"DAD!"

When Ethan realized that his father was in danger, he let out a scream of rage.

The Moonlight Crown Pack immediately stopped fighting and turned around with surprised expressions on their faces. When they looked up and saw their Alpha standing in front of them, they could not believe what they were seeing.

The adversarial warriors saw an opportunity to attack them and took advantage of it.

"Ethan! You have woken up! Son, why are you here? Go back." Alpha Neil said in the mind link.

"Ethan!" Beta Wade was in the same state of shock.

"Get away from my dad." Ethan yelled in Alpha Easton's direction.

Alpha Easton laughed at him. "What brazen behavior you have! I've heard that you have a lot of fighting skills. Where exactly is your field of expertise? Why didn't you just shift? Or have you perhaps lost it?"

"Leave my Dad." Ethan repeated it again.

"A few years ago, I made an attempt to take your life, but at that point, your brother was able to protect you from me. But tonight, he himself has sent his troops to slay each and every one of you. How do you feel about it? Who will save you now? He just made my victory that much easier."

The entire war started over again, except this time, every official, Alpha Neil, and Glen were captured by the wolves of the rival pack.

From both sides, a few men seized Ethan and Allison. Ethan glared at them and tried to move because his wolf was not reacting to him.

Alpha Easton was unable to contain his amusement as he watched them struggle. However, his laughter could not last for very long.

His smile froze when he heard a growl. When he noticed a man coming toward them, all of the color in his face immediately faded away.

Nobody tried to harm him because they were aware that doing so would only result in their own deaths.

"Ryan?"

Allison whispered to herself as she stared at him. She tried to break free herself when a few men grabbed his arms.

"What are you doing here?" Alpha Easton asked while furrowing his brow.

"Come on, East. Is this a place to have chit-chat? I was wondering if this is how you win other packs. Ryan asked while sweeping his gaze over everyone with his sharp eyes. There were four formidable wolves standing behind him, indicating that they were his officials.

Allison observed that there was an immense amount of blood covering Ryan's body. But it was not his blood; it was the blood of the other wolves who were trying to get close to him.

"All right, Ryan, how about we make a deal?"

"Deal? Interesting." When he lifted his hand, his wolves immediately stopped fighting with one another. Easton's sides were also doing the same. But the Moonlight Crown pack did not have many pack fighters in the war at this time.

"Let me kill this father and son, and then we will divide the pack amongst ourselves. What's to say?"

Ryan raised a brow and nodded his head.

"Not a bad idea."

Allison's eyes widened. "Ryan, how can you say that? It's your own blood and bones. Your father and brother. Will you let him kill them?" She yelled even though she was crying.

Ryan gave her a stern look, signaling for her to shut her mouth. Ethan appeared unruffled and as though he had nothing else to say. In the meantime, Alpha Neil had a disappointed look on his face as he stared at his son, Ryan.

At that time, Ella's voice could be heard reverberating across the forest as she reached there.

"DON'T KILL THEM."
