

Chapter 186

Everyone got emotional because of Alpha Neil's actions. No one had ever seen him broken like this.

Allison wiped her tears when she saw how a father was apologizing to his son. It was true that even if he wanted, he could not give Ryan back his childhood, but at least he could be good to him in the future. They still had life to live in.

"Your father is right. Forgive us, my son." Ella said and kneeled next to her husband.

Ethan did not come between the parents and son. He stood there in a corner, looking at them.

Ryan stared at his parents kneeling in front of him. Though he did not like to express anything, his heart hurt.

He was a cold-blooded man. Behind his every anger, it was always his parents who had pushed him to the limit.

How could they forget how they behaved with him and how they ignored him his whole life?

But today, when Easton was going to kill his father, he really got mad at him. He cursed himself for not being cruel and watched his father die.

In reality, he had never had a single intention to hurt his family. Though they failed to take his responsibility, he never forgot his duty.

He sighed as his heart wanted to let it go. His heart was tired of grabbing hatred for his family. It was fun when no one knew who he was. But now, it felt like a burden when they learned about him.

He turned his head to Beta Max.

Beta Max nodded at him and glanced at the others. Owen and Vernon went to Neil and Ella. They helped them to stand up.

"You don't have to kneel in front of me." Ryan muttered without looking at them.

Ella and Neil look at him with a small smile.

"Can we think that you forgave us?" Neil asked with a pair of glistening eyes.

"I can forgive anyone, but not them whom I chose not to." Ryan replied to Neil. His eyes then shifted to Glen.

His head was low. He did not let out a single word all these times.

Ryan chuckled and stepped toward him. "What did you say? I don't deserve your daughter. I am a reckless man. I don't have any fighting skills. I have never seen any war. All of these were your words. Am I right, Former Gamma Glen?"

Glen gulped and looked into his eyes. He felt fear inside when he realized a flame of fire could be seen in his eyes.

"Forgive me, Alpha. I couldn't recognize you. But I still can't let my daughter marry anyone else except Ethan."

Everyone's eyes widened when they heard Glen. They could not believe that Glen turned out to be a stubborn man.

"Dad! What are you saying?" Allison spoke out and walked to him.

"No, Allison. Only Ethan can mark you. He was your mate, and no one else can mark you except him." Glen said nonchalantly.

"Dad, what are you saying? He rejected me. We don't have any matebond now. Have you forgotten that? There is nothing that can bind us together." She tried to make Glen understand.

Ryan gazed at Glen. "Interesting. Very interesting. Isn't it Colin?" He said and chuckled.

Gamma Colin nodded his head and replied,

"This man lost his sanity, Alpha. Permit me to kill him." He was almost ready to move forward.

"No, don't. Don't kill my dad." Allison let out a scream. Joey started to cry. She sobbed and looked at Ryan.

"Please, my dear. Please don't hurt my husband. He is not a bad person. He doesn't dislike you either. He is just trying to save our daughter's life."

Ryan glanced at Colin, and he stepped back. He did not come to do anything.

"I had always liked you, Aunt Joey. But in return, you also betrayed me like my own mother. Well, that's the past. Let's forget it. What is there to save your daughter? Do you think I will kill her? Because, of course, if I want, I will. No one will stop me at that time."

His tone and words came out as a warning. Allison quietly listened to him. She frowned while thinking about why her mother said that her father was saving her life?

"Let me tell you the truth." Ethan spoke out.

Everyone turned to him. He walked to Ryan and said,

"It's because Allison is a pure blood omega."

Allison's eyes widened. "Pure blood? What is it?"

Ethan looked at her and replied,

"Pure blood omegas are rare. They had the purest white wolf and eyes the color of the ocean. They are known as the omegas, and the moon goddess bestows her blessings upon them. In spite of the fact that they are omegas, they possess the power of an alpha female. Their hearts are spotless, identical to the purity of their blood. But the blessings come with conditions. They can only mate with their fated mates; if not, they would lose their lives."

Allison was stunned upon hearing the details. Ethan did not stop and continued.

"That was why your dad never allowed you to shift in front of anyone or get training in your wolf form. He was afraid that other Alphas would hunt to mark you since your scent was something alluring to them."

Allison turned to his father and asked,

"Dad, why did you keep this secret from me? Why do you still want me to be with Ethan after everything that has happened? Why? Why can't you allow me to be with someone else?"

While listening to them, Ryan was standing there with an indifferent look, implying that he knew about all those things. He was a true blood Alpha, and his rank was not a joke.

But his facial expression changed to grim when he heard Glen.

"Only your mate can mark you. And it's always Ethan. Georgiana has never failed to forewarn us about you and your impending demise. When we asked her about it, she said that only Ethan could be your mate and save your life. That was six years ago. Then, we have witnessed that several times he has saved you from dying. We were aware that the two of you were mates. We had no idea that Ethan had rejected you. Your mom and I even went to talk with Georgiana about you and Ryan before I talked to you about marriage. She declared again that only Ethan could be your lifesaver. Your wolf needs him to stay alive. No other Alpha can mark you. She claimed that the blood of Ryan could not be transferred to you through marking. It will only kill you because he is not your mate."
