

Chapter 219

"Max, drive the car."

As Teresa saw Allison and Ryan make their way to a car, she turned to Max and told him to drive. Because Ryan had sustained an injury to his right arm, he could not drive the car.

Max smiled at Teresa and nodded his head before walking up to the car. Max interrupted Ryan just as he was about to open the front door for Allison by stating,

"I will drive the car. You both can sit in the back seat."

"No, I can drive," Ryan said to him.

Allison held Ryan's hand and said, "No, you can't. Let's sit in the back."

Ryan gave her a thoughtful look and drew closer to whisper in her ear. "Why do you think I can't drive? Did you forget how I drove the car with one hand when you were sleeping in my arms?"

Allison blushed at hearing his words. She recalled about that evening. She bit her bottom lip to control her smile while thinking about that time.

Max patted Ryan's shoulder and asked,

"If you two have your moments done, then let's go?"

Allison requested Ryan, "Please, let Max drive today. We four can go together. We can even take a rest in the back seat, you know."

"As you wish, my queen." Ryan said and opened the back door of the car for her.

She smiled at him and got inside. Ryan sat next to her. Teresa hurried to the car and got in the front seat next to Max, who was going to drive the car.

Allison was concerned that Ryan's arm might be bleeding, so she continued looking at it throughout the entire ride and examining it from time to time.

"Don't worry. It's not hurting. It will be fine soon." Ryan assured her and pulled her to his chest with his left hand.

She rested her head on his chest. He was still shirtless. Because of his arm, he decided to remain shirtless until he reached the pack house.

Allison kissed his tattoo and raised her head to look at him. He was about to come close to kissing her lips when Teresa spoke out,

"Omg! Our Alpha and Luna are making out behind us."

Allison immediately moved away from Ryan. She almost forgot that the other two people were also in the car.

Max glanced at the back seat through the rear mirror. Ryan glared at Teresa and said to Max,

"Your mate is such a disturbance, Max."

Max scoffed at him and replied,

"Because of my mate, you two could get the opportunity to reunite. Don't forget that."

Teresa nodded at him and leaned in to hug her mate. "Max, your best friend is so ungrateful."

Ryan rolled his eyes at her words. "I am not ungrateful. I was impressed by you every time you made an effort for your best friend. Because of this reason, I arranged a second honeymoon for you and your mate."

Teresa gasped and turned back to look at Ryan.

"Alpha, are you telling me the truth?"

"No, I was just kidding."

"Argh! This is not funny at all." Teresa said and sighed in disappointment.

"Don't be sad. I was not lying. I scheduled everything. I planned mine, so I thought you two should go to have some time together."

Teresa's eyes lit up. Allison was also surprised. She gave Ryan a bright grin and asked,

"So we four are going together?"

Ryan frowned at her. "Baby, why did you think that? Didn't I mention it's their second honeymoon? They are going together to have alone time."

"Oh," Allison whispered.

Ryan kissed her cheek and chuckled.

"I am talking about honeymoon, not any tour with friends. Maybe you don't know how everything goes on a honeymoon. No worries, I will make sure you will never forget it."

Allison's cheeks reddened. The two people in the front seat were very happy about themselves, but they were happier for their best friends.

When they reached the Black Moon Pack, they saw everyone waiting for them outside the pack house.

Allison got out of the car. Her mother rushed to her. "We heard what happened in the East Flow Pack. Are you okay?"

"Yes, Mom. I am okay. But Rya-" She paused and turned to Ryan, who had just come out of the car in a sleeveless black shirt. He put it on before coming out.

Everyone's attention turned to him.

"Ryan!" Ella screamed and ran to her son.

"What happened to your arm?" She asked while holding his other arm.

"What happened, my son?" Alpha Neil asked.

"Are you okay?" Glen, Allison's father, asked.

Ethan remained quiet and did not ask anything since everyone was asking Ryan about it.

"It's just a normal wound. Don't worry, everyone."

"Do you need me to call Linus? He is here." Ethan said.

"No. My arm is fine. A little bullet can't harm me."

"Bullet!" Neil mumbled with wide eyes.

Ella started to cry. Ryan hugged her and told her that he was fine.

Everyone then asked Allison if she was okay or not. Allison assured them that she was totally fine, and all thanks to Ryan.

All of them entered the pack house. Allison felt at home. She was just out of the pack for two days but she felt that it had been a long time since she left this place.

Joey suggested everyone take a shower; and they would cook a meal for them since it was late at night. All of them agreed and went to their rooms.

Allison went to take a shower. She was glad that everything was good now. When she left the house, she had never thought that when she would return, everything would have changed like this.

After taking a shower and changing her clothes, she came out of her room and went downstairs.

She saw everyone in the living room. Ryan was there as well.

Allison noticed Elora walk to Ryan and said,

"Ryan, I was so worried. I thought I lost my family."

Ryan smiled at her warmly and patted her head. "You don't have to be concerned. I am totally fine."

Allison did not mind it at all, nor did Ethan take it negatively. They were aware that Elora did not have anyone else in this world besides Ryan. She thought of him as her family.

Elora smiled at him back. She turned to Allison and came to hug her.

Elora whispered in her ear, "I am sorry for what my mom did to you. I wish a beautiful life for you with Ryan, Allison."

Hearing her, Allison stroked her back. "Thank you, Elora. I also wish for you the same as Ethan."

Elora broke the hug. Allison could see a blush on her cheeks, which she tried to hide. She wondered if something happened between Ethan and Elora in two days. She glanced at Ethan, who was looking at Elora.

"Ethan" Ryan spoke out.

Everyone's attention turned to him. Ethan looked at him and asked, "Yes?"

"I want to hand over the Moonlight Crown Pack to you. That's your possession. Be the head Alpha of that pack once again."
