

The Ex Husbands Revenge Chapter 2876

The Ex Husbands Revenge Chapter 2876-“Umm...” Upon hearing this, Caleb’s complexion turned an uncertain shade of pale green.

He knew full well that the Morrisons’ Mansion could never stand up against the forces of the Fermers, Grimstons, and Underwoods. Continuing to shelter Leon would be akin to walking straight into a death trap.

However, the Cynthion Group was a partner of the Morrisons’ Mansion, and he had publicly declared his support for Leon in the face of the Fermers just moments ago. As the esteemed head of the Morrisons’ Mansion, going back on his word in front of numerous ancient martial family forces would be a betrayal of trust.

The Morrisons’ Mansion would likely become a laughingstock if he did so – a situation he could not bear to witness.

With these thoughts in mind, he found himself in a quandary, unsure of how to proceed. “Dad, I’ve advised you before; the Morrisons’ Mansion should steer clear of the feud between Leon and the Fermers. But you refused to listen!

“However, there’s still some room for maneuvering in this matter! In my opinion, it’s best for the Morrisons’ Mansion to withdraw promptly to avoid further embarrassment,” Jayden chimed in, seizing the opportunity to continue his agenda, secretly pleased with the turn of events.

He had always advocated for the Morrisons’ Mansion to abandon sheltering Leon. It was only after Hugo and Renee persuaded Caleb to change his mind that the Morrisons’ Mansion found itself in this dilemma. Of course, this indirectly validated his stance as correct!

If Caleb were to adopt his suggestion now and cease protecting Leon, not only could the Fermers, Grimstons, and Underwoods teach Leon a lesson, but he could also regain favor with Caleb and several elders of the Morrisons’ Mansion, effectively overshadowing Hugo. It would be a win-win situation, and he could not be happier.

“No, we can’t do this! The Morrisons’ Mansion cannot act in such a manner!

Caleb immediately vetoed.

Though he voiced his dissent, deep down, he fretted, pondering incessantly for a way out!

Alas, the gap in strength between both sides was too vast. Try as he might, he could not conjure up a suitable plan.

“Very well, then. Caleb, we’ve given you the chance, but since you refuse to cherish it, you’ve none to blame but yourselves!”

Upon hearing Caleb’s refusal, Dorian was thoroughly provoked!

He wasted no more words, turning his gaze towards Cassius and Felton beside him.

“Cassius, join forces with US against the Morrison!” “Felton, deal with Leon, that arrogant lad, under the banner of the Farmers!” “Hope the Farmers can swiftly resolve him, aiming for a quick resolution!”

Dorian promptly made arrangements.

“Good, follow the orders, members of the Underwoods and Farmers, prepare to strike!”

Cassius and Felton both acknowledged.

However, before their orders could even settle, a sudden change occurred.

“Dorian, Cassius, your families are prominent forces in the Western Just then, a mocking voice rang out.

The Ex Husbands Revenge Chapter 2877-“Elder Dagleh, it’s you!” “What do you mean by that?” “So, are you saying the Daglehs also want to protect Leon?”

Elder Dagleh suddenly intervened, and his words seemingly indicated a defense for Leon. Seeing this, Dorian and Cassius’s faces darkened. Their expressions were uncertain, unable to fathom why Elder Dagleh would stand up for Leon!

“That’s right. President Wolf is a friend of our Daglehs!

“If the Grimstons, Underwoods, and Fermers want to harm President Wolf relying on numbers and power, then you’ll have to get past the Daglehs first!”

Elder Dagleh snorted coldly, his tone resolute, leaving no room for doubt.

Leon had once saved his life, a debt of gratitude he held dear.

He had always remembered this kindness.

Out of gratitude towards Leon, he had initially intended to intervene when Felton and his men were attacking Leon earlier!

However, Caleb had stepped forward first, timely preventing Felton and the others from harming Leon. So he had restrained himself for the time being, refraining from acting recklessly.

However, Felton had another trick up his sleeve, actually joining forces with the Grimstons and Underwoods to go after Leon together. This was simply too much!

How could he stand idly by and allow Felton and the others to act recklessly?

“What?”

After receiving affirmation from Caleb, although Felton, Dorian, and Cassius had anticipated it to some extent, they could not help but be surprised!

Of course, they were not the only ones surprised!

Everyone present, whether it was Caleb and Hugo, or the other martial arts families, were equally astonished!

“How strange!” “Leon is just an outsider, unrelated to the Daglehs!” “Why would Elder Dagleh risk offending the three major families just to help him?”

“It’s unbelievable!” “Yeah, it seems this Leon is not simple at all. At least, he’s much more formidable than we imagined!”

After the ancient martial arts families regained their composure, many of them could not help but whisper and discuss, their minds filled with doubts.

Although they did not know why Elder Dagleh would shelter Leon, there was one thing they were all very clear about. Leon, despite his young age, somehow managed to garner the protection of both the Morrison and Song families, two major forces, while simultaneously offending the Farmers, Grimstons, and Underwoods, three other major forces. 1 With his sole effort, he stirred up the situation among the five major forces in the Western Domains. He was definitely no ordinary person.

“Excellent, absolutely excellent!”

Contrary to the reactions of the various ancient martial arts families, Caleb was pleasantly surprised, even ecstatic.

He knew very well that the Dagleth family was one of the major forces in the Western Domains, on par with the Grimstons and Underwoods in terms of strength and influence.

Now that they had the Dagleths helping to protect Leon along with the Morrisons’ Mansion, his pressure had significantly eased, and he could not help but breathe a sigh of relief.

He had not forgotten the incident outside the antique shop when Leon clashed with the Grimstons’s experts.

He had not forgotten that.

However, back then, Leon was considering which family, between the Morrisons and Dagleths, to cooperate with.

Elder Dagleth’s assistance to Leon could be understood as an effort to secure the cooperation of Cynthion Group. That was acceptable.

It would be reasonable for him to turn against Leon. But instead, not only did Elder Dagleth not turn against Leon, but he also continued to assist Leon in opposing Felton.

If that was not a display of flawed reasoning, what else could it be?