

Married At First Sight Chapter 3231-"Grandma said she respected my choice, but she told me not to regret it in the future."

Evan picked up the soup bowl and first served a bowl of soup to Rosella. When he saw Matthias coming in, he served another bowl of soup to Matthias and said, "I never do anything that I will regret."

Although he was still struggling at the time, unsure whether to choose Abby or the fox, he knew in his heart that he was very happy with the fox.

He also looked forward to meeting the fox; even if the two of them would quarrel when they met, he looked forward to it.

Abby didn't meet this kind of expectation.

He approached Abby, feeling compelled to do so because his grandmother had selected her for him.

Facts have proven that feelings cannot be forced, and melons that are forced will not be sweet.

Rosella said, "Then just don't regret it in the future."

She just said, How could the mother-in-law ignore Evan so easily? It turned out that Evan was still kept in the dark.

Evan said that he never did anything he regretted. Grandma May never did anything she was not sure about.

Rosella, the daughter-in-law, understood her mother-in-law, and Matthias, the son, understood his cunning mother better than his wife.

The couple exchanged glances, knowing each other well.

Then there was a tacit agreement not to ask about Evan and Abby.

During the meal, Rosella kept picking up vegetables for Evan.

"Mom, I ate a lot of barbecue as soon as I came back, so I can't eat too much." Seeing his bowls piled high into a mountain, Evan fought back and said, "Mom, you will also give my dad some food, so that my dad won't get jealous again and say that I stole his wife's attention."

As soon as the sound fell, Matthias also put chopsticks into his bowl.

Matthias: "I'm usually very busy outside, and I don't even think about eating well. I see you've lost weight. Eat more."

Evan smiled. "Dad, didn't you just give me a bowl of rice and vegetables?"

"That's angry talk."

Evan also brought food to his parents.

He thought to himself that, after explaining it clearly to his parents, his parents were still very open-minded. They didn't blame him anymore.

He never thought that he was the one who fell into the trap!

In Serenity's office, Abby was sitting on a black chair, holding a cup in one hand and stirring the coffee in the cup with a spoon in the other.

"Abby, you really don't want to eat?" Serenity stopped working, and it was time to take a break. "Want to try our work meal in my company's canteen?"

Abby said, "Sister Seren, aren't you going to have dinner with Young Master York? "Am I bothering you here?"

Serenity said, "That's not true. Zachary has lunch with clients, so I won't go there. In addition, my company has a canteen. When I am busy, I eat in the canteen. The food in the canteen is also good."

The three bosses were all good eaters, so the food in the canteen would not be too bad because they would stay in the company to eat from time to time.

If the meals are not delicious and everyone is not full and the food is not delicious, how can they have the energy to do anything?

"Okay, I'll drink this cup of coffee later." Abby put down the steaming cup of coffee, which she had just brewed herself.

She had only been here for half an hour.

In the morning, after Evan left, she returned to her room and slept for a while. Upon waking up again, she noticed the absence of her headache and proceeded to leave.

She was unfamiliar with Wiltspoon, and the only one she knew was Evan, but Evan obviously didn't want to be with her.

Abby wanted to fight for herself, but she didn't want to be too tight. So there was no contact with Evan.
