

Chapter 1055 There's Something Off About Him

After Maureen seriously advised Liam to keep a low profile, she guided her team back on their journey.

It wasn't long before they arrived at Mount Moria, a hundred kilometers away from Pleeeyson.

This place happened to be where Protector Dorcas often meditated.

Because of Maureen's caution, the troublemaker hadn't stirred up any more trouble during the journey.

However, it didn't necessarily mean he was convinced or cooperative deep down.

Despite his fear for Maureen, the troublemaker knew his sister held a powerful position as a deputy steward, just as significant as Maureen's.

Glaring at Liam's retreating figure, he muttered to himself, "You insignificant little brat, once we're in Mount Moria, I'll make you pay! And that Maureen, she won't get away, either!"

Without knowing what the troublemaker was plotting, Maureen and her group continued into Mount Moria, prepared to bring Liam and Laura to meet Mr. Jenkins for their membership formalities.

Once in the Mount Moria, the troublemaker slipped away from the group to find his sister, Zoya Gray.

Zoya warmly greeted her brother and engaged in conversation with him.

Seizing the opportunity, the troublemaker directed the conversation towards Liam. Oblivious, Zoya followed his lead.

Feeling the time was right, the troublemaker spoke up. "Hey sis, I've got a feeling about that new guy Maureen brought to Mount Moria. Remember we're keeping an eye out for someone named Liam? I've got a hunch he might be Liam. But since Maureen's the one who brought him here, I don't want to confront him alone. How about you test him out for us?"

The troublemaker, keeping his own issues with Liam hidden, aimed to set Liam up, hoping his sister would turn her attention to Liam.

The troublemaker's name was Kolton Gray, and he shared a strong bond with his sister Zoya.

When Zoya heard her brother Kolton's doubts about Liam, she quickly agreed.

Furthermore, she found the idea enticing.

After all, the reward from Adamson for reporting Liam could promote her to a level six Primogem Warrior! Maybe it could awaken more abilities in her, letting her step away from her deputy role and become a true steward!

Meanwhile, Kolton's plan was to falsely blame Liam. Whether Liam was the wanted Liam or not, once Zoya targeted him, he would face great trouble.

In the Saint Society, conflicts were common; the leaders wouldn't mourn a newcomer's demise.

Kolton, pondering this, felt a surge of excitement, his gaze turning icy and malevolent. He muttered under his breath, "Just you wait, you sneaky rat. You've messed with me, and you won't make it out alive! Just because you're close to Maureen, it doesn't mean you can waltz around in the Saint Society! Once you're dead, your girlfriend will be mine for the taking!"

Unaware of Kolton's true intentions and trusting her brother's words, Zoya didn't even question the validity of the information.

She grabbed Kolton's hand and exclaimed, "Let's go find him in the main hall. We need to inform Mr. Jenkins about this!"

After uttering those words, Zoya guided Kolton to the main hall.

Upon reaching the main hall, they coincidentally encountered Liam and his companions.

Kolton's eyes brimmed with malice instantly.

Zoya quickly bowed to Mr. Jenkins.

Seated at the head of the main hall was Mr. Jenkins, also known as Protector Dorcas. He possessed a

Chapter 1055 There's Something Of. 🎁 +120 Points at most strong physique and piercing eyes that seemed to penetrate people's souls.

In that instant, Mr. Jenkins's eyes sparkled with amusement as he looked at Liam.

But no one seemed to notice that.

With a serious expression, Zoya raised her head and gestured toward Liam, saying, "Mr. Jenkins, the guy Maureen brought here. There's something off about him!"