

Chapter 1028 Tyler's Slave

Rohan just grinned, not saying a word.

Tyler didn't sense anything amiss. The more he spoke, the more pumped he got. He continued, "Hey, what if we start by snipping off his tongue? This little bastard's noise is getting on my nerves. Let's see what he'll do without his tongue!"

As soon as Tyler finished speaking, Rohan's expression turned serious in a snap. His eyes went icy, and his tone grew even colder. He snapped back in a deep voice, "Are you teaching me what to do now? Since when did you get the authority to school our Duncan family?"

Seeing Rohan's face darken, Tyler started sweating bullets.

Others might not know it, but Tyler was well aware that Rohan, head of the Duncan family, had a temper and was cruel.

If he ticked off Rohan, even if nothing happened then and there, Tyler would have to watch his back afterward. Who knew when Rohan would strike back out of the blue?

Realizing he might have stepped on Rohan's toes, Tyler hurriedly lowered his head and muttered an apology, "Sorry, Mr. Duncan. I shouldn't have said that!"

Rohan shot Tyler a cold glance before shifting his attention to Asher.

At that moment, Rohan's eyes softened.

Tyler couldn't tell if it was genuine or just an act.

Either way, Tyler doubted Rohan actually cared for Asher.

Then, out of the blue, Rohan spoke up. "Do you think it's cool to call him a bastard? Asher's my nephew. You can't treat him like that. The beef between my family and Liam is none of the kid's business."

After saying that, Rohan crouched down, getting back to playing with Asher.

"Hey kid, you've been quiet. Say something. I'm your uncle," said Rohan.

But Asher stayed silent. Fear was etched all over his face.

Rohan frowned. "You're just like your old man, Liam, stubborn as a mule!"

"Tyler, throw him in the room with the experimental body," Rohan ordered.

Tyler wasn't pleased with this at all.

He hadn't got his revenge on Liam yet, and now, Rohan wanted to lock up Asher.

Despite his frustration, Tyler kept his mouth shut.

He nodded to Rohan and followed through with the order.

Only after personally locking Asher away did Tyler return to his own place.

Being scolded by Rohan stung, even though Tyler knew Rohan was a big deal.

So, Tyler decided to let off some steam.

He opened the door to his room, scanning it until his gaze settled on a figure at the back.

A woman with bruises all over her body was locked up there.

The woman heard the door open and knew that Tyler had returned.

Her eyes were numb, making her look like a zombie.

When Tyler entered, she removed her clothing automatically and laid herself down on the bed.

Yolanda, the woman who had suffered unjustly at Tyler's hands, lay on the bed, resigned to her fate.