

Chapter 1147 Rolling Out

Nicolas Bowman!

Aeneas felt like he had been struck by lightning when he saw the old man in military uniform walking towards him. He was so scared he almost collapsed to the floor.

Under Nicolas' cold gaze, Aeneas' face gradually turned pale.

This old man had lived in Barlowtown for a long time after he retired, but he rarely showed up. However, that didn't mean he had no influence in the city.

On the contrary, Nicholas wielded a great deal of power over the city officials. He only had to say one word and the city would undergo a huge change.

"I just heard that you say you would abuse your power to ruin the movie I invested in?" Nicolas asked coldly.

Aeneas was scared out of his wits. He felt dizzy and stammered, "No... I... Mr. Bowman, please let me explain..."

Xzavier was also so frightened that he broke in a cold sweat.

He heard from his daughter, Caitlin, that Levi might be somewhat friends with Nicolas.

Therefore, Xzavier didn't think too much when he saw Trevor and Nicolas together at Wellbeach Hotel.

But it never occurred to Xzavier that Nicolas was the investor in Sky Film and Television Company's first film.

"Caitlin is killing me!" Xzavier roared in his head.

How could he offend a legendary general like Nicolas Bowman? That was suicide!

Nicolas had a long military career and a great reputation. Xzavier didn't dare to offend him.

He resented Caitlin for not telling him such important information. If she had, he wouldn't have gotten himself into such a mess.

Looking at Xzavier with a sneer, Trevor crossed his arms over his chest and said nothing.

A look of panic appeared on Xzavier's face. He swallowed nervously and said, "Mr. Bowman, I'm the chairman of Star Film and Television Company. It's just a misunderstanding. I think I can explain it..."

Nicolas cast a sidelong glance at Xzavier, not hiding his disdain for Xzavier.

Nicolas' powerful aura and the deep contempt in his eyes sent a cold shiver throughout Xzavier. He had a hard time keeping his hypocritical smile.

Suddenly, the door of the company was opened again.

More old men in military uniform came in one by one.

"Levi, how's it going?"

"Is your trouble settled?"

"If you need any help, just tell us."

Several generals stood in front of Trevor, showing their unreserved support to him.

At this time, the employees gasped in astonishment.

"Oh my God! Look at that man! He's that famous commander!"

"And that one! That's the famous general, right? I hope I'm not mistaken! Levi knows such powerful men!"

"Wow! Who exactly is Levi? He has such strong connections!"

While the employees were sighing in shock, admiration and contempt,

Xzavier trembled.

His lips were pale and he almost fainted when he saw those powerful generals standing beside Trevor.

Trevor had powerful connections.

Even in his wildest dreams, Xzavier would never have thought he'd witness what he was witnessing now. At this moment, he knew he had completely lost to Trevor.

Trevor looked at Aeneas with a faint smile and said, "I think the general asked you a question. Did you just say you would use your power to cut off the electricity and water supply in my company? Did you say you wanted to sabotage my movie and make my company go bankrupt?"

Aeneas' fat face was covered with cold sweat. He was so scared that he almost broke out in tears.

"Please spare my life! I dare not do that!"

Nicolas glared at the despicable man in front of him and snorted coldly. With his hands behind his back, he said calmly, "Levi, this matter concerns your company. The decision is yours to make."

Trevor nodded with a smile to express his gratitude. Then he glanced sideways at Xzavier, whose face was pale, and said indifferently, "Get out! Or I'll kick you out by myself! But I want you to get out of here by rolling!"

Hearing Trevor's order, Aeneas and Westley knelt submissively.

Although what Trevor asked them to do was extremely embarrassing, they didn't dare to disobey Trevor now.

The two of them rolled themselves out of the door.

"We are rolling out."

Xzavier gritted his teeth. He thought he could take the opportunity to escape.

But before he could make for the door, he was kicked on the buttocks by Trevor. He stumbled and fell to the floor, rolling several times.

It was so embarrassing!

Xzavier didn't dare to look back. All he could do now was lead his subordinates out of the company dejectedly.

Chapter 1148 The Bait

Xzavier returned to his company with a gloomy face. He went straight to his office and closed the door behind him. At that moment, he couldn't hold back his anger any longer.

"Fuck! Son of a bitch!" he roared.

He grabbed a golf club and angrily smashed the computer screen on his desk.

He still hadn't calmed down and then vented his anger on the printer next to him. He hit it so many times with the golf club that it broke.

"Bastard! Why are you still alive?" Xzavier roared again. He furiously turned over his desk.

He couldn't stomach the fact that several generals showed up to defend Trevor.

Now that things had come to this, Xzavier didn't dare to do anything to Trevor. He could only shout and curse to vent his anger.

"Shit! Why are those old bastards on Levi's side?"

The financial situation of Star Film and Television Company had been very bad for some time now.

Xzavier intended to buy Sky Film and Television Company in order to quickly turn around his company's financial situation.

Alas, he failed woefully.

Xzavier's anger knew no limits. He kicked the overturned desk hard.

"That motherfucker with the broken finger! What the hell did he do?"

Xzavier's eyes turned red in anger. At this time, he didn't care about anything anymore. He took out his phone and called that man.

However, no matter how many times he dialed the number, the call couldn't go through.

Xzavier became a little worried. "Did anything happen to him?"

He knew that broken-fingered man was from that powerful organization, Mobius. Because of this, he had always treated that man with utmost respect and consideration.

"No, that's impossible. He promised me that he would kill Levi!" Xzavier murmured to himself, breathing heavily.

He licked his dry lips and nervously sent a message to the man.

"Sir, I met Levi again today. I thought you promised me that you would take care of him last night! Why is he still alive?"

After sending the message, Xzavier waited for the man's reply. He waited for a long time.

Every second that passed was torture for Xzavier. He was eager to kill Trevor, especially after Trevor drove him out of Sky Film and Television Company.

After about half an hour, the phone finally rang.

Xzavier held the phone with his two hands, tears almost welling up in his eyes.

These thirty minutes of waiting felt like an eternity for him.

However, the content of the message didn't relieve him at all. Instead, his face slowly became gloomy as he read the message.

"If you want that guy dead, you have to pay more. You gave me the wrong information. That guy is very vigilant. I didn't have any chance to take action. He is not an ordinary person. The money you gave isn't enough to deal with this kind of target. You have to pay more! I won't do anything until you pay me more money."

Xzavier trembled with anger as he stared at the words on the screen. His eyes were red eyes and he roared, "Money! Money! Money! All you do is ask me for money! Fuck! How do you expect me to find more money to pay you?"

Although Xzavier was beside himself and didn't want to spend more money, he didn't have a choice. Since he came to a member of Mobius with a task, he could not stop halfway. Otherwise, not only would he lose the money he had already paid the man, but he might also anger those freaks.

Thinking of this, Xzavier took a deep breath and replied, "Alright! I agree. But this time, I want you to capture Levi alive. I want him tonight near the pond in the backyard of my villa. I'll pay you once you hand him to me."

Xzavier was very agitated and panted heavily.

Since he had paid so much money, he fully intended to get the most of it.

He planned to capture Levi alive and torture him to vent his anger.

"Humph! Killing that brat would be too merciful!" Xzavier snorted gloomily as he went to the company's financial department to withdraw cash.

Sitting in his office at Sky Film and Television Company, Trevor wore a mysterious smile as he slowly put that killer's phone into his pocket.

He was the one who had just contacted Xzavier and passed off as the killer.

"It seems that Xzavier has bitten the bait," he murmured. He stood up and walked to the windows, looking at the beautiful scenery outside.

Now Star Film and Television Company was just an empty shelf. Xzavier's business empire was about to fall apart.

Trevor just needed to gather the evidence of the deal between Xzavier and Mobius. Once done, Trevor could use Klein's power to completely destroy Xzavier and everything that belonged to him.