A TRAP (3)

Cane knew there was something that completely wrong when heard his people had marched to the mountain not so long after Avid left.

"Who leads them here?" Cane asked, he stared at alpha Dristan, the aura around him changed all of sudden, even Iris could feel the tension in the air and how suffocating the atmosphere was.

"I don't know," alpha Dristan said, he was stunned to see Cane right now, as if it finally hit him so hard, how they had walked straight into a trap and at this moment, they put themselves into a dangerous situation. He shouldn't have only taken two warriors with him.

He should have smelled something fishy when he watched how the royal warriors kept coming to join the hunt.

"I don't know, the communication was cut off. That's the last mindlink I got. I think my warrior is too far for the mindlink to work," alpha Dristan said, he looked distress, since he only had one warrior left with him, while Cane had nine. Even so, their number was very insignificant compared to the royal warriors that surrounded them.

"Or, he has been killed," Cane said in callous tone, which was most likely happened in this situation.

Alpha Dristan's jaw hardened when he heard that. He pushed aside his new mistress, as her presence didn't help with the situation. "Do you have plan of how to get out of this place?" He glanced at Iris. "You know this place so well, right? If things went out of hands, you must know how to get out from this mountain safely, right?"

This was the king that they were talking about, if the king decided to kill them right there and then, there was no way someone would be able to retaliate, without their alphas, the two packs would most likely fall into the king's hands.

Not to mention the two of them were the alpha from where the mines were located. Something that the king had been salivating to snatch.

This was a bad idea, Cane should have been more careful and mindful, but he was being reckless and was a little bit distracted recently.

This was the reason why he couldn't slack off, something slipped off his mind and he missed to see the sign, then it would be their lives that was at stake.

He was being careless to not think this matter carefully and lady Cyan took the advantage when he failed to see her plot.

Were those people the warrior, who managed to be provoked by the royal warrior? But, Cane had faith to his people's loyalty. Did he see them too high?

But, the provocation only happened for a day, it was too much to turn them against by only a few words.

What was actually happening?

"Control your expression," Cane said curtly, before he turned around and walked away to talk with the other nine warriors, who came with him.

If there was a possibility of alpha Dristan's man was being killed, the same fate could happen to Avid as well. He could be killed without being able to reach the pack house and warn someone of what happened here.

"Make a fire," Cane said to Dyne. The other warriors could sense the tension and notice something was wrong with this whole situation.

They tried to ignore a few whispers from the royal warriors, who kept provoking them, even at a moment like this. They did it very subtle, so Cane didn't know about that, since they rode with the other warriors behind him.

"But, it's still afterno... yes, alpha." Dyne immediately shut up when he saw Cane's expression and did what he was told without asking question.

"What are you going to do?" Iris asked, but her eyes widened when she saw Cane cut a lock of her curl, it was only a few strands of her hair, which wouldn't make any different for her, but... "What are you doing?"

Cane was too focus on what he was going to do, thus he didn't answer her question and reach out to get the lizard from her pocket.

He grabbed the creature and tied Iris's hair on its tail with a piece of cloth. He then fished a meat from his pocket and put it in front of the lizard, but before the creature could eat it, the alpha already tossed it to the fire.

Everything happened so fast, even the warrior around him couldn't grasp what was actually happening a moment ago when the lizard disappeared into the flame and Cane stomped his feet to put off the fire.

"Alpha, did you kill the lizard?" Eron asked, he squatted down, but he couldn't see the remaining of the lizard.

Yet, instead of an explanation, Cane told them to prepare themselves.

Probably, it was only Iris, who understood what Cane had just done with the lizard, but she was not sure where the lizard would appear and who would find it.

And before long, ten minutes was up, they were ready to leave, but before that, the king asked Cane and alpha Dristan to ride beside him, while lady Cyan rode behind them with Iris.

Eron shifted into his beast and gave up his horse for Iris, since she would ride by herself.

"Dyne, can you ride with her?" Iris asked, nodded at alpha Dristan's new mistress. It seemed, the alpha didn't care much about her now his mind was occupied with something more important and he let his mistress to walk.

Dyne nodded obediently and came closer to the young woman. "Come with me, my luna asked for you to ride with me."

Dyne was glad Iris asked him, because he didn't have a heart to see this young woman to run behind them all day when alpha Dristan abandoned her, especially when she looked like she was about to pass out due how pale her face was.

He knew how kind his luna was, but it still surprised him time and time again of how compassionate she was.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free, Chapter 462: A Trap (4)

A TRAP (4)

Dyne couldn't understand why most of the people in the pack couldn't see Iris the way she was, but then he realized, he saw the luna in new light because he spent a lot of time with her, while they went to the capital city, but the rest of the pack member didn't have the same opportunity, thus the image of Iris as Gerald's daughter still etched so deeply in their mind.

"Here, drink this," Dyne said, as he gave her his waterskin. Her lips were chapped and her eyes lit up to see the water, but she still looked hesitated, until Dyne got off from his horse and handed it to her. "Drink."

Without a second thought, she drank all the water inside and looked at him sheepishly when she gave back the empty waterskin.

"Sorry," she said in small voice. "I finished the water."

"It's okay." They would come across another brook again and get the water. "Alpha Dristan didn't let you drink?"

The woman lowered her head. "He is upset."

It was a common practice, whenever your master was angry, they would vent it out to someone and this woman was the best victim. Alpha Dristan didn't have any reason to not give her water, he only wanted to see her suffering.

Dyne was very familiar with that practice.

"Come, ride with me."

The young woman shook her head. "The alpha didn't allow me, he told me to run."

Dyne frowned. "For a while." He then went to Iris, who was talking with lady Cyan, but he could see how uncomfortable she was. "Luna," Dyne called Iris and told her what happened.

"Tell her, It's okay, alpha Cane will talk to alpha Dristan." This was insignificant matter when their lives were in danger, alpha Dristan wouldn't have made a fuss over this trivial thing when he relied on Cane heavily in this situation.

"Okay," Dyne said joyfully, as he went back to the young woman and convince her to ride with him. In the end, she relented and got on the horse with him.

Meanwhile, lady Cyan made a small talk with Iris, which one could feel how she was dancing around the actual topic.

"Can you feel it? The weather is good, right?" lady Cyan asked with her cheerful voice, but Iris caught her meaningful glance and knew exactly what she referred to.

"Yes, the weather is good," Iris replied monotonously, she glanced at her mate, how Cane, the king and alpha Dristan conversed about something. She couldn't read what they were saying, as she rode behind them.

"Do you think we can catch a beast before the sun set?"

"I think we go hunting for a white fox." Iris could feel her chest was in so much discomfort when they came closer to the black magic stones.

"Oh, right..." lady Cyan lamented. "Alpha Cane gave a bloody fox for the king when the king came for the first time after his slavery, do you know what the meaning of the white fox?"

Iris knew what it meant, but she didn't know in which direction lady Cyan would bring this conversation to. "No. What the meaning of it?"

Lady Cyan tilted her head and looked at Iris, smiling beautifully. "A warning. Revenge," she said in light tone.

Iris's heart skipped a beat, but she kept her expression emotionless, some of Cane's traits must have rubbed on her by now. The alpha would be proud of her to keep the conversation going without giving away what was in her mind right now.

"Oh," Iris intoned. "Such beautiful creature has a scary meaning."

"Sometime, scary thing came in a beautiful form."

"Yes." Iris nodded. "But, not all scary thing is a bad thing." Lycan was scary beast, many people feared this cursed creature, but aside from being so annoying, Lu was nothing like those people were afraid of. Lu was not necessary bad, at least, in Iris's eyes. He was actually adorable, if he was not so troublesome.

"The feeling of it is getting strong, right?" lady Cyan asked all of sudden. It seemed, she was no longer interested to dance around the topic, as they were getting close to where the black magic stones were.

Iris subconsciously stopped herself to pull her hair or fiddle with her horse's rein, as she put up a front to mask her beating heart.

It was black magic stone, she could purify it, there was nothing to be afraid of. Iris repeated the same thing over and over again like a charm to calm herself down.

"What feeling?" Iris asked innocently.

"You can drop the act now," lady Cyan said casually, as if they were still talking about the weather. "You can feel it, right? You managed to find the magic stone in princess Osana's palace, there is no way you can't feel this one."

Iris reciprocated her smile. "Were you the one, who put them here, my lady?"

"Them'." Lady Cyan emphasized her choice of words. "You are indeed incredible. What are you?" She had checked her and was sure she was not a magic user, the feeling of her was not like those magic users or those dark sorcerers.

"Is this a hunt to look for black magic stones instead of a white fox?" Iris asked, they slowed down their horse before all of them stopped. The tension amplified when all the royal warriors circled them.

This was it, this was the place where all the black magic stones scattered around them. Iris was the only one, who was affected by this ominous feeling.

"What the meaning of this, my king?" Cane asked his tone was dark, while alpha Dristan directed his horse close to him.

On the other hand, four warriors of the Howling Wolf pack got off from their horses and shifted into their beasts and Iris put a distance away from lady Cyan, letting herself being protected by the warriors and beasts from their pack.

Right now, the quiet forest turned eerie.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free,Chapter 463: A Trap (5)

A TRAP (5)

"Haco! Get out from there!" Ethan kicked the door, because he was tired of knocking and this old sorcerer didn't even listen to him. He wanted to kick his ass instead at this point.

Why this old man was being sulky when he was left alone in the dinner party when there was nothing significant happened between him and lady Cyan that night. He had been holed up in this room since last night and refused to go out.

Yet, he didn't stop there, when Ethan bothered him to go out and meet with Cane, because his childish action aggravated the alpha and he was ordered to drag Haco out of the room to meet with him, this old sorcerer locked the door.

Haco acted so weird.

"Haco! If you don't open the door, I will kick it down!" Ethan threatened him. He was serious with his warning.

"If you are going to kick it down, make sure to fix it later," Aliana said, she leaned her back against the wall beside the door, as she stared at the furious gamma.

"At least help me with this. If you are only here to watch, go away!" Ethan growled at the woman beside him and she rolled her eyes as a respond.

"I am here to help, but you are so busy." Aliana fished out something from her pocket and tossed a small key toward Ethan.

Thankfully, the gamma had a good reflex and caught it. "Why don't you give me the key earlier!" he grumbled.

"So, ungrateful," Aliana scoffed and then turned around to leave, but then all of sudden the door was swung opened and Haco appeared, he looked so pale, as if he had just seen a ghost.

"Where is Cane!? Where is Iris?!" Haco asked.

"What? Only now you look for them?! The alpha has been calling you, but you ignored the order!" Ethan was so upset, but Haco snapped at him.

"Oh, shut up! They are in danger!" Haco then handed a lizard to Ethan's hands. "Gather your people and search for them!"

The lizard squirmed unhappily in Ethan's palm, while he could see something on his tail and he immediately knew, whose hair it was.

Iris had a distinguished hair color, thus it was easy to tell the hair on the lizard's tail belonged to her.

But, right at the same time, a warrior approached Ethan, his expression told them, it was not a good news.

"Beta Jace ask you to meet him in the south gates! The warrior from the Blue Moon pack revolt! All the warriors under your command have gathered in the pack house!"

Ethan didn't seem to surprise with this revelation. They had prepared for news, since they learned there was a traitor within the pack, their suspicion was directed toward the people from the blue moon pack, especially after the information Aderan got from queen Della, it only solidified their conjecture.

However, the timing couldn't be more awful than this.

Lady Cyan and the power she held was the piece that Cane failed to take precaution of, since that woman kept a very low profile and didn't appear to get involved with anything until recently.

Cane expected the king wouldn't reveal the spy until the very end, since he wouldn't get any benefit if he did, but what Cane didn't know, lady Cyan played a different scheme and this unexpected element was fatal for the whole plan that Cane had fabricated.

Cane miscalculated the involvement of lady Cyan and what kind of plot she would bring to this game. And this allowed lady Cyan outsmarted Cane.

"Who leads them?!" Ethan gritted his teeth. He hoped Cane was right this time to trust Redmond, because he was going to kill that man himself if he got involved.

"Lyle," the warrior replied. "He mobilized the whole warrior of the blue moon pack here and join with the remaining of royal warrior, who didn't go to the mountain."

"No! You need to find Cane and Iris!" Haco insisted, he looked almost like an insane old man. What actually happened with him?

"Where is Redmond?!" Ethan was frustrated. The plan went south.

The warrior frowned. "The last time I saw him, he is in the pack house, but I am not sure where he is exactly."

Ethan growled. He knew exactly where that warrior was. "Aliana! Go with Haco and gathered the young warrior! I will meet you in the training ground soon!"

If it was in different situation, Aliana would scoff if Ethan ordered her around and would make sure Jace heard about it to cause trouble for the gamma, but she could read the situation and do what she was told.

Aliana grabbed Haco's hand and ran toward different direction from Ethan. The warrior, who had reported the news followed the gamma.

"Gamma Ethan... if we lost this battle, will they enslave us again?" the warrior asked, as he ran beside Ethan. His name was Lucas and his mate only gave birth to a baby girl a week ago. He would rather kill his own daughter, if he had to subject her to the life of slavery, especially when she was a girl.

"Don't talk nonsense!" Ethan growled and then shifted into his beast, as he dashed toward the pack house.

Damn Redmond and his people!

But, there was this question in Ethan's mind; how could they were able to shift into their beast when they consumed Rottingbane continuously, without their beast, they wouldn't be able to fight!

It didn't take long for Ethan to reach the luna's bedroom, where Sofia still stayed there. The people started to panic when they heard a battle was about to break out with the warrior from the Blue Moon pack.

"Redmond! Get out!" Ethan immediately shifted into his human form and kicked the door, but because this was a luna's bedroom, of course, he couldn't tear the door down as he liked, since it was very strong. "Get out now!" Ethan roared.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free,Chapter 464: A Trap (6)

A TRAP (6)

Thankfully, before the door sustained a permanent damage, Redmond had opened the door, he glared at Ethan, but was immediately taken aback when he saw how furious the gamma was, as if he had just killed his mate.

"What?!" Redmond frowned so hard, but he didn't provoke Ethan like usual.

"Do you have any clue what your second command is doing right now?!" Ethan gritted his teeth, his eyes stared intensely at Redmond. They had spent time together for the past few months, thus Ethan refused to believe if he couldn't tell whether this warrior before him was telling a lie or not.

"What? Drinking? What Lyle is doing now?" Redmond was confused, Ethan had never been interested with Lyle before.

Ethan could see how Redmond was genuinely clueless about what was going on. He must have been staying inside the bedroom, thus he had not yet heard what his second in command was trying to achieve at this moment.

It was Lucas, who answered that. "He mobilized all the warrior of the Blue Moon pack to attack us! He wanted to take over the Howling Wolf pack!" Lucas was enraged, as Redmond was the warrior from the Blue Moon pack too.

"What?!" Redmond widened his eyes in shocked. "No way! He will not do anything like that without my permission!"

Thankfully, because most of the warrior of the Blue Moon pack was signed to work in the mine and only some of them worked at the entrance gate to the pack, thus they could only gather out of the pack gates and right now, Jace and the warrior under his command was trying to hold them back.

It wouldn't last for long, since the number of warriors under Jace was not that great.

Currently there were around a thousand warrior of the Blue Moon pack, while half of them were still in the Blue Moon pack, at least, there were five hundred warriors under Lyle, who were trying to knock down their fortress.

It was not sure whether the other five hundred would join them or not. Not to mention the royal warrior backed them up.

Meanwhile, there were around one thousand five hundred warriors in Howling Wolf pack. They outnumbered them, though it was not that great, but still, it would be an ugly battle if they managed to breakthrough the fortress.

"Great! Now command them to back off!" Ethan roared, he was enraged, even words couldn't describe how angry he was, especially when Haco's words kept replying in his mind.

If the situation was a chaos here, what about Cane and Iris? They were literally going to the mountain with the king and more than half of the royal warriors.

"Where are they?!" Redmond was seething now, as he walked out of the bedroom, but before he could leave, Ethan grabbed his shoulder and glared intensely at him. "What now?!" Redmond snapped at him.

"Are you sure, you are not on their side?" Ethan narrowed his eyes dangerously. "Are you going to join them too?"

Redmond swatted Ethan's hand and looked at him disdainfully. "Even if I am going to join them, what's make different? All of them rebel against you, do you think I am alone will give them a significant number?" Redmond hissed.

Ethan thought about it for a while. "You have a good point there."

However, instead of going with Redmond, he went to see Will. He still stayed inside his room and stared at the empty wall in front of him.

Redmond really wanted to shake him, so he could get back to his senses.

"Will! Wake up, my friend! I need your help! I need you to go to Riverside pack!" Ethan shook his body, but Will's eyes looked so empty. "Damn it, Will! We are going to die if we don't do anything! The alpha and luna are in danger and there is rebellion in our entrance gate!"

They needed more warriors to defend the pack and look for their alpha in the Goffa mountain. Ethan prayed so hard there was nothing happened to Cane and Iris.

"My king, what do you mean with this?" Sir Elijah looked around him, as the royal warriors were in their fighting stance and some of them were already shifted into their wolves. "I thought we are going to hunt white fox for lady Cyan?"

Sir Elijah was clueless about the king's intention. He only came here alone and didn't bring his warriors.

"Shut up!" King Aeon snapped at him, which made him flinched.

Meanwhile, Leon smiled smugly at Cane, he had been wanting to kill this alpha ever since he humiliated him and his daughter. If he took Nala as his mistress, his daughter wouldn't go through such hell with the king. What was so great about this alpha to actually reject his daughter?

On the other hand, Cane approached Iris and nine of his warriors, who had formed a circled around their luna, while alpha Dristan stayed close with him. The only personal guard he had with him was useless in this situation.

"Are you trying to kill me, my king?" Cane asked, he could see the plan he had created crumbling before his eyes when he fell into lady Cyan's trap.

Indeed, woman had different way of plotting something. They were dancing harmlessly around their target before they strike them.

"I should have done that long time before," king Aeon replied. He dropped all the pretense now and looked at Cane disdainfully. "You look like your mother. She is a beautiful woman, your mother. It's a pity that she was my sister. I would love to have her."

Iris felt like she wanted to gag when she read what king Aeon said. She knew how immoral people with power was, but how could he lust over his own sister?

The provocation was too much, even the warriors of the Howling Wolf pack cursed under their breath for the king to say something so disgusting to their late luna.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free,Chapter 465: Sacrifice

SACRIFICE

The king taunted Cane intentionally and the latter knew about that, but it didn't mean his blood boiled with enraged when his mother was being disrespected like that.

He could feel this anger slithered through his veins, but it was not only him, there was another strong feeling ran through his mind at this moment when he caught a glance of lady Cyan briefly.

The lycan inside him was awaken and the sight of lady Cyan stirred his wrath.

It didn't happen before when he met with lady Cyan, the lycan stayed dormant. What was different now? Was it he could sense Iris was in danger and all of this because of this mistress?

Cane glanced at Iris, her small face scrunched up, she glared at king Aeon with such strong disgust upon reading what he said about his mother. Weirdly, he felt a little bit better to see how his mate was very angry for him.

"Aeon," Cane called the king by his name only, since the pretense had been dropped, there was no need for a fake politeness and respect. He didn't deserve that after all. "You are so disgusting, it's so shameful, we relate by blood."

Alpha Dristan was so shocked when he heard that, so did sir Elijah. He shouldn't have provoked the king when they were in disadvantage! Did he really want to die?!

What Cane said alone could grant him a death sentence, but at this point, what made it so different?

On the other hand, hearing what Cane said, king Aeon was seething. He was about to order all the warrior to attack at once, shredded him into pieces, but lady Cyan stopped him.

"If you are so shameful of your blood, I can suck your blood out of your body! I will make your mate watch every single drop of your blood!"

Lady Cyan put her hand over the king's and this stopped his outrage, as the king held himself back to let his mistress took over the situation.

Sir Elijah watched this subtle gesture and he was bewildered how could this mistress tamed the enraged king and actually, the king looked docile with her. He only met with lady Cyan twice and because she was not so stand out among the other mistress, it came as a surprise for her to be able to do this to the king.

"Alpha Cane, I am very curious of your mate, can't you lend her over to me for a while?" Lady Cyan tilted her head at Iris. She still couldn't figure out what this woman was. She was not a shifter, but she was not a magic user, yet she had an ability that not normal human had.

"Cyan, if you are not going to hunt for white fox, should we return to the pack? I am so sick of this game." When Cane dropped all the formalities, he did that thoroughly. He looked at her menacingly.

However, instead of being offended, lady Cyan was smiling instead. She looked so beautiful and cheerful, but the king didn't have any reaction. He looked angry, but that was it, his emotion that he displayed felt so empty if you looked at him closely.

"Why are you already fed up with this game when it's just started?"

Cane looked around him. There was, at least four hundred royal warriors that surrounded them. It was not a significant number. The lycan had killed twice of this number, but Cane didn't want to resolve to that plan.

"My king, you can't do this. The people are in favor of alpha Cane, if something happened to him and the public learn about it, it will tarnish your name even further. People will revolt!" Sir Elijah tried to talk sense to the king.

King Aeon was not a favor king, everyone knew this, especially when he insisted for Alan to be the crown prince, even his own court against it, but it didn't make it any better when he skipped a generation and made a baby as a newly appointed crown prince.

"Shut up, you interrupt the conversation here," lady Cyan said coldly, as she raised her hand and made a choking movement. For people, who was close to her, they would immediately know what kind of affect it would make.

At the same time, sir Elijah gasped loudly, while he scratched his neck, as if trying to get rid of the thing that suffocated him.

His body fell from his horse to the ground, trying to scream for help, but there was no word came out of his opened mouth, while he let out an eerie sound, as if he was being slaughtered. His eyes bulged on their sockets. Fear was palpable to see in those eyes. He was fighting for his life, but then, it was something that he couldn't fight against.

"Dark magic... it's dark magic..." Alpha Dristan stuttered. His jaw dropped when he watched sir Elijah stopped struggling and his body stayed still on the ground. He was dead. The mistress killed him with dark magic. "How... it's..." His mind went blank.

Meanwhile, Iris averted her gaze from sir Elijah's dead body, she couldn't stand to watch how he was killed in such painful way.

The young woman, who was riding a horse with Dyne was crying inconsolably, as the warrior closed her eyes with his palm, so she didn't need to watch the excruciating pain that sir Elijah went through.

On the other hand, the alpha said nothing, his eyes fixed on lady Cyan. She didn't hold back to show her power, to show them her true color as the dark witch and Cane noticed one thing; none of the warriors were surprised to see this. Did they already know?

"Alpha Cane... we- we are going to die..." alpha Dristan mumbled under his breath. This was the first time for him to really encounter with a dark magic and watch someone died because of it. "She is a dark witch..."

And now, killing sir Elijah was the sacrifice that Cyan needed.

"Kill him!" One of the warriors of the Howling Wolf pack, shouted when he saw Redmond approached them. "He is the warrior from the Blue Moon pack!"

All the warriors, who heard that, immediately rushed toward Redmond with the intention to kill him. Ethan must have not thought about this kind of reaction when he sent Redmond alone to see Jace in the entrance gate, as his mind was occupied with a lot of things.

But, fortunately, Jace was nearby and he stopped his warriors before they could shred Redmond into pieces.

"Step back!" Jace roared to stop them from shifting into their beast and fought Redmond. Five warriors were seething, but the other immediately backed off. "I command you to step back!" Jace was enraged when his warrior didn't listen to his order.

The five warriors gritted their teeth, as if they were about to argue, but when they saw Jace's expression, they quickly lowered their head and stepped back.

Redmond threw them a nasty look. He would gladly fight them all, but right now, he had no time to prolong this offense, as he was so infuriated with the fact Lyle had backstabbed him by mobilizing the warrior from the Blue Moon pack without his permission.

How long he had planned all of this?

"Ethan sent you here?" Jace asked Redmond. The two of them couldn't be said close, but they were in amicable term with each other, especially when Redmond knew a lot about Cane's plan and his secret, almost as much as Jace and Ethan did.

There was at some point, Jace saw him as one of them, but he was not sure where Redmond was standing in this situation. After all, out there, those people, who would gladly ransack the Howling Wolf pack, was the people, who he grew up with.

"Where are those ungrateful people?!" Redmond took a long stride to approach Jace, he was fuming. This was a humiliation for him as the leader of the warrior for not being able to control his own men.

They were in the entrance gates, which served as a fortress for the Howling Wolf pack and if you went up, you would be able to see a few hundred beasts from its vantage point, led by no other than Lyle.

"What are you going to do with them?"

"I am going to kill them all!"

After making Will agreed to carry the mission to the Riverside pack, he went to the orphanage again to meet with Aliana and Haco.

Aliana had gathered around fifteen young warriors, as they were tasked to help people to safety if the enemy managed to breakthrough their stronghold. One of these young warriors was Joel.

Ethan was familiar with him, since Joel was under his command, so he gave him a few tasks and something to be prepared for them to enter the mountain, as he talked with Haco and Aliana.

"What the hell is happening last night during the dinner party?!" Ethan looked agitated, he couldn't keep his cool. "Damn it, Haco! You put the alpha in danger! Why don't you warn us if you know something is off about lady Cyan?!"

"Damn it, I can't!" Haco barked back. He looked exhausted. His eyes sunk, as if he had not yet slept for weeks. "I didn't tell you not because I want to! But, I can't! Shit!" he kept cursing under his breath, he looked so erratic.

"What do you mean you can't!? Cat got your tongue?!" Ethan was so upset, he could talk so clearly and loudly right now and he told him, he couldn't warn them?! What kind of nonsense he was trying to spit out?

Haco looked frustrated, while Aliana said nothing and followed their argumentation closely.

"That woman is a mind controller, damn it!"

Haco had never met with a mind controller and if he had any doubt before about the symbol that they found in the Riverside pack, which was the symbol of Decratic, he was sure now that lady Cyan was one of his worshippers.

As Decratic was known as a mind controller and his loyal worshipper possessed the same ability too.

Seeing the situation was already out of control, this was not even an option to think of a plot and whatnot. There would be no plot if they died.

Cane grabbed Iris's hand and mouthed to her. 'Move fast and hold tight.'

Iris saw that and nodded.

If lady Cyan made the first move to kill sir Elijah, it meant, their chance to get out of this situation alive was close to none.

Meanwhile, the king and the royal warriors were weirdly not having a decent reaction. They watched the whole thing happened, but they didn't have any response.

"With the cue from the alpha, clear the way," Oliver said in low voice. It was hard for them to communicate once they were in their beast form, since the mindlink between them had been severed, but they had been training to overcome their shortcoming.

However, lady Cyan looked at them emotionlessly, as she dismounted her horse and took two steps closer to them.

"Hand her over and maybe I will spare you," lady Cyan said, as she looked at alpha Dristan. She used her power too much on the royal warriors and the king, she couldn't afford to control one more person, more so, she needed to save up her energy.

She had not yet reached the main reason why she took this extreme way and the risk to expose her power.

On the other hand, alpha Dristan actually contemplated to do so, as he glanced at Iris and calculated how fast he could grab her. He did that out of instinct, but his subtle glance and what he was thinking right now, didn't go unnoticed by Cane.

And when alpha Dristan caught his eyes, he was stuttering. "Al- alpha Cane... I... no, I don't think about that..."

But, before alpha Dristan could explain himself, they could hear Iris screamed in pain.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free,Chapter 467: An Ally Turned Traitor

AN ALLY TURNED TRAITOR

Iris had sensed this ominous feeling, but a second ago, she felt like the feeling intensified and amplified a hundred folds, as if something sharp was stabbed through her chest, the pain was excruciating, though it only last for a few second, but it was enough for her to lose control over her body and fell from her horse.

If it was not for Cane, who caught her fall, she would have sustained serious injuries from falling from such height.

Her body was twitching and her ears were ringing, the noise made her head throbbed in agony. The torment lasted for at least three to four seconds, but Iris felt like hours had passed before she finally opened her eyes and saw Cane's worried expression.

She had never seen him so worried like right now.

"You defend yourself so well, I am so curious about your origin now." Lady Cyan tilted her head, as she looked at Iris with so much curiosity.

"What have you done to her?!" Cane growled. He cradled Iris in his arms, as she whimpered in pain and clutched his front shirt tightly, her body was trembling and the alpha also had a hard time to reign the anger from the lycan within him. This cursed creature forced himself to resurface.

However, lady Cyan seemed to be deep in thought, she mumbled to herself. The aura that surrounded her almost like a maniac, it was so different from the figure she tried to portray in front of the public.

"She should have died with such strong curse, but she doesn't. How could a runt do that? No, even a shifter or an average magic user will not be able to withstand that. Is she that powerful or is that only the nature of her ability? Could she extend her ability to someone else?" Lady Cyan directed her eyes at Cane, as she contemplated something, from the tip of her her fingers you could see red wisps fluttered in the air.

The Howling Wolf pack warriors were on high alert with how things escalated, it went south so fast. They didn't see this coming, neither they prepared for this kind of situation.

But a second later, two warriors screamed in agony, as they fell from their horses. Their scream didn't last long, as their body dropped dead to the ground.

"I don't think she can extend her power," lady Cyan lamented.

Meanwhile, the last seven warriors of the Howling Wolf pack snarled, they were enraged to see their fellow warriors died in such state.

"She should have died like that, but it is so impressive, she can withhold my curse." Lady Cyan tapped her lips, contemplating of Iris's unique ability.

Seeing their friends died, one of the warriors charged forward to attack lady Cyan. He was in his beast form, but before he could reach the witch, five royal warriors charged forward and fought him brutally.

The rest six warriors snarled and two of them charged forward to help their friend, but more and more royal warriors interfered.

There were only Oliver, Dyne, Eron and Dean, the last four warriors, who stayed back, as they bounded with their duty to protect their alpha and their luna.

Meanwhile, Cane was having a hard time to breath when Lu forcefully came forward. He couldn't let the lycan out if he could help it and Iris could sense his struggle, as she was already calm enough from the aftermath of the curse, since lady Cyan didn't have her focus on her.

The fight didn't last for long, as the four of them were forcefully watched their fellow warriors were being slaughtered. It could be their end too, but even so, they must die in order to find a way out for their alpha and luna. Therefore, they couldn't leave their position.

It was anguish when they had to watch everything unfolded before their eyes, it almost felt like they were thrown back to the moment of their slavery. They were forced to watch their close one died without being able to do anything.

That was what happened right now.

"Cane, focus on me," Iris said, she grabbed his hand, as she sat down. His hands were so cold, but the color of his eyes was still so dark. Cane shook his head, as if he was trying to get rid an intrusive thought.

"Lady Cyan!" alpha Dristan cried, as he fell to his knees, begging the witch. "I will not say anything about this! I will not say anything whatever will happen here! Spare my life and I will be your loyal ally!"

At this point, there was no way out of this situation, it was either you became an ally of this witch or you were going to die, since she had revealed so much about herself, a secret that the mistress had been keeping for so many years.

See? This was what Cane meant, when he said there was nothing such as loyalty between the two of them, there was only profit and benefit. Their cooperation wouldn't last for long once they didn't see the benefit from it.

And for alpha Dristan right now, his life was way more important than anything else. It was so embarrassing to see how an alpha from the Red Claw pack, the richest pack in this continent, groveled for his life.

Meanwhile, the king was so obvious that he was a backdrop. He said and did nothing, as his expression remained angry, yet it was very clear for them now that he was under the witch's spell, as he didn't get a better grip of this whole situation.

"You want to be my ally?" Lady Cyan repeated the words and Dristan nodded his head eagerly. He couldn't care less about Cane and the other.

"My lady, I am the richest alpha in this continent, having me as an ally will be a great benefit for you tremendously," alpha Dristan started blabbering all the sweet offerings for the witch. "I will support prince Alan to be the crown prince. I will make sure the Red Claw pack will not interfere with the succession of your son."

It was Koda's grandson, who was appointed as the new crown prince and alpha Dristan thought, it was a great offer, since it was him and Cane, who had dethroned the previous crown prince, which no other than the only son of this witch.

The only personal warrior of alpha Dristan also knelt down beside him, bending his body until his head touched the ground, begging for his life.

"It was alpha Cane, who had planned everything, he was also the one, who had..."

Yet, alpha Dristan didn't have a chance to finish his word when his head detached from his body. Blood burst out from his headless body, splashed the ground with the color of red and the air contaminated with this metallic smell.

Everything happened too fast, no one had time to process, not even alpha Dristan himself when Cane ripped his head apart from his body, as his claw still embedded on his shoulder and his other hand held his head.

The sight was gruesome to say the least and the alpha looked more than feral. He looked crazy and no one saw this coming, even Iris.

She watched how Cane held alpha Dristan's head in his hand and the dead eyes stared at her. She could feel her heart beat so fast against her chest, yet, she didn't make any noise, as she gritted her teeth and balled her fists to get a grip of the situation.

She tried to calm herself down and not to be panic, this was not the first time for her to see such gory sight.

Meanwhile, the other four warriors gasped, but this was not something that he had never seen before. To their surprise, their luna looked level headed enough, she could compose herself upon seeing this.

It was actually the new mistress of alpha Dristan, who was sobbing against Dyne's chest, as she closed her eyes tightly, her whole body was trembling.

"You can have him," Cane said callously, as he threw alpha Dristan's head toward lady Cyan. He actually hit her waist, which made the blood sprayed all over her dress and face.

Lady Cyan was not a warrior, she was lack of physical reflex, thus she couldn't dodge that and this made the woman looked so mad. The look on her face was so eerie with blood stained her skin.

"Here, another part of him." Cane threw alpha Dristan's body as well, but this time, lady Cyan saw that and immediately jumped to the side to avoid it.

If they were stuck in this situation, Cane didn't need an ally turned traitor like Dristan. At this point, when what matter the most was their lives, he could die for all he cared, since he was going to expose the deal between the two of them.

Lady Cyan was already a handful, he didn't need another threat. If Dristan would do more harm than good, it would be better to get rid of him sooner than later.

"HOW DARE YOU!" The witch was furious and she aimed her anger at Iris instead, because she didn't want to kill Cane just yet and Iris was the better option to hurt this alpha. After seeing their interaction all this time, she knew how much Cane cared about his mate.

Iris's body fell to the ground, as she curled herself and let out an ear splitting scream that could make you shiver, as though you could feel her pain.

Far away... the five swords cracked.

SOMEONE WAS THERE

Cane was seeing red when he saw Iris was in pain and let out an ear splitting scream, the sight of her turned his eyes into red color.

"LU!" Cane called the lycan and at the same time, he shifted into his beast form.

There was no way out. There was no other solution aside from this. Lu was right. No matter how meticulous Cane was to scheme his way to get to his goal, his lack of power was a crucial point.

'Do you really think, you can only rely on your crafty brain?' the lycan scoffed at him when he tried to force himself out and Cane stubbornly held him back. 'For ten years you have that brain of yours, but without my power, do you think you can break free from the slavery? If something happened to my mate, I will not only slaughter your pack member, but all the creature I can get my hand on.'

Cane knew that was true, but his statement about Iris, irked him.

Yet, seeing Iris was in so much pain, there was nothing more important in his eyes than to stop her pain and the only power Cane could rely on was the lycan.

He gave up his body and let the lycan get a full control over him. This was a crucial thing for someone like Cane to be vulnerable and couldn't control himself.

As an alpha, it was in their nature to have a fully control about everything around them, to be in a vulnerable state was against their nature.

But, at this moment, a realization hit Cane so hard. He was not only willing to give up his dominance and became so vulnerable before the lycan, but he was more than ready to give up his soul, if it meant, he could stop her pain.

It was not sure, since when he felt this strong and deep feeling for her.

The mate bond indeed helped them to be closer, but after everything that they had gone through, he knew it was way more than that.

On the other hand, lady Cyan gasped loudly to see Cane shifted into his lycan form. It was the lycan! He didn't shift into his wolf, but a lycan!

"No way..." Oliver gasped, he was kneeling down beside Iris, who had lost her consciousness, he was about to check on the luna, but this happened before his eyes.

The alpha shifted into the lycan! The cursed creature that had been hunted down by the whole continent!

What about the rumor of the alpha hunted down the lycan? What about the king's order to the alpha to catch the lycan? What about those sayings about the lycan and how alpha Cane managed to track the creature down and save his mate?

They couldn't believe what they were seeing right now.

On the other hand, lady Cyan used ten royal warriors as a shield, right in time before the lycan could claw her, but what ten warriors against a cursed creature? It would only take a second before the creature could get to her.

"My lady, we need to leave!" Leon said urgently, as he went to lady Cyan's side. "It's the lycan! The lycan is the alpha! The whole world should know about this! The people from the Holy Kingdom should know about this!"

"DAMN IT, HACO! Why you only opened your mouth now?!" Ethan was furious when he heard what the sorcerer told him.

Lady Cyan was a mind controller! And this old sorcerer didn't even talk about that until it was too late?! What the hell was he thinking?! Such important news should be delivered to Cane as soon as possible, so he could take all the precaution!

And now, he went to the mountain with no enough people to protect him and Iris, while the royal warriors swarmed them up!

"Don't you know how important the news is!?" Ethan really wanted to kick this old man, a claw or two on his throat would be good, but then, since he didn't have healing ability, he probably would have died, if he really did that.

"I can't! I can't tell you! Only now I breakfree from her spell! Do you think I don't know the important of that news! Damn it!" Haco barked back at the gamma. If he could, he would have let Cane knew about that!

The problem was; he didn't expect lady Cyan to be a mind controller, thus he was not prepared when she put him under her spell. Thankfully, Haco was also a dark magic user, he was not a weakling, or else, he would be a puppet that was played by her hand right now.

"She read some information that I know! I stopped her, but I am not sure how many information that she had gathered when we made a contact last night!" Haco looked so frustrated with this whole situation. He was drained because of his attempt to be free from that witch.

Ethan felt his head throbbed painfully. He thought, they were already in the worst situation possible, but now he knew, the situation only got worst and worst.

"Aliana, you come with me too, we need to look for the alpha."

Jace was here to defend the pack and Will had gone to the Riverside pack to get their warrior in order to help them here, so Ethan would lead this small group to find Cane and the other.

"Jace will kill you if he learned you take me to the mountain in this mission," Aliana said casually, but actually, she had prepared herself to join this group.

"It is a waste of your talent to keep you in the orphanage," Ethan grumbled. "You should have joined our training instead of playing with children."

Despite her sweet and kind appearance, Aliana was a fighter. If she was a man, probably, Cane would have chosen her as his gamma. Needless to say, this woman could fight Ethan head on if she wanted.

"Don't worry, let's fight Jace together if he were going to kill you," Aliana said, as she patted Ethan on the shoulder.

Ethan grimaced when he heard that. "Thank you, that's comforting enough," he said sarcastically and then faced the fifteen young warrior, who were ready to go into a battle. Jace would really kill him if he knew Ethan led these newly appointed warriors to Goffa mountain. "Listen up! Nobody will engage in a battle, we are going to scout the area and look for the alpha and luna! Stay low and don't reveal yourself if you could help it! Escape, runaway if you think you are in danger and most importantly, don't die."

Ethan felt like he was the one, who was going to die right now... the tension was crazy.

"Lady Cyan..." Leon called her, he looked dumbfounded to see how the lycan killed all the royal warriors, who were trying to get close to him, to stop him from breaking through the barrier that lady Cyan had put around her, Leon and the king. "We need to go... we need to get the king to a safe place. The lycan is insane... this creature will kill us."

Lady Cyan gritted her teeth. Her barrier wouldn't last for long, as she had drained her energy to control the king and all the royal warriors, while Leon was loyal to her, as he begged her to spare his daughter, this old warrior wouldn't be able to help with anything if the lycan broke the barrier she had created.

Before their eyes, the lycan had brutally killed the four hundred royal warriors that attacked him, within less than two hours.

Blood seeped through the ground, the metallic scent was so strong, it was actually very suffocating, especially for the shifters, but the king stayed in his angry expression without saying anything.

Lady Cyan tried to harm Iris, but the lycan didn't let anyone to touch her, not even came close to her, while the four beasts added more layer to her protection.

And now, when all the royal warrior had died, the only one that stood before her eyes was the lycan, while Iris and the other four beasts were no one in sight.

The red eyes of the lycan looked as bloody as the blood on the ground. He looked so feral and was ready for another showdown. He barred his fangs and his claws were sharp enough to cut through steel.

This barrier wouldn't stand his attack for long.

But then, lady Cyan's eyes lit up when she saw someone from behind the lycan, at the same time, the beast also sensed this person, as the lycan snarled viciously. The beast's black fur looked shiny with blood that coated him.

"Father..." Lady Cyan called this person under her breath. She knew, she would be out of trouble with her father was here.

Iris felt her chest split into two when the pain was very unbearable. Her ears kept ringing and this made his head throbbed painfully, as if there was someone, who hammered her head.

She closed her eyes and hoped the pain would subside soon, since she realized this was Lady Cyan's curse, but once it did and she opened her eyes, she was no longer inside the forest of the Goffa mountain.

Iris was laying down on the floor, inside this empty hall, where she knew the five swords were there.

"Iris."

Someone called her and she turned her head to the source of the voice when she heard that.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free,Chapter 469: Memory From The Past

MEMORY FROM THE PAST

She was in her dream again? The dream about the five swords that kept coming to her?

But this time, she could hear someone calling her name and when she turned around, a figure came closer to her. In her last dream, she saw this obscure figure, though this time it was a little bit clearer.

It was a woman with red, long, curly hair and when she came closer toward her, she could see the color of her eyes, they were blue.

Iris gasped to see the similarity between the two of them, if someone saw them, they would think they were siblings.

"We finally meet," she smiled and there were two dimples on her cheeks, which Iris didn't have.

This woman was so beautiful. Her beauty was ethereal, as if she was not from this world. The kindness in her eyes and the firmness in her voice, could easily make you feel safe and sound with her nearby. She looked so calm and compose.

How could someone exude such serenity?

Iris was about to ask something, but this alluring woman had grabbed her hand. "There is no time, I want to show you something." Her voice rang in this empty hall.

Iris didn't understand what she meant, but when she blinked her eyes, she was no longer inside that empty hall with five swords.

She was in a warm chamber, standing near a fireplace, where a lizard curled its body. Iris was surprised, she thought her lizard was there, but then when she looked around her, there were at least four of them and they were not on the same size like the one she had.

"What is this? Another dream?" She murmured to herself.

Even though there was no way this was real, but Iris didn't feel like it was a dream either. Everything was so real and lucid to be called as a dream.

She looked around again and found that woman with red, curly hair, she was wearing white dress, staring at the distance from her window. It was night, the sky was so gloomy and thunder could be heard in the distance.

That woman looked so lonely and sad, even though it was only her back that she could see.

However, there was another thing that distracted Iris at this moment from approaching her and asked what was going on.

Currently, Iris was flabbergasted when she heard these noises around her. The crackling sound of the firewood, the sound of the wind, the flutter from the curtain and the creaking sound when someone opened the door.

"Serafim," the man was wearing white armor and had a long sword on his hips, he lowered his head when he greeted the woman, who he called as the Serafim.

Iris had seen this attire.

The woman called Serafim was wearing the dress from Andelus continent, while the man was a warrior from the Holy Kingdom, though the armor was slightly different from what Iris had learned.

"What is it, Rei?" The Serafim asked him, her eyes were swollen, as if she had been crying for hours. "How is he?"

"Serafim..." The warrior named Rei looked hesitant to tell her the news.

"Tell me." Her voice was shaking, she balled her fists tightly beside her body. She looked like she was preparing herself for the worst, but still, she didn't look like she was ready for the news.

Rei's jaw hardened when he spoke through his gritted teeth, because he knew it would hurt the Serafim so much.

"Lu is dead, people burned him alive, he didn't fight them at all." There was no gentle or better way to deliver such news and Rei chose to be blunt, so she didn't need to go through more pain.

Still, it didn't decrease the agony that she had to endure.

"AARRGHH!" The Serafim let out a painful scream, as she fell to her knees and kept crying. The pain in her voice, the anger that she held back, it transformed into red flames that burned everything around her.

"Serafim! Please, calm yourself down! Please, calm yourself!" Rei looked panic when he was surrounded by fire. The room would be burned down completely if the Serafim didn't stop this. "Serafim, please! Your wrath will only feed Decratic, you give him more power, you need to clear your mind and heart! Please, your holiness!"

However, how could the Serafim calm herself down when she heard about Lu's death? Her heart filled with so much anger and hatred, she wanted to get her revenge, she wanted to be mad, she wanted to go crazy and kill those people, who had killed Lu, despite knowing her evil thought would only make Decratic stronger.

This was his game after all. This was how he got to her. He took the most important person in her life and this was the reaction that he wanted.

But, how could she stop this anguish feeling?

Why would Lu keep his promise at this time?

She shouldn't have made him promise her such thing and now she wallowed in the pain of losing him.

On the other hand, Iris closed her ears with both of her palms, because the scream from the Serafim was so painful to hear, but then the fireplace beside her blasted and everything went blurry.

Finally, it was quiet again...

"Shift." The man stared at the lycan and with his commanding voice, he spoke to the cursed creature. "I said, shift."

This old man emerged from the trees, as his black eyes fixed on the lycan, but then those black eyes slowly turned red. There was no fear, neither he flinched when he walked through countless corpses and the wet ground.

The splashing sound of his steps on the puddle of blood, didn't even bother him at all.

"Shift back," he said more sternly this time and slowly, his eyes turned into its original black color, so did the lycan, as the beast shifted back into its human form.

The Alpha: Claiming His Enemy's Daughter Novel Online Free,Chapter 470: Another Death

ANOTHER DEATH

Cane growled, as he shifted into his human form. He couldn't believe it, this man could suppress the lycan. He could feel Lu became quiet in his mind, as he gained his control over his body back.

Cane dropped to his knees, panting heavily, as he could feel the intense fight against the lycan and the four hundred royal warriors affected him so much. The after effect of it came back to him now and he had felt this familiar feeling before when he used the lycan power to get his revenge on the Blue Moon pack.

The day where the lycan battled them out. It drained him.

"Father..." lady Cyan approached the old man, while Leon was dumbstruck to watch how the lycan was defeated so easily.

On the other hand, the king was still had this angry look on his face, he didn't seem to care about his surroundings or what had transpired.

"Father, thank you for coming..."

Yet, before lady Cyan could finish her words, a harsh slap landed on her face. It was shocking coming from that skinny old man, which the force made lady Cyan stumbled back and fell to the ground.

"How dare you to expose yourself like this?!" the man barked at his daughter. "Such a disappointment. How far you will disappoint me, huh? Can't you use your mind a little bit better?!"

Lady Cyan held her cheek, as she tried not to cry. She felt blood inside of her mouth.

"You can't even do something right!"

"Father... I... I meant good with this plan. You need to hear me first..." Lady Cyan felt like she was a child again, where she would hear the constant of disappointment from her father and how he wished he had two sons, instead of a daughter. "That woman, that runt, who is his mate..."

"Shut up!" The old man then looked around him and his eyes landed on Leon, as he whispered to him. "Kill yourself."

Leon looked terrified when he heard that whisper, especially when his hand moved on its own and his claw emerged from the tip of his fingers.

"No... no... no... please..." Leon looked mortified when he failed to stop himself from clawing his own neck, as blood gushed out of his wounds. "No... please. I will be your loyal servant... you will need me..."

However, despite what Leon said, he couldn't stop the spell. He let out an ear splitting scream followed by gurgling sound when his mouth filled with so much blood.

Cane watched everything unfolded and knew he would be next if he couldn't find a way out of this situation. Whoever this man was, he was a bad news.

Once Leon's body fell to the ground and he was no longer had the strength to make a clean cut on his own, his body jolted for a few seconds, before he stayed still. He was dead.

"Father... we need him," lady Cyan said. There was no fear in her eyes when she saw everything unfolded, as she had seen this kind of scene countless times, she had numbed her feeling upon seeing this gruesome sight. "We need him to move the royal warriors..." she said in pitiful voice.

She accepted Leon because she saw value in him, but her father killed him just like that? Why he didn't want to hear her explanation first?

"Shut the fuck up and get up! You waste so much of my time!" The man glared at lady Cyan, who immediately stood up, her cheek was swollen, but she didn't dare to complain about the pain. No matter how old she was, she would always turn into that helpless little child when she faced her father.

And the next thing that got that man's attention was Cane.

"So, he is the lycan..." he mumbled. His eyes fixed on Cane, who was still kneeling on the ground, but the alpha reciprocated his gaze coldly. "The lycan resides in him?" He tilted his head and then approached Cane.

"Father, what are you going to do?" Lady Cyan looked worried when her father came closer toward the alpha, she was afraid he would shift into his lycan again and attacked him.

"I am going to extricate the lycan out of him." The old man looked at the alpha up and down, as if he tried to gauge him out.

"Gamma Ethan, I the smell of blood is so strong in that direction," Joel said. He shifted into his human form when he came closer toward Ethan, since they couldn't communicate through mindlink when they were in their beast form.

"Yeah, I can smell that too," Ethan said with a frown.

He had met with Jace before and they managed to sneak out from the barricade of the Blue Moon warriors and the royal warriors without them noticed it.

The terrain of this area was still within their knowledge, they wouldn't know this place as much as they did, especially the Goffa mountain.

At that moment, Redmond was trying to get to the other Blue Moon Warriors, but he still couldn't get through Lyle. It was not sure, whether he was within those people, or he went somewhere else in a small group.

"Let's split into two groups," Ethan said. "Aliana, you led the second group, take Haco with you as well and follow me."

In that way, if there was an ambush or something went wrong with the first group, the second group could be their back up.

"Boy, you come with me," Ethan said, as he patted Joel's shoulder and then shifted into his beast, followed by the other seven young warriors, while the rest followed Aliana's order.

The deeper they went into the mountain, the stronger the smell of blood there, as if there was a massacre.

Ethan's heart beat so fast, he prayed so hard, he was not too late and by some miracle, there was no one got hurt, though he knew it was impossible...
