

Chapter 243 The Press Conference

Bryant Group and Universe Group announced a press conference to be held together right after Bryant Group published the photo of Loraine and Marco on their official website.

Word about Loraine and Marco's cooperation had already spread, and they had gotten a lot of attention. As such, the press conference they called for drew in countless guesses as well.

The internet was on a rampage with discussions, and people didn't care about anything else.

Reporters fought as much as they could just to get a spot in the live interview.

The venue was overcrowded on the day of the press conference. The reporters' eyes were fixed on the stage, eager for it to start.

Thankfully, the conference was not put off for much longer.

The host gave a warm-up and the atmosphere became livelier than before. Loraine and Marco walked up the stage, each accompanied by people from their companies. All attention was on them.

Marco looked intimidating, and Loraine held her own just as well. She was dressed in a custom-made white suit, with delicate makeup on.

Loraine gave a polite nod to the crowd's great applause, her perfect smile gracing the corners of her mouth. Her confident and serene appearance resulted in another bout of applause.

The two of them sat down and the flashes of cameras still continued to flicker.

The sight of the gorgeous pair in front of them was enough to satisfy the reporters. Whether they ended up with big news or not, just capturing such lovely photos of the two was enough!

The regular processes went by, and then it was the two CEOs' turn to speak.

Marco's eyes turned to Loraine, and his usual cold expression melted instantly.

He began, "I'd like to invite Miss Torres to announce this with me."

Loraine didn't decline. She took the microphone with a polite smile.

"As the CEO of Universe Group, I announce that Universe Group is in cooperation with Bryant Group for the building of the largest CBD. I implore you all to wait and see."

A thunderous applause burst from the entire gathering. Discussions began instantly.

"Universe Group and Bryant Group are taking over Vagow together!"

"Yes. They were leading groups of our country. I believe Vagow's GDP will soon surpass those of other similar cities."

"The project is so large they are even cooperating after their divorce."

The question and answer session finally began. The reporters were extremely excited to collect information from the two on the stage.

Despite the gossip spreading about the two on the internet, the reporters kept their questions professional to avoid offending them.

"I heard the planning focus of Universe Group would be turned to the new CBD, Miss Torres. Is that your reason for cooperating with Bryant Group?"

Loraine smiled and nodded. "Yes. Universe Group has put a lot of investment in the new CBD. We plan on investing five billion dollars to build the CBD with the best design and technology in the world."

It was a very ambitious statement, but Loraine did not come across to the reporters like she was full of herself.

Questions kept pouring in the entire session. Even when the press conference ended, the reporters chased after Loraine to continue asking.

Loraine had an approachable aura alongside her beauty. She could easily answer the reporters' questions, even the sharp ones. So naturally, the reporters were eager to trail after her.

Marco, on the other hand, crossed his arms, leaving the speaking to Loraine. The reporters dared not question him.

Loraine noticed he was relaxed, so she smiled and said, "You can throw your questions at Mr. Bryant too. He has more details."

The atmosphere instantly got lighter.

One reporter mustered the courage to ask the question everyone had been wanting to.

"Miss Torres, have you now reconciled with Mr. Bryant, seeing the cooperation between the two groups this time? Do you have plans to be together again?"

The question came across too sharp. However, Loraine's smile remained on her face as she answered skillfully, "If our cooperation means we're together, then Godwin and I have been together too since we are both members of Shepherd."

Not only did her words ease the tension, it also promoted the endorsement with Shepherd.

Loraine's exceptional EQ amazed the crowd. They all moved closer to her at that moment, their microphones stretched out to get more knowledge out of her.

Loraine began looking for an escape. Suddenly, the reporters around all went quiet.

Marco, who was behind Loraine, stepped over with a stern expression.

There was a collective gasp.

They had brought up what they were not supposed to. Loraine's mention of another man had irritated Marco.

Was Marco going to release his deadly anger on them?

Who would dare to be around to experience it?

The crowd hurriedly shuffled away with their heads down.

Loraine, who hadn't caught wind of what happened, blinked in confusion.

That was it? It seemed the reporters were efficient.

Turning, she walked to her car in the garage. However, before she got in, a voice stopped her in her tracks.

"Loraine, wait!"
