

Married At First Sight Chapter 3437 - 3440

Married At First Sight Chapter 3437-Marco said, "Dad, let's wait for Mom to make the arrangements. I think it may not be the case. My aunt has been dead for decades. She is eighteen years older than Mom. Her assistant should be ten or twenty years older than Mom. If he were alive, he would be in his nineties, right? An old man in his 90s needs help to walk. What else can he do?"

"His memory must be bad. How much does he remember about things that happened decades ago? Besides, even if he is alive, in good health, and eloquent, will everyone believe what he says? Or does he have evidence in his hands to prove that my mom killed my aunt?"

Marco didn't want to take his children back to his hometown.

Although the three brothers couldn't take over the family business, they also had many industries in Jensburg.

Shops, small factories, several small villas, large flats, etc.—these industries enable them to live a very comfortable life.

Going back to their hometown meant starting over. Besides, no matter how their hometown developed, it would never be as good as the center of Jensburg City.

Holden stared at Marco, angry and anxious, and cursed in a low voice, "Marco, you don't understand. Anyway, it's right to listen to my advice. You don't have to rush to sell your property in the city center. Wait and see first. However, you will stay in my hometown for the time being. If you see a suitable project, you can invest in it. Unless your sister takes over the position of head of the family, you should try not to return to the center of Jensburg and stay in my hometown to develop.

Just ignore everything and live your life honestly. This is the way to stay alive in a big family full of disputes."

Holden didn't have any great abilities, but he was more knowledgeable about survival than his sons.

Holden continued, "Have you not noticed when watching TV? Only those who can see things clearly and think things through can survive. Like the princes in ancient times, they did not participate in power struggles and did not rush for the throne. No matter who was on the throne, they could get the title of prince and be an idle prince.

It's pretty cool to be alive. The new emperor fought his way through blood, and after taking the throne, he has to show off. He usually won't attack those brothers who don't fight for the throne with him. So, not fighting or competing is also a way to save your life. Unless you have enough ability and capital to fight for it."

Holden didn't want the Farrell family to change owners. Even if Kathryn becomes the head of the family, she is his biological daughter. No matter how bad the relationship between father and daughter is, he, as a father, can still live in the Farrell family in his old age. The lives of his three sons and grandchildren will not be greatly affected.

However, if the descendant of the previous head of the family comes back to power, it is hard to say what will happen to his children and grandchildren. Rather than staying here and chopping fish on someone else's chopping board, it is better to return to his hometown to develop.

Anyway, the sons have made a lot of money. Not to mention hundreds of millions, but they are worth tens of millions.

A fortune of tens of millions is nothing to the wealthy, but to ordinary people, it is wealth that many people cannot earn in their entire lifetime.

Holden said, "Marco, you'll be right if you listen to me. Hurry up and pack up, tell your mom, and take your wife and children back to my hometown for the winter vacation."

The three brothers were looking at each other. None of them wanted to leave.

They didn't think it had reached that point.

Their mother didn't say anything; everything was just their father's guess.

Seeing that his three sons didn't move, Holden felt anxious, angry, and helpless. He was old, and he was Clarissa's bedmate. They had been married for decades. Even if the man Clarissa truly loves is not him, they have been happy for a long time, and Clarissa will tell him about some things.

He knew more than his three sons. He wished he could leave for his sons, but he was helpless because, no matter how good the relationship between him and his sons was, they would still listen to Clarissa most of the time.

He spoke until his mouth was dry, but his sons did not take him seriously.

"Young Master." The butler suddenly came in. He walked behind Marco and said respectfully, "Mr. Fraser is here."

Mr. Fraser?

Marco turned his head to look at the butler and asked, "Is it Pedro Fraser?"

The butler nodded. "It's him."

Marco frowned. "Why is he here?"

Did he know that Kathryn was in trouble?

In that case, Pedro would come really quickly.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3438—“I’ll go out and take a look.” Marco didn’t tell Pedro to come in, so he went out to take a look. As soon as he reached the door of the house, he met Pedro, who came in.

Pedro’s identity as a servant in the Farrell family mansion made it impossible to stop him.

He didn’t dare to stop him.

The butler just came in ahead to report; he couldn’t stop Pedro.

Pedro’s future status would be the same as that of Clarissa’s assistance. He would be a special person in the Farrell family. He was the most trusted person of Clarissa and her right-hand man.

What they did represented the will of Clarissa.

Stopping them was equivalent to stopping Clarissa. Who wouldn’t want to live?

“Mr. Fraser, why are you here?” Marco put on a smile and asked Pedro why he had come.

Pedro didn’t answer him. He walked around him and walked quickly into the house, crossed the hall, and went straight upstairs.

Pedro’s actions stunned Holden and his three sons.

After a while, Holden and his three sons came to their senses and hurried upstairs. They thought Pedro would have a conflict with Clarissa.

After all, Pedro was loyal to Kathryn, not Clarissa.

As soon as the father and his three sons went up to the second floor, they saw Pedro, with a gloomy face, coming out of the study holding the unconscious Kathryn.

The four of them, father and son, were stunned again.

They didn’t know what to do for a moment.

There was the sound of something being smashed in the study again.

Without asking, they knew it was Clarissa who got angry.

“What happened to Kathryn?”

Coming back to his senses, Holden quickly stepped forward and asked nervously. At this moment, he really cared about Kathryn’s life or death.

Pedro said nothing. Kathryn was held in his arms, motionless, with one of her hands hanging down. People who didn’t know the truth would think that she had ascended to paradise when they saw her lifeless appearance.

Holden reached out and tried to touch Kathryn’s nose.

Pedro paused and said coldly, “The young lady is not dead!”

Holden’s trembling hand still reached Kathryn’s nose, and he found that she was still breathing. He was visibly relieved, and his hands stopped shaking.

“It’s good to be alive. It’s good to be alive. Did Kathryn have a fight with her mother? What’s there for a mother and daughter to quarrel about? They are real mother and daughter, and we are on the same side.” Holden muttered.

Pedro didn’t respond. He just carried Kathryn downstairs.

Marco and his two brothers looked at Pedro. When Pedro carried Kathryn past them, Marco couldn’t help but ask, “Where are you taking Kathryn, Mr. Fraser? This is her home.”

“Hospital.” Pedro said it coldly.

Clarissa said that she only gave Kathryn some medicine, and it would not take Kathryn’s life. However, Pedro was still worried and had to send Kathryn to the hospital for a check-up.

What if Clarissa poisoned the young lady?

No, even a tiger won’t eat its own cubs.

No matter what, Clarissa would never harm the young lady!

Pedro kept convincing himself in his heart not to worry too much.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3439-Hearing this, Marco instinctively wanted to follow.

“Don’t follow me!” Pedro said it again coldly.

Marco’s legs paused.

Holden and his three sons could only watch Pedro carry Kathryn downstairs. Soon, they heard the sound of a car leaving.

They knew that it was Pedro who drove Kathryn away from the Farrell family mansion.

Holden asked his three sons to go downstairs, and he walked to the door of the study. He was silent for a long time before he raised his hand and knocked on the door.

“Go away, don’t bother me!”

The furious voice of Clarissa came from the study. She was sitting at the desk, holding her phone, and telling her assistant, “No matter what method you use, I just want Liberty to die!”

Clarissa was in a very bad mood as she decided to fight to the death with Audrey. She also got angry when she heard a knock on the door.

Holden’s hand shrank back, and soon he knocked on the door again.

“Clarissa, it’s me.” Holden called his wife’s name.

After being married for decades, he rarely called her by her name.

Clarissa hung up the phone, threw the phone on the desk, and leaned back in the chair. After taking a few deep breaths, she relaxed her expression and responded, “Come in.”

Holden pushed the door open.

When Pedro took Kathryn away just now, he did not lock the door of the study.

“Clarissa, what’s wrong with Kathryn?”

Holden didn’t beat around the bush with his wife and asked about his daughter’s situation. He walked over and questioned Clarissa angrily, “That’s your biological daughter, and you were so cruel. I can understand that Shiloh was killed by you, but Shiloh was not your biological daughter, and you actually hated Shiloh’s family in your heart. You just used Shiloh as a pawn to confuse everyone and make them think that Kathryn was useless. You covered up for Kathryn and let Kathryn quietly take control of the company.”

Holden felt heartbroken every time he mentioned Shiloh. He really loved Shiloh, and two years ago, he didn’t know that Shiloh was not his biological daughter. The daughter, whom he raised with care and love, died.

Clarissa was behind the scenes, fanning the flames. The moment Holden learned of Shiloh's death, he really hated Clarissa. Even when he was forced to castrate himself, he didn't hate it that much. After all, he did something wrong.

Shiloh was so innocent. It wasn't her who swapped her with Kathryn. She was also a newborn baby back then.

Shiloh had to bear the consequences of the adults' conspiracy.

"Kathryn is our biological daughter, the one you gave birth to after ten months of pregnancy. Yet you actually attacked her. Do you wish to kill all your children?"

Holden became angrier and angrier as he spoke, and he slammed the table.

Clarissa suddenly looked up and glared at him.

The next moment, Clarissa stood up from the chair, and in the blink of an eye, she had walked around the desk and come to Holden's side. She pulled Holden away from the desk.

This was followed by a round of punching and kicking.

Holden also resisted. But he was in poor health, mainly because he was hospitalized for a period of time after castration, and he has not fully recovered yet.

Clarissa was good at martial arts, and even though she didn't have to fight normally, her foundation was there.

The couple had a fight.

The incident ended with Holden being knocked to the ground with a bruised face, a swollen nose, and blood coming from the corners of his mouth.

Married At First Sight Chapter 3440-After beating up Holden, Clarissa sat on the desk, panting heavily, pointing at Holden, and cursing, "You are so bold, aren't you? You dare to slam the table at me! No one has ever dared to slam the table at me in my life!"

What happened to Kathryn? Do you care? You still have the nerve to blame me. How much affection do you have for your biological daughter? How sincere are you? You're asking what's wrong with your daughter now. You're so hypocritical. Are you worried that you and your three sons will have a hard time?

How dare you mention Shiloh to me? Yes, I hate Shiloh's family. When I found out that Shiloh was not my biological daughter, I hated her so much that I wanted to take revenge. If it were my daughter, they would not treat her well and abuse her, but their daughter grew up beside me, enjoying all the glory and wealth. How could I not hate her?"

Any normal mother would hate it.

At first, Clarissa was really reluctant to give up the mother-daughter relationship with Shiloh. She also tried hard to tell herself that it had nothing to do with Shiloh and that she was innocent.

After a long time, she hated her very much.

The mother-daughter love for Shiloh gradually disappeared and was replaced by revenge.

If Shiloh had been timid and cautious after the incident of replacing a girl, had not targeted Kathryn, and had no longer dreamed of taking over, she might have spared Shiloh's life.

However, what made Clarissa decide to kill was the matter between Shiloh and Holden.

She could never accept it. She couldn't face it.

Even if it was caused by two people accidentally taking the medicine,.

She couldn't accept it either, and there was always a thorn in her heart.

Holden, whether Clarissa loved him or not, was her husband.

Clarissa could keep her feelings for someone, but Holden couldn't have an affair with other women.

Holden said, "Clarissa, you old w!tch!"

Clarissa: "I'm an old w!tch? You think you're still young, you old dog!"

Holden lay on the ground for a long time before he got up. He pointed at Clarissa and cursed, "You will be deserted by everyone sooner or later!"

His words stabbed Clarissa's heart like a knife.

She will soon be deserted by her friends and relatives, and everything she has planned for will soon return to the hands of her eldest sister's descendants.

She's not willing to accept this!

"Hizz, hizz, hizz!"

Clarissa roared three times in succession. She wanted to get Holden out. She angrily said, "Old dog, pack up all your things, get out of the Farrells mansion, and never show up in front of me again!"

Holden: "I don't want to see you again!"

Clarissa said, "And take your three sons and get out; all of you get out of Farrell's mansion!"

Holden wiped the blood from the corner of his mouth and said, "You think I really want to stay here? The thing I regret most in my life is walking into this mansion without warmth and kindness."

He really regretted it. He had been living a very depressed life for decades.

"I'm leaving; I'm leaving right away. From now on, even if you carry me in a sedan chair, I will never set foot in your Farrells mansion again. You just stay here to guard your mansion, your clan members, and everything in your family!"

After saying this, Holden turned around and walked out with great dignity. When he opened the door of the study, he saw his three sons standing at the door. Holden glanced at his sons and left with a dark face.

"dad."

The three brothers instinctively looked into the study and followed their father.

Hearing the noise downstairs, they hurried upstairs and saw their father at this moment. They guessed that their parents were fighting again. Their father lost their mother again.

Holden said, "Let's go; let's all go. She doesn't need us! She only needs this clan and position."

The three brothers didn't dare to speak.

Pedro didn't care what the commotion would be like in the Farrell family mansion. He drove Kathryn to the hospital quickly.

Kathryn's weak voice suddenly sounded: "Pedro, tell Liberty to be careful recently and not to go out if possible. It would be better if she could go back to Wiltspoon."
