576 THE WARM NIGHT

If the lycan was going to get something out of her, it was only fair if she got something from him too, right? Iris felt so bold when she played this game with Lu. 1

At this moment, she didn't want to think how Cane would react the moment he got his body back. Well, it was his fault to let Lu come out... at least, Iris justified herself in that way right now.

"Tell me about Rei," Iris asked Lu, as she stopped her movement, which made the lycan groaned in frustration, he tried to move his body, but Iris didn't budge.

"I don't want to talk about him!" Lu was frustrated. He didn't want to talk about another man, especially that particular man when he finally got his pleasure.

"Okay," Iris said simply, as she moved her hand from Lu's phallus, she would just clean him up then if he refused to talk.

"No..." Lu whimpered, he tried to grab Iris's hand and bring it back to his member, but Iris spoke sternly to him, something that weirdly she was only comfortable doing it with the lycan.

"Lu, I don't want to do it, let go of my hand."

Lu stopped his movement, he was in agony. He didn't want to go against Iris's wish, but... damn it! He had need too!

"Lu."

Lu was still holding Iris's hand, but he didn't move it against his member, while he squirmed uncomfortably.

"If I talked, will you touch me?" Lu asked in dejected tone. It was not fun at all! It was really not fun! Why he needed to talk about Rei when his mate pleased him?! He didn't even want to talk about him in normal circumstances, let alone right now.

But, did he have another choice? Would he be able to go against Iris's wish and force her to do something she didn't want?

"Fine!" Lu grumbled. "I will tell you after."

Iris shook her head. That was not a good offer. "I will stop if you stop talking." "No!!!" Lu wailed. He growled at her, seemingly angry, but oddly, Iris was daring enough to look at him right in the eyes.

"Then I will clean you only."

Cane's face crumpled and this was the expression that the alpha would never make at all, which somehow, Iris enjoyed to see this. It was fun enough to see Cane actually could make such face, though it was not him.

"Rei is your personal's guard..." Lu started talking, he moaned when Iris started touching him again.

What Lu meant by 'your personal guard', he must be referring to the first Serafim, since Lu saw Iris and the first Serafim as the same entity

"He meant to protect you even if it costed his life," Lu scoffed, but then his breathing became heavy when Iris flicked the tip of his phallus and this made his whole body tensed, he rested his head against her shoulder, breathing in her scent, while continued his story in whispery tone. Rei loved Na and it was obvious to see how much he took his duty to protect her personally. That's why he was against Lu when she became so close with him.

And the reason why Rei was still alive even after five hundred years had passed, it was because he used black magic.

"That son of bitch! He criticized me because I am a cursed creature, while he used the black magic himself! Ah!" Lu was complaining and moaning, he cursed under his breath. "Damn it! Why I am talking about him?!"

Despite his protest, Lu kept talking or else, Iris would stop.

The first Serafim had caused his death, but it felt way better than this torture, desire, lust and annoyance, the lycan couldn't decide which one more prominent.

"He detached himself from the Holy Kingdom and created his own faction... in the Holy Kingdom. Sssh! Damn it!" Lu alternated between explaining things and moaning and then cursing. "There are two factions in the holl v kingdom, one that doesn't believe the current Serafim is the true Serafim. They called themselves as the pure faction and the one you and the public know right now."

Apparently, the pure faction had secluded themselves, waiting for the resurgence of the first Serafim, they believed, the day of the resurrection of the first Serafim would be the day the Decratic would appear again.

"What about the current Serafim?" Iris wastoo shocked, she stopped moving her hand, after all, she didn't think her life would be so complicated for having the first Serafim's life essence, which she didn't even know until recently.

"I didn't stop talking, don't stop..." Lu wailed. 2

"Oh..." Iris felt her hand was so numb. She knew the end of her poor hand, but she couldn't back down with her deal.

And when she started to slow down, Lu grabbed her hand and moved it to keep the pace he liked. The sound of the sloshing water and how his moan echoed throughout the wall made Iris's body turned hot as well.

A year ago, she would never imagine to be in this kind of weird situation, where she held some kind of power over the lycan and even threatened him.

Things happened and people changed...

"The current Serafim only has traces of the power that Na's used to have. The Serafim power she held is not pure and whole." Lu clicked his tongue and then hummed in delight when he kissed Iris's neck.

"What about the swords I had seen? Where are the swords?"

"We promised only talked about Rei the jerk from the Holy Kingdom," Lu reminded him and Iris grimaced with the additional title behind Rei's name that he gave to him. "Ah!" Lu jerked up, because Iris squeezed his member a little bit too tight.

"Doesn't anyone know that he used blackmagic to stay alive for so long?"

"Of course!" Lu leaned over and rested his head against the crook of her shoulder, trying to get every bit he could have from Iris that she allowed him, since she swatted his hand away when he was about to touch her breast.

This was not even pleasurable, but he couldn't say that too...

"They knew. All the people in the Holy Kingdom knew about the pure faction that Rei leads and also about how he got his immortality."

"And they did nothing?"

"Why are you so surprised to know how many hypocritical people that's still breathing in this realm?"

"The Holy Kingdom is against dark magic user, but they have one around them, yet they did nothing about it. That's a double standard..."

"That's how this world works..."

Lu's body shuddered, he was so close to his release, which made Iris could breathe in relief, since Cane would take another hour to get to this point.

However, the lycan started to curse aggressively under his breathe, which made his whole body was so tensed and Iris thought, this was how he expressed himself when he got to his climax.

Yet, she was so wrong!

Because when Lu stopped cursing and he lifted his head, it was a pair of dark eyes that glared at her, as dark as charcoal... 3

"C- Cane..." Iris stammered, was not sure what to do. She wanted to pull her hand away, but his grip tightened around her wrist and in one swift movement, Cane pulled her into the bath as well.

"Didn't I tell you to stab me when he did this?" Cane flipped her body and raised her dress, as he tore her undergarment.

"I..." Iris was flustered when Cane's finger caressed her clit, she bit her lip to hold back her moan.

"Touching him make you so aroused?" Cane came from behind her, as his hand sneaked around her thigh, touching her intimate part. The water flooded the floor with the two of them inside the bathup. "Hm?" ①

"B-because I was thinking it was you..." Iris said truthfully, she gasped when Cane inserted one more finger and she felt so full, her heart beat so fast in her ears. "I didn't let him to touch me... I..."

She was talking about Rei a moment ago with a docile lycan, but right now she had to face the angry alpha.

"Will you let me to touch you?" Cane asked, he bit lightly on her shoulder, as she could feel his hardness rested against her bottom. 1

"Y- yes..." Iris nodded, she was breathless and couldn't think straight, she held the edge of the bathup to keep her head above the water, while Cane supported her body from behind.

The alpha groaned, seemingly satisfied with her answer, but he withdrew his fingers, which made Iris whimper.

"You are pretty cunning to do this trick, Iris..." Cane licked her earlobe and Iris couldn't get away from his assault.

Lu was right, this was very uncomfortable when Cane stopped touching her! 1 "Cane, please..." Iris whimpered, trying to get her release. "Please..." She said it over and over again.

Behind him, Iris could hear how Cane growled in frustration, before he gave up and entered her, both of them moaned, as their need was met and the alpha started to pound her so hard from behind, he fingered her faster and harder, there was nothing, but pleasure. 3

It didn't take long before they found their climax, they came undone, as the pressure exploded through their veins, spreading tingles throughout. 1

Iris could feel Cane's warm release inside her, as a painful and pleasurable of his bite on her shoulder. She let out a shaky breath. 1

"Are you okay?" Cane asked, concern in his voice.

577 CANE HAD NOT YET DONE WITH HER

Iris flinched when Cane pulled himself out of her and took her body to lay on his chest, as he leaned against the bathup. 1

"Are you, okay?" Cane asked again, his voice didn't sound so angry anymore, as he took off her dress, while Iris snuggled against him sleepily, her hand was numb, but it was better than the last time.

"Hm... sleepy," Iris mumbled, closing her eyes and nuzzled his neck.

Seeing her like this, of course, Cane couldn't continue to get angry with her, neither he could reprimand her for touching the lycan.

In the end, it was Cane, who bathed her and when they returned to their bedroom, Iris had fallen asleep and the room had been cleaned, though if you were a shifter, you would still smell a faint scent of blood inside this room, but it was bearable. Cane didn't put any clothes on her and let her to sleep naked, since the weather was warm and a blanket was enough to cover her.

After that, Cane stayed awake until morning came. He would deal with the seven warriors later because he didn't want to leave Iris alone, he didn't trust himself to fall asleep after the lycan took over his consciousness.

Even so, begrudgingly, Cane had to thank the curse creature for taking care of that intruder, or else the aftermath could be more dire than this.

The whole night, Cane stared at Iris's sleeping face, peppering her kisses here and there and ran his fingers on the scars on her back absentmindedly. He knew the conversation between Lu and Iris before, as he was also listening, though his focus was not on the subject, but he got a grip of the bigger picture of who was Rei and it seemed, he would be a pain in the ass in the near future if he held some kind of power upon the Holy Kingdom. He spent the whole night to think about his next step and what he was going to do when they finally met with the Serafim and people from the Holy Kingdom, would they take Iris away? Would they go against her? Would Rei appear again?

Of course, he would. They would reach the moment where they had to face that hypocritical man, who used black magic on himself, but condemned anyone else, who did the same thing.

Cane nibbled on her earlobe, as she squirmed and unconsciously pushed him away from her and this small reaction drew a subtle smile on his lips.

In the morning when Iris finally woke up, she found herself was naked, while Cane was hovering above her, his face was so close, which startled her a little bit.

"C- Cane?" Iris stuttered, as she covered her mouth with her palm, embarrassed if she had a morning breath, but Cane didn't mind it at all, as he pulled her hand away and kissed her, his tongue plunged into her mouth and this sudden affection in the morning caught Iris out of guard.

However, she didn't mind it at all, as her body melted against his. Iris caught his face with both of her palms and lifted her body slightly, so she would get more of him. Instinctively, she wrapped her legs around his hips, which caused the alpha to growl 1dangerously.

Iris moaned into his mouth when his hardness rested against her opening, she was so wet and ready for him.

There was no foreplay, as Cane held down her thighs and parted her legs, so he was the one, who was in charge. Iris yelped when Cane gave her a hard and deep thrust, she felt her whole body rattled.

"Okay?" Cane lifted his head, letting her to get some air, as he stared at her scrunched face.

Iris nodded. "F- Fine..." she swallowed so hard when she saw lust in those dark eyes, as if he was going to devour her and embarrassingly, she found herself to be excited about what he was going to do with her. With that, Cane pulled out and thrust her again deeper and harder this time, which made Iris breathed shakily.

Yes, the alpha didn't look like he was angry anymore about the lycan, but this almost felt like punishment, though Iris didn't mind it at all... it seemed, Cane had not yet really let it go.

Cane thrust her over and over again and with each thrust, he went deeper and harder. With her thighs were being held down, she couldn't move her body, neither she could escape from this torture. All she could do was to accept it.

"C- Cane..." Iris whimpered when she felt her climax was close, but all of sudden, Cane stopped and pulled himself away from her, which made Iris open her eyes in frustration. What was this? He wanted her to beg him again?

But, before she could make her plea, Cane had kissed her, biting on her lips and sucked on her tongue, swallowing the words she was going to say. He kept her on edge! Cane kissed her passionately, but he didn't touch her where she needed him, where she wanted him to. It was extremely uncomfortable! This was the first time for her to go through this sexual frustration, as Cane kept kissing her for another minute, without letting her to reach her climax.

Iris whimpered, trying to move her hips, but she couldn't do it, because Cane was still holding her thighs apart. He was being so mean!

Frustrated, Iris bit his lip, she didn't let go until Cane groaned and pinched her nipple, which shocked her. Mischievous gaze was what greeted Iris when she opened her eyes and watched how her mate ran his tongue on his lower lip, where she bit earlier.

"Please..." Iris said timidly. Her body felt so well with the tension that needed to be released.

"Haven't I told you not to touch the lycan, hm?" Cane licked her earlobe this time, he used his knees to hold her thighs apart, while he held Iris's face and played with her nipple. Even so, he still refused to give what she needed.

"I am s- sorry..." Iris wanted to cry, she breathed heavily. "I w- will not do it again..." she promised him absentmindedly, as Cane twisted and pinched her nipple until it turned so red.

After that, Cane paid attention to her other breast, he lowered his head and sucked on her nipple so hard, Iris arched her back and tried to move her body, she grabbed his hair, as if she was holding on for her dear life.

"Cane, please..." Tears streamed down her face, she was going to die if he kept going on like this.

But, instead of granting her wishes, Cane flipped her body and pulled her hips up. He tossed away the pillow, so Iris could rest her head on the bed, she blinked her eyes, was not sure whether he would continue the torture, or he finally gave her what she needed.

Yet, what Cane did next was something that he had never done before. "Ah!" Iris yelped in surprise when she felt Cane insert his finger in her small arsehole.

The alpha leaned over to check on her and his scent engulfed her, as his chest pressed against her back and his warm breath caressed her bare shoulder.

"Uncomfortable?" Cane asked in a hoarse voice.

Iris was not sure how to answer that, she yelped because she didn't expect Cane to do something with that part of her body, but now, she didn't think she was uncomfortable with this. Surprised, yes, but not uncomfortable.

"I- it's fine..." Iris said in a small voice.

"Good." Cane gave her a kiss on her shoulder and licked her skin, while he moved his finger in and out of her arsehole. This gave a different sensation for Iris. It felt dirty, but at the same time, she was not against it.

Next, Cane inserted his fingers into her wet opening and this made Iris squall, feeling so much better when his thumb massaged her clit.

Her hair was scattered on the bed and her ass was up in the air, while Cane touched her holes. Her body shuddered, she was so close to get her release when Cane stopped his movement.

"Cane!" Iris screamed in frustration and she could hear how he chuckled.

However, Cane finally gave in, since Iris looked like she was going to really get angry with him, her small face scrunched in annoyance, as she clenched her jaw.

Cane drove himself into her, but he didn't pound her hard like he did last night, instead, his movement was very slow, as if he was savoring every second of it.

"Faster please... faster Cane..."

"No," Cane said, as he held her body from behind and rested his face on her shoulder, whispering to her ear. "I want to make love to you, Iris."

And that was what he did, the thrust came so painfully slow, but it was worth it, because once Iris came undone, her whole body couldn't stop shuddering for a whole five minutes, she felt like she wetted herself, as warm liquid dripped on her thighs.

Iris felt like her body had shattered and she became so tired, but Cane was not yet done with her.

Once her body had calmed down, Cane thrust her harder and faster, the sound of it echoed in this room.

It didn't take long before her body reacted to it and Iris found herself become so tensed again, as she got her second climax, still... Cane had not yet done with her.

578 STAY AWAY FROM THIS

"What have you done to her?" Alianawidened her eyes when she saw Cane carried Iris in his arms, as he headed toward the carriage. They were going to leave to Diandem pack now. 1

It was afternoon and probably they would arrive the next day.

Because of the additional warriors from the Bloody Wolf pack, their entourage looked so massive, it would be a stupid thing to do for the Silver Warrior to launch the same attack like days before, especially after they lost so many men during that event.

"Why does she look so lethargic? Is she still sleeping, or is she passing out?" Aliana couldn't stop her question, while the other seven warriors tried to listen what kind of reply their alpha would give her.

They heard what happened last night and wondered what kind of punishment their alpha would give to those seven warriors for failing their duty and let the intruders sneak into the bedroom.

Thankfully, the alpha was awake at the right time and killed him. Unfortunately, the intruder died right away without them being able to interrogate him, but they were very certain, the intruder was from the Silver Warrior, since it was only them, who knew about the pack house very well.

Ignoring Aliana's question, Cane entered the carriage with Iris still sleeping in his arms and put her down on the bed before he closed the door and instructed them to move right away.

"Nice try," Ethan said with a snicker, he approached Aliana, who was still standing next to the alpha's carriage. "Do you really think Cane will answer your question?"

"Oh, shut up!" Aliana growled, while the gamma laughed at her annoyance expression.

"Nah, you don't need to ask the alpha about what had happened, you should have known what had happened for Iris to be so lethargic like that." Ethan shrugged his shoulders. Aliana stopped walking away and Ethan almost bumped onto her, if he didn't stop in time. She turned around abruptly and their faces were so close, which made the gamma startled and took a step back.

"Wh- what?!" Ethan shrieked. "I almost bumped onto you, walk properly!"

Yet, Aliana couldn't care less about it, as she leaned her body to speak in quiet tone. "Do you think the luna will be fine?"

Aliana remembered how Aria used to say it was so hard to please the alpha, because he could last for long, you could die if you didn't have the stamina and the strength to endure it.

That was how Aria gloated that she was the only person, who could make the alpha get his climax, that was why she was the only woman in his life, therefore, it was understandable she got really upset when Iris was the one, who managed to get the position as the luna of the pack. The position Aria thought was within her grasp.

People in the pack used to see her as one too, because the alpha had never been with any other woman aside from Aria after they managed to free themselves from the slavery.

In that case, Aliana was a little bit worried, since she knew Iris was not up to the challenge. She was a runt and used to get sick pretty often from what she heard.

"Don't worry, she will be fine later, or else, do you think she will be alive now? After months they were sleeping in the same room in the palace?"

"They have slept together since then?" Aliana was a little bit surprised, she thought, their relationship had not yet developed that early. She still remembered when they left for the capital because the king summoned Ethan for attacking prince Alan.

"Of course! What do you think they were doing when they were alone in the bedroom? Playing cards? Of course, they played with each other!" Ethan looked so smug, as if he was the only person, who knew everything about the relationship between the alpha and luna. Aliana walked toward her carriage, while Ethan walked with her. They were ready to leave, but the two of them were still engaging in an interesting conversation.

"But, why... you know, the luna has not yet with a child?" Aliana lowered her voice, because she didn't want anyone to hear this, since it would create another trouble for Iris. The rumor about her being infertile was already in everyone's lips back then when they were still in the pack house. They believed, because she was a runt, thus her womb must be defected as well.

Due to this reason, Maria and Kaz supported Sofia so much. 1

On the other hand, Ethan grimaced when he heard this, because Aliana was still clueless, Cane was the one, who was the problem if Iris had not yet with a child.

"But, the alpha only been with Sofia one time and she got pregnant immediately."

"Well, I don't know... I am not there when they did it, right? How should I know? Maybe the alpha used different method when he was with the luna and that woman."

Aliana frowned and Ethan became a little bit uncomfortable under her sharp gaze.

"That's the most ridiculous excuse I have ever heard..." Aliana narrowed her eyes, she knew this man so much to tell he was hiding something. "Ethan? You know something that you didn't tell me, right?"

"I-I need to go..." Ethan would spill the bean, if he stayed a little bit longer, but Aliana grabbed his hoodie, which preventing him from leaving.

"So? What is it?"

"The alpha will kill me if I let you know this secret," Ethan said in whispery tone, as if Cane, who was inside his carriage in distances away, would be able to hear him.

"I will tell the alpha all the secret that you told me, including how you used to curse at him behind his back, whenever he didn't want to explain things to you."

Ethan wanted to cry when he heard that. "I thought you like me..." he wailed.

Aliana let out a devilish grin, as she beckoned him with her finger. "Now, what is it?"

Didn't have any other choice, in the end, Ethan spilled the bean after he forced her to swear not to breath a word about it.

Ethan whispered to her ear, but because she was so close, her sweet scent distracted his line of thought and he had to clear his throat and repeat his words a few times before he got the story straight. 1

In the end, Aliana was left speechless. "Heaven..." she was so shocked to know about Sofia.

Ethan only revealed about Sofia, because she was almost due and sooner or later, Aliana and all the people would learn the baby was not the alpha's.

However, about the alpha's condition, it was something that he couldn't tell Aliana no matter what, unless the alpha said otherwise...

"How is it?" Liam asked Abby, who just came out of the nursery room. She looked tired and a little bit pale.

"I don't know..." Abby said in small voice. "I am so useless..."

"No, don't say that. Never say something like that..." Liam reprimanded her lightly.

Abby had been feeling down ever since she couldn't cure the baby. All she could do was to reduce the pain, but not completely cured him.

The baby was sleeping now after his rash flared up. Today was the third time it happened and Abby felt like a failure when she heard the baby was crying out loud because of the pain. Somehow, she could feel how Laluna gave her a judgmental look.

"I can't cure the baby... what the use of me for being a Serafim when I can't do anything?" Abby felt like she wanted to cry and Liam immediately hugged her to give her some comfort.

Abby sighed deeply and buried her face against his chest, but right at that time, Cedric appeared, he was one of the five Holy Knights, who supposed to be with the Serafim all the time and protected her with their lives.

Cedric stopped in his track when he watched the scene before him.

"Serafim, alpha Colter wanted to talk with you," he said in stern voice. "He is waiting in his study room."

Abby startled, she immediately freed herself from Liam's arms and then nodded hastily, as she wiped her tears and ran away toward the alpha's study room.

"There is something I want to talk with you," Cedric said, he stopped Liam from leaving.

"You can talk later, our duty is to protect the Serafim." Liam swatted his hand away from him.

"Someone else is waiting to escort her there. We need to talk." Cedric didn't leave any room for negotiation, as he cornered Liam.

"What do you want to talk?" Liam didn't need to ask, he already knew what this might tell him. This was not the first time he caught him and Abby together and ever since then, he became suspicious about the relationship between the two of them.

"You know it is not appropriate for you to be so close with the Serafim." Cedric's voice was so heavy and filled with warning. "You will be removed if the words about it get out."

Liam stared at Cedric. "If the words about it got out, I will know, who had spread it." He gave him a look, indicating it must be him, if those people knew about this.

"Liam!" Cedric raised his voice.

"Listen, Ced," Liam spoke firmly. "You need to mind your own business and stay away from this."

579 A DAUGHTER LIKE YOU

Iris woke up when she felt the carriage moved, her body was so weak, she was not sure how long they had done it and was amazed she could last that long. ①

"Sleep again," Cane said, as he pressed her head against his chest, caressing her hair, while he was reading some report.

"Are we leaving?" Iris snuggled closer. She felt sad for leaving these people behind, but Cane had determined to not take this pack as part of his territory, since there was nothing that could benefit them in the long run.

"Yes." Iris glanced at the bright sky out there through the window. She blinked her eyes and felt so sore, but pleased at the same time.

"Cane."

"Hm."

"Did you hear the conversation between me and Lu?" Iris asked carefully, she wanted to know what his opinion about the information that Lu told her about Rei.

There was a low growl vibrated in his chest, which made Iris curled her body and nuzzled his neck. "I did, but I don't want to talk about it." He didn't want to talk about another man when he had a peaceful time with her, why would she bring another man for a topic of discussion?

"Okay," Iris said softly. She wanted to point it out that Cane had this similarity with Lu regarding this matter, but then she knew better not to say it out loud, just in case she would upset him again.

With that, they fell into a comfortable silence, but Iris didn't want to sleep. She still had enough strength to stay awake, which was a great progress for her health, since she used to be sick very often and usually, she would have passed out for days if something like last night and this morning happened.

"Cane."

"Hm."

"Grace said she is running out of water magic stone, so the concoction could only last for around two months." Grace had asked her to talk about this with the alpha, but only now she got the chance.

"Okay."

"What are you going to do?" Iris lifted her head, curious. Now the king had gone, he didn't need to fulfill the agreement about having a child, but there was no alpha without an heir and it would cause another problem for the pack member someday, if Cane didn't have any child, especially when they didn't know his condition.

The blame would be put on Iris. Because if women couldn't get pregnant, it must be their fault. The error must be on them.

More importantly, what Cane felt about it? He must know how the future looked like. The king had given him a due date for having an heir, but the real due date came from the pack member.

"We can ask Lou to give us some of the water magic stone," Iris suggested, but then she fell into a deep contemplation. "But, the Black Market is in alpha Gallot's territory and he is currently siding with the royal and now Alan is the king and the rumor about Lou is being one of your people, I don't think we can enter the Black Market easily."

Iris tried to think of a way to get the water magic stone, but she couldn't, thus the last resort was to ask Cane what was in his mind. He was always surprised her with how brilliant the way he was thinking and Iris loved it the most about him.

"What do you think, Cane?" Iris asked, she squirmed her body to get more comfortable position, while Cane wrapped her arms around her waist protectively. "Do you think we need to sneak into the Black Market like last time? But, alpha Gallot caught us..."

For a moment, Cane didn't say anything, he had put down the report and now gave Iris his full attention, staring at her beautiful blue eyes, they looked so lively and full with curiosity. Her lips were swollen, but Cane didn't regret it at all. He liked to see traces of him on her. He liked the smell of her scent mixed with his. He liked the way how kind her heart. Even though, he didn't agree with the way she disagreed with him, but he liked her boldness, though it was annoying and gave him a headache.

"Cane?" Iris called his name because he kept staring at her without saying anything. Why he acted like that? Sometimes, Iris really wanted to know what was going on in that pretty head of his.

She wanted to understand the way his mind worked and how he saw her. What he thought about her...

"Cane?"

"Do you really want to have a child?" Cane traced her jawline lightly, his eyes penetrated hers with a deep meaning in his voice.

Iris knew it was not a simple question. Cane realized, his chance to have a child on his own must be close to none, especially when this treatment didn't work, but what if Iris wanted to have a child? It would be like a dagger that was stabbed in his heart, knowing he couldn't give that.

"I want it only if you are the father." Iris replied. ①

She tried to think of a good answer, but then honesty was more than good. She was genuine with what she said and Cane could feel it.

"If you are not the father, then I don't want it. I am enough to know that you will always be by my side, that we will always be together."

"I can always be the father of the child you carried." For a moment, Iris was confused, she didn't understand what he meant and frowned, until Cane explained about it a little bit. "If you really want to have a child and both of us know it's impossible for me, you can have it in another way."¹

Iris freaked out when she heard that. She widened her eyes in shock. "Do you want to share me with someone else?" Iris looked so hurt. "I don't want to have another man's baby, if I can't have it with you then I don't want it."

How could Cane say something like that? He got very angry when she touched his body and gave him pleasure when it wasn't him, he made her to promise him to come back to him, if Rei managed to take her away. She could even still feel his touch and how her body wanted him, but why he was talking about she was being pregnant with someone else?

Iris felt so hurt, as tears started to leak from her beautiful eyes. ¹

Cane took a deep breath and wiped it. "It's a pity, I really want to see a daughter that looks like you."¹

"No, I don't want her if she doesn't resemble you at all!" Iris gritted her teeth and swatted his hand away from her face, feeling upset.

Cane pulled her closer and Iris struggled a bit, trying to push him away, but after a few kisses on her head, she didn't move again.

"Are you really going to... share me with someone else?" Iris was dreading the answer, it was hard to predict the way Cane was thinking, but if he thought it was the only way, he would follow through with that.

"No, Iris. I was talking nonsense." Cane was upset, because he felt like he was less than a man when he couldn't give an heir, but the thought Iris was being with someone else dreaded him. Maybe before they could do anything, he would have chopped off their hands if they touched what belonged to him. "I am sorry."¹

Iris sighed in relief, at the very least, she trusted his words.

There was another silence that befell upon them, as their carriage moved in steady pace and occasionally Iris would see Lil Thing, running around between the warriors and beasts. It seemed, the creature was bored to stay in its cage, its fur started to grow as well.

"Do you want a daughter? I thought alpha will favor a son." Iris broke the silence.

"A son, a daughter, they are all the same. If I have any, I want to raise them in a better environment. But, it will be lovely, if we have a daughter that resembled you."

"Beautiful and kind?" Iris teased him, she didn't think she was beautiful, because she was growing up hearing the opposite, but she believed what Cane said, if he told her she was beautiful then she was beautiful. 1

Cane smiled gently when Iris lifted her head to look at him with a grin. She could flip her mood so easily.

"Yes. So, the world will know why I fell for you." 1

Cane leaned over and captured her lips, he nibbled lightly and caressed her neck. He was being careful now, because her lips were already very swollen.

On the other hand, even though Iris still felt so sore, she didn't mind to do it again, her heart felt so warm, yet there was this sadness that lingered between them, the atmosphere felt somber, knowing this conversation probably would never come true.

However, they were startled when the carriage stopped and someone knocked on the door of the carriage.

"Alpha, you need to come out for a while, you need to see this," Ethan called him to go out, from the sound of his voice, it was something that was very urgent, but he was a little bit flustered and confused. 1

Cane groaned, he licked Iris's lips and neck before he went out to see what was going on.

Iris was curious to know what was going on out there and why they suddenly stopped.

"I want to come too." Her curiosity led her to follow Cane out of the carriage. At first, the alpha looked like he wanted to tell her to stay inside, but somehow, he ended up not saying anything and helped her to get down from the carriage, holding her hand to keep her pace with him and Ethan.

"What is it?" Cane asked, his voice was a little bit dark when he spoke and this made Ethan grimace lightly. He knew he had interrupted something fun inside.

"A warrior found a young wolf has been following us. It seems he is a member of Silver River pack."

Cane frowned. He gave Ethan a look and stopped walking. "And you stop the entourage and call me for this?"

Ethan gave him a guilty look. "The problem is... this young wolf doesn't want to go back and now he is fighting our warriors to stay following us."

"Is he dead?"

"Cane!" Iris was startled with the question.

Of course, if the young wolf fought the other warriors, he wouldn't stand a chance to survive, unless this young wolf was very strong and special. But, the way Cane asked about this, sounded so wrong, probably because he was a little bit annoyed. This was something that didn't need his assistance.

"You don't think our warriors will fight him seriously, right?" Ethan then glanced at Iris. He felt a little bit awkward to see how swollen her lips were and how her body reeked with the alpha's scent. Didn't she realize that? But, knowing Iris didn't have the same sharp senses like the other shifter, she must be clueless, which left the alpha as the culprit for not telling her about it. "Actually, this young wolf wanted to see you, Iris."

"Me?" Iris frowned. "Is it Nolu?" But, Ethan said it was a young wolf, while Nolu was only a little child.

"No." Ethan shook his head and the three of them continued walking. "One of our warriors caught him following us and we assumed, he must be from the Silver River pack, he told us that he wanted to see you, Iris, but he turned aggressive once our warriors told him to go away."

"Who is it? Iris mumbled, she was having difficulty to keep up her pace with Cane and Ethan, as she still felt very sore, so if one took a closer look, you could see how weird the way she strode beside her mate.

This didn't go unnoticed by Cane, but somehow, he let her do as she pleased. After all, she should know her limit.

It didn't take long before they could hear a vicious growl that came from the young wolf, as this brown ash wolf threw a dagger look at all the warriors that surrounded him.

They were amazed to see how this young one didn't want to back down, even though he must have known by now that he wouldn't stand a chance to fight them all.

"Shift!" Cane roared, his command was directed at the young wolf.

Couldn't resist the alpha's order, the brown ash wolf shifted into his human's form and only then Iris recognized this young boy.

He was the same boy that she had saved from the ruin, no, actually it's not her, who had saved him, but his younger sister, who had told her, where he was.

This young boy looked so skinny, probably he was the age of ten or twelve, his face was so dirty and he was wearing that rug like clothes, which only by looking at it, Iris knew how uncomfortable it was.

However, despite his appearance, his eyes filled with determination, they shone brightly without any traces of fear. This young boy even dared to look at the alpha straight in the eyes, something that intrigued Cane. Not many people had the guts, especially this young.

This young boy had this beautiful grey ash eyes, the same color like his fur in his beast form.

"Explain yourself," Cane said. His tone neither cold nor demanding, but it sounded firm.

The young boy shifted her attention to Iris and spoke clearly. "I am here to pledge my loyalty to the luna," he said without any hesitation. 2

"What?" Ethan was shocked, he didn't expect this. The other warriors were also frowning with the declaration. Why would this young wolf wanted to pledge his loyalty to the luna, instead of the alpha? It was the alpha, who owned the territory, the real power in the southern continent, but he chose to be loyal to the luna? Even followed the entourage for half a day?

On the other hand, Iris was also surprised by this sudden declaration. She blinked her eyes and then frowned. "You want to pledge to me?"

Redmond pledged to her because he disliked Cane and didn't want to end up being his underlings, even though, poor him, he ended up the same, since Iris would agree with everything Cane decided.

Meanwhile, the seven warriors, they were given to Iris because Cane wanted her to be protected, albeit she was close with Eron and Dyne, but there was still this awkward tension between her and the rest of five warriors.

Due to those reasons, none of them had ever pledged to her because they really wanted to. It was the circumstances that forced them to accept Iris.

It was understandable that Iris was shocked, but also touched with the gesture.

"Yes, luna Iris, I want to pledge my loyalty to you," he said firmly, he didn't look like a twelve years old boy, the way he spoke was very mature. "I will give my life to protect you."

"You?" Kian sneered. "What a skin ny boy like you can do? I am not sure if you can even take down a goblin."

Kian's comment followed by chuckles from some warriors around them.

Iris frowned, she looked around and watched how they looked down on this dirty young boy, who could offer nothing, but talked so confidently.

However, he didn't budge, he didn't care with the voices around him, as his grey eyes fixed on Iris, waiting for her to say something upon his request.

"And it is ashamed of you, warrior, to bully a young one, just because you can," Iris spoke, she didn't raise her voice, but with the way they were blessed with extraordinary senses, they must hear what she said and immediately the chuckled died down.

Instead, it was Ethan, who was laughing without any scrupulous, while Aliana, Eron and Dyne grinned beside him. Cane also didn't say anything and only caressed her head.

"You can't," Cane said, this word was directed toward Zale.

"Why?" Iris whipped her head to look at Cane. She had not yet decided whether or not she would accept Zale, but maybe deep down, she had known the answer that she wanted him.

"You are from Silver River pack?"

"Yes." The boy nodded, shifting his attention toward Cane.

"We can't bring just anyone from that pack." This same reason why they couldn't bring the member of the Silver River pack with them, even though they were willing to pledge their loyalty to him.

However, Zale had come so far, he didn't want to back down yet.

Instead of asking 'why', which he knew the reason behind the alpha's rejection, he took off his rug like clothes and showed his bony body and his dry skin, but there was no rash there. He didn't have such condition.

"I am clean!" he said loudly. It was such irony, because he was anything, but clean. Yet, they knew what he meant with that.

"Boy, you are too weak to even protect yourself, what are you going to do if the luna is in danger? What if there is a monster that's going to attack the luna and you can't do anything to fight it off?" Asher asked, dissatisfied.

"I will throw myself to the monster and give luna enough time to runaway," Zale said confidently, as if he didn't think his answer thoroughly.

"Well, I like that..." Ethan contemplated, he touched his chin. "Maybe we can use him as a bait when we are going to lure monsters." 1

Aliana slapped his back for that comment.

On the other hand, Cane glanced at his mate, she didn't realize it but she held his hand so tightly, anxious for his decision. She promised him that she wouldn't object him in front of his people, but maybe she would do it, if he turned this boy away.

"Ask Grace to check on him, if he is as clean as he declared, he can stay, if not one of the warriors will escort him back to his pack. No more discussion."

Cane took Iris's hand and walked away.

This was not the result they expected, but for Iris, there was a hope the boy would come with them. If she couldn't help the whole pack, at the very least, she could help this one.

"Thank you, Cane." Iris squeezed his hand, as they walked back to their carriage.

"Don't thank me yet, there is a chance the boy can't come." Cane helped Iris to get onto the carriage and caught a glimpse of Lil Thing, who was rolling on the ground foolishly, seemingly taking this short break to become it lazy self.

At first, it was Lil Thing and now this young wolf. Cane seemed annoyed to realize there were so many random things following his mate.
