

Chapter 844

844 I WILL WAIT FOR YOU

It was known that aside from the king, there was no one could have such a huge number of magic user, especially when they used them as the attacker in a battle. Raising an army of a magic user was a huge crime against the Holy Kingdom, since all the magic users were under the protection of the Holy Kingdom.

Of course, Koda told this as per Cane's instruction. He was willing to do this because he was racked with anger after learning alpha Colter and Laluna tried to dismiss him.

They should know not to backstab him because he could do the same thing to them. He knew what kind of information that could bring alpha Colter down and ruined his life.

Cane was right, this was the perfect time to deliver the blow. With this, alpha Colter couldn't retort and he could save himself, since the alpha couldn't out him for his own dark and dirty secret.

Everything was about the right timing.

"A hundred magic users?!" Elder Xarex was enraged, so did the other three elders.

They were about to leave when Koda came with this news. All the preparation was ready and they determined to save alpha Colter for his merit to save the Serafim when they came here the first time.

However, hearing this, Elder Xarex couldn't contain his anger,

"How dare he breached the rule?!" Elder Xarex was fuming. He glared at Koda. "And you just tell me now?!" He was upset because it reminded him about the problem with Abby and Liam.

The two of them were the same, giving him late information.

While Koda was facing the wrath of Elder Xarex and the other three, Iris and Cane were sitting inside their carriage comfortable.

This carriage just arrived two days ago. This was the same carriage that Haco had put some spell, so no one would be able to listen to the noise from inside, prevented outsider to overhear the conversation from the people inside the carriage.

Even though the sorcerer had long gone, the spell was still working.

"You are very devious, Cane," Iris commented, she giggled to herself to watch how Koda was having a hard time to say a word to explain himself about why he just told them now, because Cane didn't give any instruction about this and he couldn't come up with a satisfying answer for the elders.

"What did you say?" Cane pinched Iris's chin, he was amused by her choice of word. "Devious?"

Iris laughed to see how Cane tried to intimidate her. In the past, she wouldn't even dare to breathe a little bit louder when his face was only an inch away from her and his piercing black eyes penetrated hers.

However, Iris became bold now. She actually smirked at him and explained with her clear voice. "You let Kellan to deal with alpha Colter and make the elders deal with Koda, while you are out of the picture. No one will blame you if they met their demise when in fact, it's you, who moved them all." Iris narrowed her eyes. "Devious."

Cane was speechless, if it was someone else, they would have paid for what they said, for cussing him right under his nose, but then, it was his sweet little mate, who just found a way to taunt him.

Yet...

It didn't mean he couldn't punish her, right?

"You should watch what you said in front of an alpha, love." Cane brushed her lips with his thumb. These pretty lips smiled instead when she heard that.

"I am the luna. What the alpha will do to me now?" Iris's blue eyes danced with mirth when Cane groaned.

"You are getting bold." Cane closed the window, preventing the sound of alpha Xarex's angry voice came inside the carriage and ruining this mood. "You need to be punished, luna."

Iris was about to say something, but Cane had devoured her lips. She knew it would end like this and somehow, she learned how to turn him on. Actually, it was not that hard... just teased him here and there, and he would show her his frustration.

But, maybe, the reason of it was simply because it was her...

"No, you will not get what you want," Cane grunted sternly when she tried to reach to his phallus and instead pinned both of her hands on top of her head, held them with one hand, while his other hand ravaged her body.

"Cane..." Iris whimpered and moaned his name...

Cane started to nibble on her earlobe, which made her squirmed and tried to shake him away, but unfortunately, she couldn't. It was ticklish, but at the same time, Cane pressed down his hardness against her opening, which made both of them groaned in impatient.

They were desperately wanted to feel each other.

Thankfully, no one could hear them.

While there was a couple, who was having their own pleasure, there was another one, who was going through a torture...

Abby supposed to leave with all of them to Diadem pack, but she intentionally hang around a little bit to find a chance to talk with Liam.

She had not yet seen him for the whole four days, she was not even allowed to come closer to his room. Cedric had reminded her over and over again. If she was being caught, she would endanger Liam even more.

Especially if the Elders learned about her pregnancy.

Abby was only a little bit over two months, she was not yet showing, but she could see there was a little bump on her lower abdomen and every time she saw it, she would be devastated.

She wouldn't be able to hide this pregnancy for long, because three months from now, people started to see it.

"Liam..." Abby called for him. She knocked on the door and tried to open it, but it was locked.

Cedric finally agreed after he watched Abby cried for days, she didn't eat properly and didn't sleep. She would stay awake for hours, staring at the distance and suddenly cried.

Seeing her like that, Cedric didn't have any other choice.

Therefore, he gave her half an hour by taking the guard, who stood in front of Liam's bedroom to help him with something, but that was all he could do.

"Liam... it's me."

Abby could hear movement from behind the door and then Liam's voice could be heard, whispering back to her.

"Abby? Is that you? What are you doing here?" Liam sounded panic, but he was also relief to hear her voice again, so did Abby. The last time they were talking, they were fighting and she didn't want to leave without making sure he was fine, that they were fine...

"Liam, can you open the door?"

"No," Liam replied darkly. "They lock it from outside and only open it when they gave me my meal."

Abby really wanted to cry when she heard that. She wanted to touch him, she wanted him to hug her and tell her that everything would be alright. He was only behind this door, but why it felt like he was so far? As if he was out of her reach...

The silence that stretched between them felt very heavy. Why life was so hard on both of them?

Abby touched the rough surface of the door, as if she was touching him instead, she closed her eyes and a silence tear fell on her cheek. She missed him so much...

"I am sorry," Liam said from behind the door. "I am sorry for yelling at you."

Abby shook her head, but then she realized Liam couldn't see her, thus she forced herself to speak. "That's not your fault, Liam. I am wrong... I am sorry."

There were a lot of things they wanted to say to each other, but in this precious moment, why their silence was louder than the words they wanted to say?

"I can understand if you didn't want to keep the baby..." Liam felt his chest was very heavy. "But, please... please, Abby... there must be another way."

"I hope we have different option." Abby touched her stomach, as more tears fell on her cheeks. She bit her lip to prevent herself from crying out loud.

"Wait for me, Abby. I will be there as soon as possible." Liam would be locked for one more week before he could catch up with them to Diadem pack.

"I will." Abby nodded. "I will always wait for you."

"Don't cry, Abby..." Liam said tenderly, he wished he was there to wipe her tears and offer some comfort.

"I am not." Abby let her tears fell on the floor. Her heart ached.

"I know you are. I know you." Liam and Cedric were with Abby since she was little, the two of them were appointed as her personal knights by Abby herself, because she wanted them close to her.

They were the only people she was comfortable with among immeasurable pressure and judgment. They were the people that important to her and Liam was her safe heaven.

It took them three days to reach Diadem pack with a long entourage mixed of warriors, knights and magic users.

But this time, they did not come with the intention to save alpha Colter. They would take back Diadem pack, but not to spare the alpha's life.

"I can't believe this!" Eron groaned when he found Zale had been following them.

"Someone really needs to tie you so you will stay!" The warrior was frustrated.

"I am not going to stay!"
