

An Understated Dominance

Chapter 2437

“Thank you!” To show respect, Rivka took back her sword and clasped her fists toward Cassidy.

Rivka had to admit that Cassidy was a strong opponent. Cassidy was a few years younger than her, but their strength was almost the same.

When she grows up in the future, she must not be underestimated.

“Cassidy actually lost? This...”

In the audience, Noemi was shocked and surprised.

When she saw Cassidy use the Phoenix Dance sword technique, she thought she had won. Unexpectedly, the outcome changed in a blink of an eye.

“Cassidy’s talent and strength are good, but she still lacks some tempering. Although she lost the Sacred Wyrms Summit Martial Arts Competition this time, she also gained a lot. I believe she will make faster progress in the future.” Fenley remained calm. He seemed to have expected this result and was not surprised.

Although Cassidy and Rivka were similar in cultivation, their combat experience and skills were inferior.

Cassidy learned too many things. She knew everything, including fists, feet, knives, and sticks, and knew a little about everything but was not particularly proficient.

Rivka was different. She had already mastered the sword skills to perfection.

When Rivka used the sword-swinging style to hit Cassidy on the back, Fenley had already seen that Rivka had a higher chance of winning. It was better to be proficient at one thing than to be competent at a hundred things.

Although learning a lot of things may seem powerful, it will reveal its shortcomings when encountering a real master. Instead of learning a hundred martial arts, it is better to practice one unique skill to perfection.

This is also the difference between the Celestial Alliance disciples and the Sword Union disciples.

Celestial Alliance has many martial arts, but Sword Union only practices swordsmanship.

Although Celestial Alliance has a large number of disciples, its quality is far inferior to that of Sword Union.

Kassidy's defeat was reasonable.

"Hey! While I lost to you due to my lack of skill, this does not imply that Celestial Alliance lost to Sword Union. We will definitely get back at you!"

Before leaving the stage, Kassidy did not forget to say a harsh word.

It didn't matter if she lost, but she was the daughter of the Guildmaster of the Celestial Alliance, and she represented the face of the Celestial Alliance. People would inevitably talk about her now that the disciples of Sword Union had defeated her.

In recent years, Sword Union has rapidly developed, earning the reputation of replacing the Celestial Alliance and emerging as the world's leading sect.

At this point, Kassidy was losing the battle, but not the fight. She might not win the fight, but she must not lose the momentum.

"Then let's wait and see." Rivka nodded slightly; without saying much, she sheathed her sword and turned to leave the stage.

"Contestant No. 22 wins this game!" The referee announced the result at the right time.
