

An Understated Dominance Chapter 2431

Chapter 2431

Kassidy held the sword in both hands, stepped forward, and slashed left and right.

A dazzling sword light burst out instantly, like a violent storm sweeping towards Rivka.

Wherever the sword light passed, the air made a series of sharp whistling sounds, and the power was terrifying.

Unlike the previous quick attack, at this moment, Kassidy began to display her unique skill, the Phoenix Dance Sword Technique.

The Phoenix Dance Sword Technique was a superior sword technique that was created by a female grandmaster a hundred years ago.

It had both offensive and defensive capabilities, and its lethality was amazing.

In addition to being fierce, it also had a bit of feminine softness. It was both beautiful and effective at fighting.

“Phoenix Dance Sword!”

Facing the whistling sword light, Rivka did not dodge or avoid it, and her face did not change. The long sword in her hand shook violently, and she stabbed out suddenly.

If masters exist, they will discover that Rivka’s sword is shaking wildly and with a small amplitude.

It seemed ordinary, but it actually contained extremely profound kendo skills.

“Clang, clang, clang...”

With the sound of metal colliding, Rivka’s vibrating sword immediately crushed Kassidy’s blade before pointing at her own.

“Clang!”

Kassidy’s attack halted, causing her two swords to sway slightly. But she did not hesitate at all. While she was putting away her sword, her body turned several circles like a gyroscope, and with the inertia of her body, she slashed at Rivka again, this time with greater speed and strength.

At this moment, her two swords suddenly became as black as ink, and the blades seemed to be rippling with water waves, stirring up faint lines.

“Sword Entanglement!”

Rivka was not to be outdone. While she was raising her sword to block, her body suddenly leaned back, and Cassidy’s two swords drew a half circle in the air.

Finally, Rivka transitioned from defense to offense, using the opponent’s force to stab Cassidy once more.

During the whole process, Cassidy’s two swords could not move, as if they were stuck by a strong magnet, and could only follow Rivka’s sword.

Upon realizing her impending injury, Cassidy decisively dropped her sword and swiftly retreated. After dodging the attack, she suddenly pulled the wire on the handle and retracted the two swords.

“Butterfly in Love!”

Kassidy turned her body and began to swing the two swords quickly. Rays of light from the sword burst out and bombarded Rivka like a string of cannonballs.

These sword lights were overwhelming, bouncing up and down, as if they had spirituality. The trajectory of the attack was unpredictable and difficult to defend against.

Rivka remained calm, and with a flicker of her wrist, the long sword began to draw circles in front of her.

The sword swung very quickly, leaving a trail of afterimages that was impenetrable.
