Chapter 421 Marital Bliss

With this thought in mind, Shirley decided to stay and discuss the divorce with Braden.

Drake quickly rushed to Stewart's house. With his many years of practice, he concluded that Braden's lumbar joints were in disorder and they lost normal arrangement. This caused his lumbar muscles to be damaged and Braden could not withstand normal force. Even his walking, sitting, and lying would be affected.

'Mr. Stewart, your waist is severely damaged because of a heavy burden. Now I need to ask you a few questions to confirm the use of the medicine...'

'Okay.'

'Well...'

Drake looked at Braden, then at Shirley, looking like he wanted to say something but hesitated.

"Dr. Bonner, is there a problem? Is his waist injury very serious? Is he paralyzed in bed?"

Shirley asked a little nervously.

Generally speaking, when a doctor showed such a hesitant expression, it was because the patient was about to die. Shirley had no choice but to think about the worst-case scenario.

"Well, that's not it. I just... I just want to know why Mr. Stewart's waist strain is so severe. But considering that it may involve your privacy, I'm too embarrassed to ask." Drake rubbed his hands, looking very embarrassed.

'Well...'

Shirley blushed and turned her head away awkwardly.

Oh my gosh, how could I say that?

Braden was very calm. He replied, "I didn't do much strenuous exercise. I just maintained a posture for too long, causing the waist muscles to be overstressed."

Drake breathed a sigh of relief. "If it's just the injury caused by the solidification of the posture, it won't be too serious. Generally, you should apply for some medicine and rest for three to five days."

Braden nodded. "What do I need to pay attention to in the future?"

Chapter 422 For You

Braden's eyes turned cold. Shock flashed across his face for a moment, but he quickly returned to calm and said with a faint smile, "You are so agile. Even if you have killed someone, it is not surprising. I don't think there is anything unexpected."

In fact, he had already guessed that Shirley was an extraordinary woman.

The daughter of the Wilson family was just a mask she used to hide her real identity from others. Her identity under the mask was definitely beyond everyone's knowledge.

However, he still did not have any concrete evidence to prove it. If she was willing to confess today, he was rather looking forward to it.

'Is that so?'

Shirley crossed her fingers, her joints cracking as she slowly walked to the bedside, smiling coldly, "Aren't you afraid that my next target will be you?"

'After all, you are now nothing. I only need to move my fingers to make you die. At that time, our marriage relationship will be automatically removed. I really don't need to waste time talking nonsense with you!'

After she finished speaking, she reached out to him. Her fingers were like a few sharp blades. With lightning speed, she pressed them on Braden's neck and continued,

"Honestly, the last man who was killed by me was stronger than you. At that time, I only moved my thumb and index finger. His neck was broken by me. His tongue fell out, and he was just like the hanged ghost in the movie!"

Shirley hoped to use this real case to let Braden know what kind of ruthless woman she was, so that he would willingly dissolve the marriage relationship with her.

However, it didn't work.

Braden did not show any fear, and his face was even full of amazement. He asked,

"Did you really break a man's neck with just two fingers?"

Shirley was confused.

Chapter 423 Another Act

When Shirley was still hesitating about whether to let Tracy take the child away, Tracy suddenly became serious.

"Shirley, I know that you hate our Stewart family. You hate my son and me. We really went too far in the past and did a lot of things to hurt you. But my father has always treated you sincerely and considered you as his granddaughter. You won't refute that, right?"

"Mr. Stewart is good to me. I always remember that."

"So, in order to make him happy, you will listen to us this time, okay?"

Shirley remained silent.

Tracy sighed when she saw that Shirley was still unwilling to let go. "You may not know, but Mr. Stewart's physical condition is already very bad. The doctor said that it is still unknown if he can survive this winter."

"What?"

When Shirley heard that, her heart skipped a beat. "Didn't Mr. Stewart already have a heart transplant? I remember the surgery was very successful."

"Shirley, have you forgotten? That was four years ago. You left Seatie City for 4 years, and Mr. Stewart was four years elder. The heart transplant has limits. The risk grew bigger over time. In addition, he has many basic diseases, so his current condition is actually not good."

"Mr. Stewart never told me this. Every time I go to see him, he is full of energy. I thought his body recovered very well."

Shirley's eyes couldn't help but turn red.

In her heart, Howard was like her biological grandfather, having a very important position.

Chapter 424 Seize the Happiness

Shirley thought, what if Braden knew that Mr. Quintin and I were putting on an act?

Yet to make the kids believe that Mr. Quintin and I were truly in love, we acted very diligently.

Therefore, no third person other than myself and Mr. Quintin should know what was going on between us.

Unless Mr. Quintin told Braden himself.

If that's the case, what's the relationship between Mr. Quintin and Braden? What secret do they have in their closet?

'What are you thinking about?'

"No... Nothing."

"For real?"

"Yeah!"

Shirley pursed her lips and said guiltily, 'I'm telling the truth. Why would I lie to you?'

"Alright then."

Braden looked at Shirley with a half-smile, as if he were looking at an innocent baby who didn't know how to lie at all.

He thought, / know exactly what you're thinking.

But of course, I won't let you know that I am Mr. Quintin, or with your temper, you might beat the crap out of me on the spot.

"Braden, what do you think of my proposal? If it's OK with you, let's go back to the mansion. I'm sure Howard will be very pleased."

Shirley's voice went deeper. She discussed with Braden seriously, and there was sadness in her eyes.

Chapter 425 Become Stars

Howard was in the Stewart's old mansion.

He was very excited, and there were tears in his eyes as he looked at Bennett and Alisha brought by Tracy.

"Kids, this is your great-grandpa that I mentioned. He is the person who dotes on your mommy the most and also the person your daddy fears the most."

Tracy warmly introduced Howard to the kids.

After a few days, she had already figured out the tricks of getting along with the kids.

Anyone good to Shirley and bad to Braden was their "comrade".

Therefore, she would criticize Braden from time to time, and she therefore successfully became the kids' friend.

She believed that the kids would like Howard after her introduction like this.

Sure enough, Bennett, who had always been cautious, took the initiative to approach Howard.

He raised his head and seriously looked at Howard's wrinkled face. Then he used his small hand to pull Howard's wrinkled fingers gently and said sincerely, as if he were a mature adult, "Great-Grandpa, I can tell that you are a nice person. Thank you for being so good to my mommy back then."

Alisha also walked forward and said proudly to Bennett, "Bennett, you agree now, right? A good-looking person is a good person. We should judge a person by their appearance..."

Then she turned around and held Howard's other hand with her soft hand. She smiled sweetly, "Great Grandpa, my name is Alisha. You are the kindest old man I have ever seen. You must be very good-looking when you were young, so I am sure that you are a good person!"

"Well, this..."

Their words stunned Howard, who had experienced a lot. After a long time, he reacted and then laughed.

Chapter 426 It's a Good Day "Quiet..."

Braden cleared his throat and said, his voice neither loud nor low, "I have some good news to announce to you all."

Everyone looked at him in unison, and they looked a little impatient.

Howard was the unhappiest one. Every time he saw Braden, he always looked disappointed. "Humph! What good news can you possibly have? I'm afraid it will ruin the mood."

Tracy also waved her hand with disdain. "Braden, Howard doesn't like you, and also, Ally and Ben don't like you. Most importantly, Shirley doesn't like you, either... If you ask me, I suggest you go to your room and stop affecting us."

Kenny frowned and urged, "What's the matter? Tell us quickly. I've still got to peel walnuts for Ally and Ben."

At the same time, he peeled off the walnuts and fed them to Bennett and Alisha respectively. In his deep voice, he said, "Ally, Ben, eat more walnuts, and you'll become smarter. Don't be like your daddy who does things without thinking."

Braden was speechless.

He thought, ever since Ally and Ben are here, I've become a nobody in the family.

What am I to them? A tool to pass on the Stewart family's genes?

"You may want to sit down for this. I'm afraid that the news I am about to announce will drive you crazy."

Braden was determined to regain his position in the Stewart family. He curved his good-looking lips into a confident smile, keeping everyone in suspense.

After staring at him coldly for a few seconds, everyone rolled their eyes and continued to chat and laugh, ignoring him.

"Shirley and I remarried."

Braden raised his chin and said in a voice that wasn't exactly loud.

Braden's eyes were sharp, and there was a warm feeling rising in them. She could see both the sadness and love in them.

“I...”

Shirley swallowed her saliva, feeling like she was being roasted on a fire. She was in a dilemma.

The problem was that Howard's words were too ruthless.

If Shirley casually guaranteed it but wouldn't be able to make it, wouldn't she be cursing Howard?

'Shirley, you already said that you were truly in love so you got back together. Isn't it natural that husband and wife promise to never be separated forever? Why are you in such a difficult position?'

Howard's brows, which had just smoothed out a moment ago, unconsciously knitted together again.

Howard was concerned about the lifelong happiness of Shirley and Braden. When he saw them happy, he was happy too. As he saw that they were in a conflict, his heart also tightened.

"No, no!"

Shirley swallowed her saliva hard and squeezed out a gentle smile. She held

Braden's hand and said softly, "I also hope that as Braden's wife, I can live happily with him forever."

"Kaff! Kaff!"

Braden shivered and looked at Shirley in disbelief. He was so frightened that he almost choked on his saliva.

He never expected Shirley to say this to him. He thought she would fool him!

Chapter 428 Like a Real Couple

Howard guessed that this "Mr. Quintin" was definitely a thorn between Braden and Shirley, so he didn't pursue the matter any further.

However, Bennett was still a child after all. Even though he was smart, he didn't know anything about the feelings between men and women. He always wanted to stand up for Mr. Quintin.

"Mommy, I don't agree with you marrying this bad guy. You should marry Quintin. Quintin is a hundred times better than him..."

Bennett pouted and insisted, "If you don't marry Quintin, I will... I won't speak to you!"

Howard felt strange. He lovingly stroked Bennett's head and smiled, "Good boy, can you tell me why you like Quintin so much? Where is he better than your biological father?"

"Quintin passed my test. He cooked well, spoke gently, sang well, and made Mommy happy. Most importantly, he has a treasure house. The house is full of rare treasures. If Mommy is unhappy, she will go to the treasure house for fun. And she will be happy!"

"A treasure house?"

"That's right. It's on Sutor Wharf. Everyone there respects him and fears him. He's amazing!"

When Bennett said this, everyone immediately came to a realization.

"So it's him..."

Tracy raised her chin and said proudly, "Do you know that this is a big bad guy, and he was defeated by your daddy back then?"

Kenny was also very disdainful. "Hmph, this person was defeated by the Stewart family back then. He has been hiding in that broken wharf. Now he dares to have ideas about my daughter-in-law and grandchildren. He is simply courting death. I will send someone to teach him a lesson!"

Back then, the Stewart family had a deep conflict with Crimson Pawnshop. They belonged to two forces that were incompatible like fire and water.

Later on, Braden personally defeated Mr. Quintin and disfigured half of his face. To escape, Mr. Quintin jumped into the sea and disappeared. A few months later, Braden had disguised himself and taken over Crimson Pawnshop.

A week later, Braden's waist recovered, and he became even stronger than before.

His relationship with Shirley also improved by leaps and bounds.

Shirley no longer refused to get along with him. The two were like ordinary couples.

There was bickering, anger, and love.

Braden was satisfied with the status quo and cherished every moment with Shirley.

The feeling of regaining what he lost was the most precious gift he had ever received!

It was an ordinary morning. The sunlight was warm, and the chirping of the birds was clear. The breeze lifted the beige curtain.

As usual, Shirley was nestled in Braden's embrace and didn't want to get up.

"It's time to get up, lazybones..."

Braden wrapped his long arms around Shirley, scratching her delicate and straight nose with his fingers. He whispered in her ear, "Today is a special day. I'm going to celebrate it with you and our children."

"Don't speak. It's so warm here. I want to sleep."

In a daze, Shirley wrapped herself around Braden like an octopus. Her head was nestled in Braden's warm arms and she rubbed against him like a kitten.

This was her favorite position. She was just like a baby in swaddling clothes who could feel a sense of security.

She had been lonely for too long. Sometimes, she felt like she didn't want to leave in such a safe and warm embrace in the cold winter...

"Alright, just go ahead. Get up after you have enough sleep."

Braden patted Shirley's back like he was pacifying a baby. His good-looking eyes were filled with affection, and he doted on her so much.

Shirley slept until noon.

The atmosphere in the living room suddenly became tense.

Since the last time Braden faked his death, Antwan colluded with the enemies of the Stewart Group to seize power. The Stewart family was divided into two factions.

One side stood on Kenny's side and the other was with Kylan. The two cousins even refused to interact with each other.

Kenny was straightforward, and when he saw Kylan at the door from afar, he put on a long face. "How can you have the face to come here? I don't think my father invited you and your wife!"

'Hey, Kenny, what you said hurt me so much.'

Kylan was as cunning as usual. He smiled tactfully. He stepped forward and wrapped his arms around Kenny's shoulder, acting like his loving brother. 'How can I not come for the celebration of my family? I think my arrival can make the celebration livelier. Kenny, I have to toast you today!'

Kylan's wife, Matilda, followed behind him. She wore a high-end custom-made red coat and carried a limited edition Hermes bag. As soon as she stepped through the door, she began to speak in a sarcastic tone, "Kenny, Tracy, how lucky you guys are.

All of a sudden, you have a daughter-in-law and grandkids. Your life is much better than ours!"

Matilda's family background was superior, but she was still far inferior to Tracy.

Back then, before Matilda got married, she always regarded Tracy as an enemy. After she married into the Stewart family, she always wanted to compare herself with Tracy.

Unfortunately, in terms of herself, her husband, and her son, she was always the loser.

She finally won when it came to daughter-in-law, but now, Braden not only married a woman but also had a son and a daughter. Tracy won every match.
