Chapter 431 Apologize to Shirley

“Why didn’t you tell me that there are guests at home? How will your relatives view me?”

Shirley covered her flushed face with both hands, feeling so embarrassed.

She got up late in the morning and looked disheveled. The members of the Stewart family present might remember and gossip about her for a long time.

“You don’t need to care about their thoughts. I just want you to be comfortable and carefree.”

Braden put his arm around Shirley’s shoulder and went downstairs indifferently. He greeted everyone calmly, “Good morning, everyone. Shirley and I woke up late. Please forgive us.”

In terms of status and power, Braden was only second to Howard in the Stewart family. When he spoke, he looked quite dignified, and others quieted down instantly.

However, when he looked down at Shirley in his arms, he was gentle. He said in a doting tone, “Don’t be shy. Say hello to the elders.”

Although Shirley was embarrassed, she couldn’t disgrace Braden. She braced herself and greeted everyone.

The guests were all afraid of Braden. Just now, they were talking and laughing with each other, but now they did not dare to say a single word.

Only Matilda was an exception. She was dissatisfied in her heart and was not afraid of anyone.

“Shirley, long time no see. Let me think... It’s been almost four years!”

With a fake smile on her face, Matilda held Shirley’s hand and said, “Back then, when you were chased out by Braden, almost all the members of the Stewart family cheered. Only I was soft-hearted and felt that you were pitiful...”

“Matilda, what are you talking about? Stop talking nonsense! No one will think that you are mute!”

Tracy interrupted Matilda coldly, hoping to tear her mouth apart.

Kylan and Matilda were both frightened by Braden's threat.

They knew that Braden was presumptuous, but they didn't expect him to disrespect his elders because of a woman with a low background.

He was going against the rules of the Stewart family.

The other elders present couldn't help but advise.

"Braden, you are a junior. How can you talk to your elders like that? If the news spreads out, it will affect the reputation of the Stewart family."

“Even if Kylan and Matilda are wrong, they are still your elders. Just talk with them in peace. There is no need to argue.”

“I think you and Shirley should toast Kylan and Matilda and apologize to them.” Because of his overbearing attitude, Braden was targeted.

Matilda became even more unscrupulous. She snorted and said in a strange tone,

“Kenny, Tracy, you have educated Braden so well. He is so brave and even dares to contradict his elders. To put it bluntly, he has no upbringing. He threatened me and Kylan, and he might go against you later. If you didn’t restrict him now, it would be too late in the future.”

“That’s right. He has to toast me and admit his mistakes. Otherwise, I won’t let it off!”

Kylan refused to give up.

‘I’m sorry. It is your private matter. Who should apologize to you? You can discuss it yourself. Anyway, Braden is known for respecting his elders. It is just that some people are not worthy of his respect.”

Chapter 433 Being Clingy

With Braden's warning, the gathering became quite harmonious, and no one dared to say in a strange tone.

In the past, Shirley had been neglected, and even the servants dared to bully her. But now, she was in the limelight.

Those once picky elders surrounded her and praised her from head to toe. Shirley finally understood one thing.

Whether a woman could win respect from her husband and his family had nothing to do with her EQ or sociability.

Instead, it was up to her husband's attitude toward her. If her husband loved her and doted on her, no matter how lazy, unreasonable, or impolite she was, she would still be a good wife and good daughter-in-law in the eyes of him and his family.

On the contrary, if her husband neglected her, no matter how she behaved herself, she would be humble and despised.

After the gathering, Shirley let out a sigh of relief. She sat down on the sofa and looked at the luxurious ceiling.

"Are you tired?"

Braden asked softly as he wrapped his arms around Shirley's slender waist.

'What do you think?'

Shirley pinched her stiff face and complained, "I smiled at your relatives all day. It would be strange if I weren't tired!"

Braden's relatives were all snobbish. Seeing that Shirley's status in the Stewart family was different from before, they all surrounded her and flattered her.

"You have worked hard."

Braden massaged Shirley's shoulder with his long fingers and said lovingly, "In the future, just laugh when you want to. As my woman, you can do as you please. Don't care about others."

His words warmed Shirley's heart. She blinked her big bright eyes and rested her head on Braden's shoulder. She stared into his eyes and asked seriously, ' Braden, your words scared me. Tell me honestly, why did you suddenly treat me so well?'

"I wanted to treat you well a long time ago, but you didn't give me a chance. Now, you are finally willing to be with me, I should grasp the chance well."

Braden turned over and pressed Shirley down on the sofa. He curled his thin lips into an evil smile. "Do you feel touched? Do you want to thank me?"

“Alright!”

Braden’s fury was finally suppressed by Shirley’s softness. He turned around the wheel with one hand and stroked Shirley’s hair. “Since my honey wants to forgive them, I won’t lower myself to their level.”

Therefore, they decided to split up for the time being.

Braden drove the car to the open-air parking lot 0.6 miles away. Shirley went to pick up their children at the entrance of the kindergarten. After she picked up their children,

Braden would drive the car over to meet them.

Many parents would do the same.

There were few parking lots at the entrance of the kindergarten. No matter how powerful one person was, as long as he or she became a child’s parent, following the rules was necessary.

At the same time, the Panamera arrogantly sped up and stopped in the parking lot that Braden had given out.

The car door opened. A young woman with curly hair, heavy makeup, and Chanel clothes, got out of the car condescendingly while holding the LV limited-edition bag and wearing high heels.

There was a long queue at the entrance of the kindergarten. The children were sent to the parents by the teachers one by one.

Shirley arrived late and stood at the end of the queue.

She stepped on her feet and looked inside from afar. She saw Bennett, Alisha, and another little boy being called to a corner by Katica. She seemed to be talking about something to them.

Shirley’s heart skipped a beat. What did the two kids do? Did they get into trouble again?

Although anxious, she still patiently waited in line.

But that arrogant woman with curly hair crossed over Shirley to stand at the front of the line.

“What’s going on? Who is she? Why did she jump the line?”

Some parents whispered to express their dissatisfaction, but more did not dare to say anything.

“Stop talking. Her background is powerful. Ordinary people can’t afford to offend her...”

When they were at loggerheads, the teacher-in-charge, Katica, waved at them.

“Ms. Wilson, Ms. Jenner, it just so happens that you are both here. Please come over. I need to tell you something about the kids.’

“OK, Ms. Tead, right away!”

Shirley looked fierce just now, but the next second, a wide smile that was even more gentle and warm than the spring breeze had appeared on her face.

Jasmine also quickly got up from the ground and patted the dust off her body. She said in a flattering manner, “On my way, Ms. Tead!”

It was quite funny to see them be so complaisant.

They had to be like that. Children were the hostages handed over by mothers to society and kindergarten teachers were the ones managing them.

So almost every parent, from the state leaders to the ordinary workers, had to be very respectful in front of kindergarten teachers, and even the arrogant Jasmine was no exception!

Katica led them to the talking zone of the kindergarten, and the three kids were sitting upright on the small bench there.

However, at a glance, Shirley sensed the tension among the kids just like that between her and Jasmine.

Especially Bennett and William, if not for a teacher stopping them, they would have already started fighting.

As soon as Jasmine finished speaking, a man in a white suit and sunglasses led four men in black suits and barged in fiercely.

“Ms. Jenner, are you and Mr. William alright?”

The man in the white suit asked Jasmine nervously.

“Niko, you are finally here. Boo, if you were late, we would be bullied to death!”

Jasmine grabbed Niko Arnold’s arm. She cried with tears. Then, she pointed at Shirley and the children.

“All of them bullied me and Will. Even the teacher joined forces to bully us...”

“Look at Will. His face has been scratched. If his father sees this, he will die of heartache!

“Today, you must avenge me and Will. Otherwise, Mr. Gilmore will also lose his face.”

Martin’s assistant, Niko, patted Jasmine on the shoulder and comforted her in a low voice, “Don’t worry, Ms. Jenner. Mr. Gilmore has specially instructed that no matter how troublesome it is, those who bully you and Mr. William will pay a painful price. Not a single one of them can be spared!”

Seeing this, Katica stretched out her arm to block in front of Shirley, Bennett, and Alisha. Katica confronted a group of tall and strong men and said, “What are you doing? This is a school. If anyone dares to mess around, I will call the police!”

“Call the police?”

Niko sneered, “Don’t you think about it? If calling the police is useful, do we still dare to come here with so many people? In Seatie City, besides the Stewart family, who dares to go against the Gilmore family?”

“I know that you have a strong background, but you can’t mess around. If there is a problem, let’s discuss it. It is just a conflict between children. There is no need to make such a big fuss...”

Katica was naturally afraid of the Gilmore family’s power, but she could not bear to see Shirley and her children being bullied. Katica was also in a quandary.

Jasmine became even more arrogant since she had support. She sneered, “Ms. Tead, we also want to discuss this properly, but we can only rely on violence to deal with these people with low statuses!

“Since you’re Will’s teacher, as long as you don’t interfere in this, I can let you go for now. Otherwise... I will let them beat you up together!”

“What? You even want to hit us? No, no...”

“Get lost!”

Braden could tell that Shirley wanted to hide it, so he didn't ask any further.

'That's right. Today is a special day. I want to take you to a special place. Let's celebrate...'

Braden took control of the steering wheel and stepped on the accelerator with his right foot, driving to an unknown place.

Shirley frowned, and a strong curiosity was aroused in her. "What special day? What special place? Can you tell me in advance?"

“No.”

Braden drove the car out of the school area with ease. Then, he drove wildly into the coastal highway and said mysteriously, “Have a good sleep. The secret will be revealed in a few hours. Don’t be too excited and faint.”

Braden said excitedly, and his handsome and cold face carried an irrepressible joy. Tsk tsk, my wife is sitting in the passenger seat, and my son and daughter are sitting in the back row. This is what I dream of. Now, I have what I want.

The car sped along the blue sea. The setting sun dyed the sky red. The sea was sparkling, as if it was going to burn.

Shirley and the two children were a little tired, watching the sky darken bit by bit, their eyelids becoming heavy bit by bit, and they couldn’t help but fall asleep.

In the end, the car stopped at an open-air hangar on the sea.

Braden turned on the lights in the car. The soft light shone on the faces of Shirley and the children, as if adding a filter to the picture. It was so beautiful that it was a little unreal.

Braden suddenly thought, life is so wonderful!

He unbuckled his seat belt, and his cold and handsome face could not help but approach Shirley. His slightly cool thin lips gently covered Shirley’s red lips.

“Shirley, take it easy.”

Braden pursed his lips into a smile, his eyes bewitching as he looked at Shirley. He said, “As long as you say that my kiss makes you unhappy, I swear I won’t kiss you again.”

“I...”

Shirley subconsciously bit her lip, looking very embarrassed.

Bennett touched Shirley’s head and comforted her, “Mommy, don’t be afraid. Just say what you want. Don’t feel threatened by anyone.”

“Mommy, just say it. Bennett and I will protect you!”

Alisha held Shirley’s hand, trying to support Shirley emotionally.

Those who didn’t know might think Shirley suffered from domestic violence.

“Shirley, if you continue to remain silent, I’ll be a sinner forever, and I can never clear my name.”

Braden spread out his arms, his beautiful eyes looking extremely innocent.

“Fine! I’ll say it, OK?”

Shirley gritted her teeth and blushed. She said, “I wasn’t bullied. I... was happy being kissed by your daddy!”

As soon as she finished speaking, she quickly covered her face with her hands, wishing she could vanish into thin air.

She thought, gosh! From today on, I can never face Braden, much less the two kids.

“Silly girl. That’s more like it.”

Braden couldn’t help but smile. He reached out, held her in his long arms, and said in a low voice, “If you are shy, hide in my arms.”

Shirley’s shyness and honesty satisfied him, a man, greatly, which was more satisfying than success in his career.

“You are so annoying. I’m so embarrassed!”

Shirley buried her head in his arms, too embarrassed to show her face.

It was the first time she was this cute and lovable in front of him. The huge comparison only added up to her cuteness.

Bennett and Alisha were stunned by the scene in front of them, looking at each other.

Alisha said, “Bennett, why do I feel that Mommy is very happy genuinely?”

“The plane is 400 feet away from the ground, and it is automatically driven.

I am now free. I can do whatever I want.”

Although Shirley had limited knowledge about it, she was shocked.

She had heard about it before. The autopilot of the plane was amazing, and it didn’t need to be controlled at all. As a result, some of the captains were too bored and would flirt with the stewardesses. Could it be that Braden wanted to do something with her?

Wait!

Shirley shook her head and thought in her heart, Shirley, are you crazy? Why are you suddenly thinking about this? That’s ridiculous!

Braden approached Shirley slowly and trapped her in her seat. Looking at her flushed face, he asked with a faint smile, "What are you thinking about? Why did your face suddenly blush?"

"Is it? No!"

Shirley pretended to be calm and pressed the back of her hand against her cheek, which was indeed hot.

"It's blushed like a cherry. It looks so delicious..."

Braden, you... Oh!"

Before Shirley could react, Braden kissed her lips again. "I didn't enjoy myself enough in the car just now. Let's continue now."

His voice was hoarse as he spoke in her ear. And he even unbuttoned the buttons on her shirt.

Shirley put the lipstick in her pocket and followed the voices of the kids to the window.

'This is...'

When she saw the scenery outside the window, her eyes widened in surprise and she could not help but cover her mouth with her palm.

'Mommy, this special place is Sunflower Island. Bad daddy is so nice to us. Then I will forgive him for a while and stop calling him bad daddy!'

Alisha's eyes widened, and she looked at the blue sea under the plane. She was very excited and was touched by Braden.

Bennett also praised Braden from the bottom of his heart and nodded like an adult, saying, "He put in a lot of effort to do it this time. He even knows that this is the place that Mommy and we miss the most... However, how did he know about this place?"

"I'm also curious about it. How did he know about this place?"

When Shirley saw the island where she and the kids lived in seclusion for four years, she was surprised but confused at the same time.

Shirley touched the lipstick in her pocket, feeling somehow annoyed.

She just wanted to know how many women Braden had brought with him on this plane and to Sunflower Island, and how many women he had made happy.

Shirley was so curious about it, and the plane steadily descended and finally landed on the only helipad that was open to the public on Sunflower Island.

'Wow! We're here! We're here! I'm so happy! We're back on Sunflower Island! I even dreamed of coming back here!'

Alisha bounced around in the cabin, her two braids swaying up and down, looking very cute.
