Chapter 521 Forced Love Does Not Work

“No.”

Shirley shook her head and said with certainty.

It was precisely because she knew Braden’s deep love for her that she made up her mind that she would never get back together with him.

She had made a deal with God that as long as he was safe, she would stay away from him completely.

The oath was an oath. Once it was made and then broken, it would definitely bring about greater danger.

This incident was probably a wake-up call from God. If she insisted on breaking the oath because of her selfishness, she was afraid that Braden would not be so lucky to survive.

“What are you going to do next?”

Antwan breathed a sigh of relief and continued to probe Shirley.

“I don’t know. Let’s take it one step at a time!”

Shirley shrugged, only feeling tired and didn’t want to think too far ahead.

After all, planning, no matter how perfect one was, one couldn’t beat fate in the end.

For example, a few months ago, she and Braden were deeply in love with each other and planned to live happily with Bennett and Alisha.

Suddenly, however, everything changed. It was true that fate was in control, and that no one could resist.

Shirley thought Antwan was going crazy and didn't take his words seriously at all.

"People like you are moss that grows in dark corners. If you are smart, you will continue to stay in dark corners and develop lewdly. If you dare to mess around in front of me again, I will make you pay a terrible price!"

She picked up a decoration casually and smashed it hard at him, trying to kick him out.

Antwan, slender as he was, dodged easily. He held his chin with an evil smile and said, "Baby, don't be angry. If you don't want to see me, I'll just leave. Sooner or later you'll come to beg me, and then I'll have a baby with you."

"Get out, pervert!"

Shirley, completely enraged, flung herself at the man, regardless of the wound to her leg. She threw everything she could in the ward at the man.

Such a loud noise immediately attracted the nurses.

“Ah, lady, you’re just out of danger. You can’t be so excited. It will affect the wound...”

“This man is crazy. Get him out of here. If he doesn’t leave, I’ll leave!”

Shirley endured the excruciating pain in her leg and almost broke down as she ran towards the door.

She couldn’t stay here any longer. She was afraid that if she stayed any longer, she would kill Antwan furiously!

Chapter 523 Be Wiped Out

Shirley didn't know much about Blossom Medical Group. She only knew that it was a magical organization with a high status in the medical field.

Many patients who couldn't be cured by traditional medicine would be able to get out of danger as long as they were treated by Blossom Medical Group.

In particular, the leader of Blossom Medical Group usually didn't show up. But everytime he showed up, he snatched people back from death, and his medical skills were so good that they were just like magic.

Rumor had it that the leader of Blossom Medical Group did not treat patients easily, did not accept apprentices, and didn't interfere with affairs in the world. To say that he was long dead.

She didn't expect such a famous miracle figure to be May's biological father. What a coincidence!

"May, that's amazing! You have such a great father. No wonder your medical skills are so superb. It's too much for you to be my nanny all the time. You should inherit Blossom Medical Group in the future, right?"

Shirley looked at May with admiration in her eyes, as if she was looking at a miracle doctor who had descended from the sky.

At the same time, she silently lamented the fact that she had let the daughter of the miracle doctor be her housekeeper for so many years, taking care of all the trivial things. What a big offense!

May immediately showed a terrified expression. She held Shirley's hand and said frightenedly, "Ms. Wilson, what do you mean by that? What did I do wrong? Are you trying to kick me out? Please don't kick me out. Mrs. Jaida has saved our family's life.

Grandpa told me since I was a child that my mission is to protect the Wilson family. I'm used to taking care of you. If you drive me away, I... I can only die to atone for my sin!"

“Uh, you misunderstood, May. I just think that as the daughter of a miracle doctor, you must have a heavier mission. If you just take care of me, Bennett, and Alisha, it’s too untalented of you. In the end, you still have to inherit your father’s mantle, that is, the Chapter 524 What Could Be More Hurtful?

Shirley gradually became nervous. She held her breath and walked to the door of Braden’s ward step by step. Then, she gently pushed the door open.

The luxurious ward was spacious and simple, and the air exuded a soothing faint fragrance.

Braden was lying flat on the hospital bed with his eyes closed. His long and thick eyelashes shone brightly under the orange light at the head of the bed, casting mottled shadows on his lower eyelids.

He fell heavily. His head was wrapped in white gauze, and his left arm and right leg were in plaster. It was as if he had fallen into a broken doll and was reassembling and grafting, to the distress of those who watched him.

Shirley couldn't utter a word. Her tears blurred her vision. Braden became like this because of her. His old wounds had not healed yet, and she had caused so many more heartbreaks to him. One by one, they were like heavy shackles, which made her breathless.

You're such a fool. You're clearly a wise and sober person. Why do you have to sacrifice so much for me?

Now that I owe you so much, I'm afraid I won't be able to pay you back in my lifetime!

Braden fell into a deep sleep and did not notice Shirley beside him. He must have had a nightmare. His brows were slightly furrowed, and his handsome and cold face showed a painful expression.

"Silly, you're all asleep and still in a state of preparing for war. Why don't you relax a little?"

Shirley dragged a chair over, sat in front of the man's bed, and stared at his beautiful face greedily. Then she couldn't help reaching out her hand, gently rubbing his furrowed eyebrows with her fingertips.

She wanted him to be happy, relaxed, and happy even in his dreams.

That was what she told May about her plans.

However, before she left, she had to find a way to cure him, whether it decision was tantamount to going against her brother,

Chapter 525 So Don't Kick Me Out

Alina walked to Braden's side and patted him comfortingly on the back with one hand while holding his fingers. Naturally, they looked like an old married couple who had been married for decades.

"Since you're the one who came to change the dressing, why didn't you tell me in advance before entering the door? You scared my boyfriend."

Alina looked at Shirley coldly, her tone very arrogant.

Shirley used to have that arrogance, too, born of absolute confidence in her relationship with Braden.

However, she no longer had the confidence to do so. In the face of Braden and Alina's intimacy, she was like a giant third wheel, out of place.

Shirley, however, was by nature indomitable. The greatest part of her personality was resistance.

Although she was heartbroken, tears kept rolling down her cheeks. With a mutinous expression, she sneered, "Ms. Gilmore, you're too formal. I believe that with my relationship with Braden, I don't need to make an appointment with you in advance."

"You!"

Alina was so angry that she gritted her teeth and said indignantly, "You know your place as a nurse. I don't need you here anymore. You can get out of here."

"I think, whether it is necessary or not, it should be Braden to settle."

Shirley's icy gaze softened as she said softly, "Braden, I know you're mad at me, so you pretended not to recognize me. It's only right for you to be angry. I did a lot of bad things and got the punishment I deserved. I came to you to help you, so don't kick me out."

Braden didn't answer. He pursed his lips and frowned. His eyes were filled with confusion. He was indeed confused, not deliberately pretended to be so because he was being angry.

Alina's expression darkened. She let go of Braden's hand and gave Shirley a hard push. "That's enough. He's just out of danger now. Stop provoking him. Do you want him dead?"

Shirley ignored Alina and kept looking at Braden, waiting for the man's answer. "I'll listen to him. I'll leave if he wants me to. I'll stay if he wants me to."

"Braden, what's wrong? Don't scare me!"

Only then did Alina realize that something was wrong with Braden. His handsome face turned pale as if he had fallen into a coma.

"His heart is beating fast. Call the doctor, call the doctor immediately!"

Shirley saw the line on the heartbeat meter rise and fall, very unstable, just like the man's life, high and low, very unstable.

The attending doctor rushed over and gave Braden emergency treatment immediately.

"Please go out first. The patient's heart rate and blood pressure are extremely unstable and need to be resuscitated!"

Shirley and Alina didn't dare to linger any longer and exited the ward in cooperation.

"You jinx! What have you done to Braden? Haven't you hurt him enough?"

Like a lunatic, Alina slapped Shirley hard and said with tears streaming down her face,

"If you don't show up, he's fine. He's out of danger. He can appear after resting for a few days, but as soon as you show up, his heart rate will be unstable and his life is in danger. You're his bane. I beg you to stay away from him!"

"I... I didn't expect it to be like this."

Shirley looked worriedly at Braden's ward with a deep sense of guilt in her eyes.

“You? You want to help Braden and me?”

Alina was stunned for a moment as if she had heard a joke. Then she snorted coldly,

“Shirley, do I look so stupid? Do you think I will believe your hypocritical nonsense?”

Shirley’s eyes were cold, and she retorted, ‘Do you think you deserve me to lie?’”

“What, what do you mean?”

“It means that if I really want to compete with you for Braden, you won’t even have the qualifications to play. There is no need to play any tricks with you at all.”

“You!”

Alina gulped and was speechless for a moment.

Although she was angry, she couldn’t refute it.

Antwan looked at Shirley with mixed feelings and asked coldly, “To what extent do you mean he gets better?”

“Well”

Shirley turned to look at Antwan. The two seemed to be having a tug of war, and then she said firmly, “At least he could protect himself.”

Alina took a deep breath and reached out her hand to Shirley. “Although we are enemies, if you really want Braden to get better, I can make peace with you.”

Shirley stared at Alina’s hand and didn’t intend to hold it. She said coldly, “There’s no need to make peace. Your calmness is the greatest support for me.”

Alina’s face was flushed red. She swallowed her anger and said, “Fine. As long as Braden recovers, I’ll do anything.”

The two finally reached a brief moment of peace, and there was good news from the ward.

Chapter 528 Enjoy Me

One day, Shirley pushed open the door of Braden's ward with the medicine she had just made.

In the ward, Braden and Alina were hugging each other intimately. The two of them were like two sticky candies, and it was hard to separate them.

“Alina, I've made up my mind. When I get discharged from the hospital, let's get married!”

Braden gently wrapped his arms around the woman's shoulders and rested his chin on her head. A longing look appeared on his handsome face. “I hope our wedding will be held in Tahiti, with the world's most blue coastline and the softest sand beach. You love the sea so much. It's perfect to hold our wedding there.”

Alina's expression was not happy. Instead, she said in fear, “Get married after being discharged from the hospital? Will it be... will it be too soon?”

Moreover, she never liked the sea!

She hated the sea the most. It was boring and the sun beated down on people there.

If there was a typhoon, it would be a disaster.

“How can it be fast?”

With a serious expression, Braden said, “I love you so much that I can’t wait to marry you right away. I don’t want to waste a single second. You love me too, right? We jumped into the river and lived and died together. What are you waiting for?”

“You’re right.”

Alina nodded guiltily and looked at Shirley, who was standing aside with a complicated expression.

Logically, she had won completely over Shirley, but deep down, she always felt that this kind of winning method was a bit disappointing.

She was afraid that one day, when Braden suddenly regained his memory, everything she had now would be gone!

“Anyway, you’re mine, and you can’t run away!”

After Braden was done, he lifted the woman’s chin and pressed his lips against hers. His kiss was so affectionate and passionate that the air in the ward was about to boil.

Shirley thought she was quite resilient, but seeing her beloved man kissing another woman so passionately, she still couldn’t help but feel heartbroken and her fingers trembling.

With a snap, the bowl in her hand lost its balance for a moment and fell to the ground.

Shirley pursed her lips and remained silent.

With that, Braden became more curious about her.

"Is your identity special? Why don't you even reveal your name?" He asked the woman again, with the intention of digging out all her secrets.

Shirley bit her lip. After a moment of hesitation, she said clearly, "Nothing special. My name is Shirley Wilson. Do you remember me?"

"Shirley Wilson, how can you do this? You went back on your word!"

Alina gave Shirley a push, looking extremely agitated. It was as if her toy was about to be snatched away, and she couldn't wait to fight Shirley on the spot.

"Shirley Wilson..."

Braden's eyes were cold as he repeated the name. He tried to search for a little memory, but no matter how hard he tried, he found nothing.

Shirley was both disappointed and relieved at the same time, and whispered, "Mr. Stewart, you don't have to remember it. You must not remember it, because we don't know each other at all. I only knew you a few days ago when I was admitted to the hospital."

"We really don't know each other?"

Braden's handsome and cold face was full of suspicion. He just had a craniotomy, not a brain removal surgery, and he was even smarter and wiser than before. He didn't believe that their relationship was only "unknown".

"Really, I was sent to the hospital with you for emergency treatment. The nurse who took care of me told me that you are seriously injured and may die. At that time, I was dying too, so I thought if I could happen to run into you when I was reincarnating, how good it would be to meet you and do it together, so that we won't be bored..."

“What? She’s been discharged?”

Alina was a little surprised and didn’t know if she should be happy or angry. “How can she just leave without saying goodbye!”

She knew that this woman would not leave until Braden got better. However, she ran away before Braden recovered. She was simply a dishonest person!

“You’re Alina Gilmore, right?” The nurse asked cautiously.

“It’s me. What’s wrong?”

Alina was so annoyed that she looked up and asked in annoyance.

For some reason, Shirley suddenly left without saying goodbye, which made her feel particularly uneasy. She always felt that this woman would not withdraw so easily, and she might hold back some big tricks!

“Ms. Wilson asked me to give this prescription to you because it works wonders on wound healing. She hopes you can make it well.’

After that, she handed a prescription folded into a square to Alina.

“Leave it to me?”

Alina was confused. What was Shirley up to?

She opened the prescription, and the handwriting inside was dense, like earthworms, and she couldn't understand a word.

Would Shirley be so kind as to hand over the miraculous prescription directly to her and let her be the hero who cured Braden?!

No, no, no, it's impossible. There must be something wrong with this prescription.

Maybe it's a poison prescription, and it's specifically to frame me. I don't dare to use it!

After pondering for a while, Alina returned to Braden's ward with a heavy heart.
