Chapter 281 I Will Handle This

Late at night, all was quiet.

After confirming that Shirley had fallen asleep, Bennett quietly crept out of the quilt

He hid in the bathroom, holding a walkie-talkie in his hand. He frowned and said solemnly, "Emergency Emergency Calling Quintin."

After a while, a response came from the other side of the walkie-talkie.

"Copy that Bennett, please speak."

"Right now, come to Violet Apartment to meet me. Immediately!"

"Roger! Roger!"

After the exchange, Bennett put away the walkie-talkie and quietly left the house.

At the pavilion of the apartment, wearing a mask and a black windbreaker, the tall and straight Mr.
Quintin

had arrived as promised.

At the same time, Bennett also carried his small briefcase and hurried over to meet him under the moonlight

"Quintin, you are really punctual. As expected of the man that I appreciate. I will add ten points to this."

Bennett looked at the man's mountainous figure and praised him generously.

"Have you brought what I wanted?"

Mr. Quintin turned his head and asked Bennett with a stern voice.

"Don't worry. The goods are very good. I guarantee that you will be satisfied."

After he finished speaking confidently, Bennett asked in a similarly serious manner, "Then how are your preparations for the things I want?"

"I've already prepared according to your request."

"Alright then, let's exchange!"

Under the night sky, they took out their respective things and handed them to each other. The atmosphere was tense and serious. Those who did not know would think that it was the boss of the gang.

Bennett handed Mr. Quintin a stack of photos and a video.

The protagonist of the photo and video was Shirley.

Mr Quintin curled his lips, and there was a touch of playfulness between his eyebrows "Does your mother

only care about physical appearance?"

“Yes!”

Bennett sighed. “Otherwise, why would she have been so impetuous and married Braden? In the end, she was bullied like that by that bad guy. Wasn’t it all because she liked a handsome man?”

“Perhaps your mother appreciates not only his good look, but also his good personality, talent, and ability?”

“Forget it. How is that possible?”

Bennett showed a disgusted expression and pretended to vomit. “Braden, don’t you know? Seattle City is famous for being cold-blooded and heartless. As for talent and inner qualities, I think he doesn’t have them at all. Otherwise, how could he be so ignorant? He left my Mommy, such a good wife, and went to mess around with other women?”

“Did your Mommy tell you that?”

Shirley looked at the unfamiliar young man outside the door in confusion

“Hello, Ms Wilson I am a staff member of a delivery company This is the breakfast that the client asked me

“Breakfast?”

Shirley was even more confused

Shirley wondered who was so kind to make breakfast for her so early in the morning. Was she that popular?

“Can I know who sent it?”

“I don’t even know who sent it, so I definitely can’t sign it. You’d better send it back.”

Shirley was still very cautious Her address was a secret. At present, only Ewan, Nancy, and Bennett knew about it.

Today, a large group of people suddenly came. It was obviously strange.

Shirley was about to close the door coldly when Bennett suddenly showed up.

“Mommy, wait a minute. I especially asked someone to make breakfast for you. Have a taste.”

Bennett held Shirley’s hand and said sincerely, “Mommy, you’re not a child anymore, but you always forget to eat breakfast and make me and Ally worry. I guess it must be because the breakfast is not attractive enough, so I found a famous chef in Seattle City to cook for you. It’s nutritious and delicious. You’ll definitely be plump and healthy.

At the same time, Bennett thought, Quintin, I hope that your cooking skills will be fine, otherwise, it will be

As soon as Bennett finished his words with the walkie-talkie, Mr. Quintin immediately responded as if he had

"Got it! Got it!"

Mr. Quintin said confidently, "Have you eaten breakfast? Have you been amazed by my superb cooking skills?"

"Shame on you. There's no surprise, only shock. After my mother finished eating your murdering cuisine, she almost called the police."

Bennett shrugged and was speechless.

"Murdering cuisine?"

Mr. Quintin's tone was cold, and he didn't buy it. "I made breakfast according to the recipes. I devoted my passion and love to it... I've even spent an hour on bread. How can it be called murdering cuisine?"

Bennett said in a helpless but serious tone, "Alright, I knew you are very sincere, but you really have no talent for cooking. This is your shortcoming. You have to make up for it quickly. Otherwise, I can only choose another person... I have to find a man who can take care of her, make a lot of delicious food, and keep her healthy."

"Give me another chance. I promise that the next meal I cook will definitely amaze you."

Mr. Quintin made a serious promise.

"I'll definitely give you the opportunity. After all, I have chosen you to be my daddy, but..."

Bennett frowned and looked conflicted. "Since your cooking skills are so bad, do you have any other advantages? Otherwise, it will be very difficult for me to help you fight for it."

"Other advantages..."

“What happened? Why are you so shocked? Take it easy”

Shirley frowned and stood up, supporting Nancy, who was staggering, for she was too emotional

“Ewan Something happened to Ewan ”

Nancy’s face was pale She took a deep breath and stammered, “To fill up the deficits of the Korita Group, he went to borrow from Citibank and took all his shares in the Parker Group as collateral. Originally, this matter was unknown to my dad, as long as Ewan could pay the loans in time, but I don’t know why my dad knew about it

Shirley suddenly clenched her fist as she held Nancy’s arm, and she had a sinking feeling.

“You know my father, and he won’t show mercy when he’s really furious. My family originally started out in a gray business. He now used his previous means in the underworld to punish Ewan Ewan Ewan is going to be beaten to death.”

Nancy cried out, looking at Shirley at a loss. “Shirley, quickly think of a way to save Ewan. Otherwise, he will really die.”

“Don’t cry first. Where are they now? I’ll go to them.”

Shirley was comforting Nancy while packing up her things.

Shirley didn’t have much contact with Steve before. She only knew that he was a stubborn and old-fashioned man.

Ewan was born when Steve was old, so Ewan had been the apple of the Parker family’s eye and the heir of the Parker Group. He had the second-most shares of the Parker Group.

Now, Ewan had quietly mortgaged the equity just to fill up the deficits of a small technology company. Let alone Steve, the head of the Parker family, who was angry, even Shirley, an outsider, was very furious.

“Ewan is really crazy. No matter how much he trusts me and the Korita Group, he couldn’t gamble with the future of the Parker Group. If our project fails, and if the Korita Group goes bankrupt, has he thought of the consequences?”

Shirley nodded and said firmly, "I never brag."

"Great, at least you still have some decency."

Steve looked at Shirley with mixed feelings. It was unknown whether it was admiration or disdain, but he said meaningfully, "You indeed look beautiful. No wonder my son will be obsessed with you..."

Hearing that, Ewan, who was kneeling on the ground, frowned and said emotionally, "Shirley, don't worry about me. Leave here quickly. My father loves me so much. No matter how angry he is, he won't kill me. But if you fall into his grasp, I don't even dare to think about what he will do to you."

Steve was known as a playboy to outsiders. He had seven children and many illegitimate ones outside.
Anyway, he had let many women down.

How could Ewan not know who his father was? So, Ewan was very worried about Shirley.

However, Shirley was very calm. She even wore a charming smile. "I have seen too many weirdos. What does it matter if I know one more?"

Shirley had actually heard about Steve's private life, but she believed that Steve would not go crazy and hit on her.

"Shut up!"

When Steve heard their conversation, he was fired up.

In his eyes, Ewan was totally a fool when he was in love. Steve didn't expect that Ewan would think that he would try to hit on Shirley.

Shirley had already walked out of the Parker's house.

When she heard Ewan's shout, she stopped in her tracks but did not turn around. She said coldly, “What are you doing here? Go back and take good care of yourself. You've received the lashes. You need a good rest now.”

“Shirley, I'm sorry. Don't be angry with me!”

Ewan's lips were pale and he looked very weak now. Guilt was written all over his handsome face.

All along, his family had always disliked him getting too close to Shirley, but as long as he didn't cause trouble, they didn't interfere too much with him..

This time, if he hadn't taken the risk and angered his father, Shirley wouldn't have suffered the humiliation. from his family.

“Don't be silly. I'm not angry with you!”

“Then why did you turn your back to me? Don't you want to see me again?”

“Of course not...”

Shirley shrugged and sighed. The reason why she did not turn back was not that she was angry with him, but because she felt too ashamed to face Ewan.

“I should be the one to say sorry. All these years, it was you who helped me so much. You've suffered so much and done a lot for me, but I took it for granted that everything went smoothly...”

Ewan was a little anxious. He took a step forward and said, “Don't say that. You are my light, and I am willing to chase you and pay for you. I...”

“Let it end here and now!”

Shirley raised her hand and stopped Ewan's confession. She said softly, "I owe you too much. It's time for me to repay you. I have already thought of a way to get that sum of money. You just need to wait patiently for my news."

"What do you want to do?"

Ewan frowned deeply.

That was a lot of money. Just as his father had said, there were at least 500 million dollars needed. He really could not think of a way for Shirley to suddenly get such a large sum of money, unless...

At 1 o'clock in the morning, when it was supposed to be quiet, the Sutor Wharf was at its busiest and most prosperous time. Various people came out and gathered here.

Shirley came to the Sutor Wharf alone, holding a top-secret map of the Sutor Wharf that was bought at a high price in the second-hand market, and headed to the location of the Crimson Pawnshop.

This Sutor Wharf was indeed worthy of its reputation. It was just an "ungoverned zone", where people could literally do anything that was even forbidden and illegal in normal society. It was really an amazing but dangerous place.

The area of the Sutor Wharf was actually not very big, divided into three areas, the upper area, the middle area, and the lower area.

The upper area was at the outermost edge, which was relatively normal. It was a trading center for various goods. If one carefully searched, he could find a lot of good things. It was also the safest area here.

There was a bit of danger in the middle area. There were all kinds of illegal casinos, illegal arenas, illegal brothels, and the distribution of illegal goods. A group of people who were not afraid of death gathered here.

They were all wild about taking shortcuts, and as long as they could get the money, they would do anything. There were people who died here every day.

The lower area was really like the real hell on earth. It was very dangerous. Normal people would not dare to go near it. Just as Ewan said, anyone who went there would probably die.

The Crimson Pawnshop was located in the lower area of the Sutor Wharf. It was an absolute lead position. It was easy to imagine how powerful the owner of the pawnshop, Mr. Quintin, was. It was very difficult to meet him!

If not for the fact that Shirley was in a hurry to get money, she would never want to have anything to do with such a dangerous person.

However, she was not afraid.

After all, back then, she was also a famous big shot before. She had experienced many more bloody scenes and had been to many places that were more dangerous than the Sutor Wharf. She could be considered an experienced woman to deal with such a situation.

It was only because she had kids now that she would be more cautious most of the time. She was not like how she was back then, who was just hot-blooded and did everything without caring about the consequences. Thinking about it now, she felt scared!

It was still early. Shirley parked the car in a parking lot in the upper area and was ready to go to the famous antique market first.

This antique market was located in the upper area of the Sutor Wharf, which was also the entrance of the Sutor Wharf. Because of the special geographical location, many rare treasures from all over the world were smuggled here to sell. Countless people became rich here, and countless people ended their lives here because of greed.

The antique market was brightly lit, and it was bustling with noise and excitement. The crowd was bustling, and the market was packed solid with people.

Shirley stopped and looked at Kole with interest.

She felt incredibly lucky that Kole was giving her a gift.

The things that Kole was selling were either priceless or unique. It would be a very good deal for Shirley.

However, Kole didn’t give Shirley something he sold, but something that he carried with him.

“Girl, take this silk. One day, it will give you important guidance.”

Kole’s hands were old like a withered tree. He took out a silk that was meticulously made and slowly handed

it over to Shirley.

“This silk...”

When Shirley saw the pattern on the silk, she was shocked.
She saw that the silk had the pattern of a phoenix and a Paramita Flower on it. It was somewhat similar to the pattern on the baby blanket that her grandmother had left her. It was likely that they were made by the same person.

Unfortunately, the baby blanket was burned in that fire.
Shirley was just about to ask Kole where he got the silk when someone with a head full of blood rushed

Chapter 290 Busy Cooking

Shirley spread out her hands and said with a helpless expression, "I'm very sorry. I can't just show it here, but I can promise you that your boss will definitely like it. You might as well take a gamble. If he is happy, he might pay you more."

Irving raised his eyebrows and felt that the woman in front of him was interesting. She was brave and not an ordinary person.

It seemed that Shirley might really have something good.

"Fine. With your confidence, I will take a gamble. To be in our line of work, one must have the courage to gamble. I am very willing to introduce you to my boss, but..."

The man's gaze swept past Shirley and looked at the woman hiding behind her. He smiled and said, "Please don't meddle in our business and hand her over to us."

Shirley turned around and glanced at the trembling woman. She asked Irving, "If I hand her over to you, what will you do to her?"

"I can't tell you that. She has touched the ban of the Crimson Pawnshop. We have our own rules on how to deal with her."

After saying that, Irving looked coldly at the woman and said, "Ida, enough. It is time. Go back with us!"

"No!"

Ida held Shirley's arm, her eyes red as she pleaded, "Don't give me to them. I beg you, they won't let me go. I can't die. My son won't be able to live if I die... I know that you are very powerful. I beg you to help me once!"

Shirley let out a long sigh. Then, she pried the woman's fingers off her arm one by one and said, "It's not that I don't want to help you. It's just that you are indeed wrong. You stole their things, so it's reasonable for them to want to go back. It's their right to punish you. If I help you, it's to help the evil..."

The woman's expression suddenly turned cold, and her tears immediately stopped like magic. She sneered, "No wonder you are the granddaughter of Jaida and Jason. You have sharp eyes. When did you find out that I
