

Alpha's curvy bullied human mate

Chapter 99: If you see an opportunity, take it

Penelope

Nate was alive. So were my brothers. There is hope. The pained look on my mate's face when he saw me went straight to my soul. I didn't know what to do, just wait.

But when the battle began... Marco grabbed my hair and held my head, so I could see what was happening.

"See carefully. I don't want you to miss a single second of this massacre. I know your poor human eyes can't see it, but... beyond all my strong warriors and allies, there is your mate fighting, his little alpha friends, silly rogues, your brothers and your fake father... and even further back... the stupid humans of your stupid town," he said, holding me tight as I cried and shuddered.

My family, the people of Belle Springs.

"Oh, and I forgot... I guess you haven't had the pleasure of meeting my vampires. They're a rather unique species, all you have to do is let them run out of blood for a while. They are newborn vampires... so they are even more manipulable and desperate. Their thirst for blood is so strong that they... attack each other," he says sadistically.

"And you'll understand that in battle, the smell of blood everywhere... they got even more crazy. It's a sight to behold. I think they especially like humans..."

"This was your plan... from the beginning"

"Of course, I even had a certain hope that your mate would have died in the trap I set for him... It wouldn't have saved us so much trouble. But it is said that a man with a true mate is a nightmare...." he says, the tone of his voice changing.

"Alpha, the second battalion is coming," one of his warriors said, and I could see him smiling devilishly.

I also heard gunfire and saw Moonstone's people trying to take out the armed wolves first. It was complete and utter chaos.

"Don't be confused, my future mate... Moonstone will fall sooner or later," Marco said and ran his hands over my waist, I felt him caress my skin making soft circles and the sensation disgusted me.

"I think you have something... that makes you attractive, even with all your flaws... I would take you right here... but it bothers me to know that you have Nate's trash inside you," he whispered.

"Get off me! Don't touch me!"

"Keep screaming...you'll drive your mate crazy," he said laughing.

The hordes of Crimson Fangs warriors were like a mass standing in the middle of the field, Marco's allied Alphas fought and as they gained more ground they felt jubilant as if they were on the winning side.

"Alpha ... a large battalion will arrive in a few minutes," a warrior said and Marco changed his controlled and confident expression and freaked out.

"Who the fuck are they?"

"We don't know Alpha, they seem to be warriors from other packs... it's a large group, and they are commanded by a quite ancient vampire" Must be Jeremiah...it has to be him ...he had brought reinforcements, and it was the best news in the world.

Marco grabbed the warrior by the neck and lifted him as the man jerked, moving his feet like a mouse caught in a trap.

"You idiots! stop them, damn it, don't let them get any further!" he shouted as he let go of the warrior and the others fled in terror.

"Stop Moonstone!" he shouted, and now we were moving away from the battlefield, but not yet out of the area.

"Don't get excited, silly human...this doesn't mean we've lost, but that I'm going to secure my advantage. They may have a few cards up their sleeves, but believe me, I have even more,"

While we are there, I hear Marco fighting with a group of warriors, pointing out the flaws in his plan. The first to fall is Erica.

"You are useless! You spoiled little brat! You weren't even good enough to seduce that werewolf! Didn't have to do much, Erica, just get naked and let him fall into your nets! Wasn't that what you said?" he says, holding her arm tightly. Erica cries and can barely speak.

"I tried everything, but he wouldn't even look at me! I seduced him in every possible way, and he didn't fall for it!" she says desperately. He grabbed her face and said coldly.

"You mean you, a real she-wolf, couldn't seduce an Alpha? What the hell is wrong with you, Erica?"

"He... he preferred his mate."

"What?"

"He said he would only be with his destined mate..." she says, and he slams her to the ground.

"You mean a woman in my family was rejected by a fat human?" says Marco hatefully, and Erica cries harder.

"Marco... it's his true mate, you know it's impossible..." she says, and he hits her.

"You're a disgrace to everyone," he says, spitting as she lies on the floor crying.

"All you had to do was spread your legs... and just show yourself... and let him come inside you, and you couldn't even do that! You're not even good enough to be a whore..." he says.

"And you! You let the enemy bring reinforcements!" he says, shouting and beating his warriors.

When suddenly another one comes running with worse news for him.

"Alpha... we've got trouble in Crimson Fangs... there seems to be an attack," a soldier appears and Marco is stunned.

My rogue friends? Are they looking for their mates?

"What the fuck are you talking about?" he says incredulously.

"That's what warriors in the pack report..." the man says.

"Take care of the human while I come back..." he indicates and walks over to me, stroking my hair and tucking it behind my ear while I am terrified.

"And you behave yourself, or I'm going to take you, touch you... and your mate will feel everything I do to you... and you're going to enjoy it. Trust me," he says, and I hold my breath.

I'm left alone with Erica while the warriors stand with their backs to protect us.

"This was all your fault. " Erica says suddenly.

"You're the one who came between mates...you knew it wouldn't work...it's forbidden by the moon goddess," I tell her and she grabs my shoulder.

"If you didn't exist, Nate would be mine, did you know that we were almost engaged since we were kids? But Nate...he always wanted to find his true mate. When his father showed up looking for possible candidates for Luna...I saw my chance, and you ruined it," she says angrily.

"It was never going to happen for you because it wasn't part of destiny..." I say and she lets go of me and pushes me to the ground, I fall and see to my side that there are bags with wolfsbane to prepare bullets...if only I could get closer. My hands are still tied behind my back and there is little she can do.

"You don't know anything! You don't know what a woman has to do for her family and her pack," she says in anguish.

"A real family would have left you free to find your mate or at least a chosen one you wanted. Your only duty would have been to live your life..." I say.

"You're just a poor human"

"And yet, I had freedom when I left Moonstone. I could choose in my life and I chose to stay with my mate because I loved him..." I tell her. And I think I have a chance to convince her to run away and leave me when the men of the council show up.

"Where's Marco? Moonstone are after us! And there's a big force coming... they said there are more of their allies nearby! What are the boy's plans?" the man asks as others join him.

"Whatever my brother decides will be the right thing to do... shut up and do your part," Erica says as the men move closer.

"We're in trouble, we followed your brother and look where they got us!" the man says.

"You brought this on yourselves! You deserve it, traitors!" I yell, taking advantage of the situation, hoping it will get out of hand.

"You are the one who caused us so much trouble!" one of them says, coming towards me.

"Marco risked everything for you, including an important business deal, we have a lot of money to make, and he only thinks of you!" says another.

"Don't touch her! She belongs to the Alpha," says one warrior, and they start fighting among themselves.

Suddenly they push me and I go over to where the wolfsbane is. I find something sharp and cut the ropes as best I can. I put my ring in the wolfsbane bag, letting it soak in the mixture. I also rip off my necklace and I mix it with wolfsbane.

"You think you're so smart?" Erica tries to grab me, and I throw wolfsbane in her face and she cries. I hide my necklace in my pants pocket.

"Nooo! Nooo!" she says, screaming in pain and grabbing her face, and suddenly I have another Council member on top of me.

"Fucking human!" he says and kicks me.

But suddenly... I see his face turn into a mask of pain, and a hand pulls his heart out of his chest.

Within seconds, the councilmen are on the ground, dead. Marco is covered in blood and his warriors are dragging the bodies away. He doesn't even look at his sister, who is still crying.

"These bastards, they can't be left alone! I have to be involved in everything! But now come with me... our show is about to begin," Marco says, picking me up from the ground and dragging me as if I were his prey.
